Sprawling Paltz Site New Permanent Home

BY LYNN MULVANEY

Ulster County Fair opened the doors of its sprawling, attractive and permanent new home this morning to an eager and waiting crowd of fairgoers. A liberal sprinkling of children added immediate excitement to the day's opening events and an indulgent weatherman provided a clear sunny day and a promise of two more to come.

Although the location is different, having been moved from Kingston's Forsyth Park after 30 years, the character of the fair remains in the best tradition of agricultural, educational and commercial exhibitions.

Bobbing balloons, cake and cookie-carrying 4-H'ers, horses, heifers and hares were interspersed between the milling crowds which numbered better than a thousand and are expected to reach more than 15,000 throughout the three-day event.

Two miles southwest of New Paltz, on the Old Kings Highway, the site of the County Home and Farm grounds, the fair offers huge bonuses in acres of parking, a new 300 by 150 foot horse show ring and $8,000 in premiums.

Admission-free, the "family event" includes a large barn full of animals, a 4-H house full of foods, clothes, and demonstration booths and full house of competition in everything from tractor driving to rock and roll.

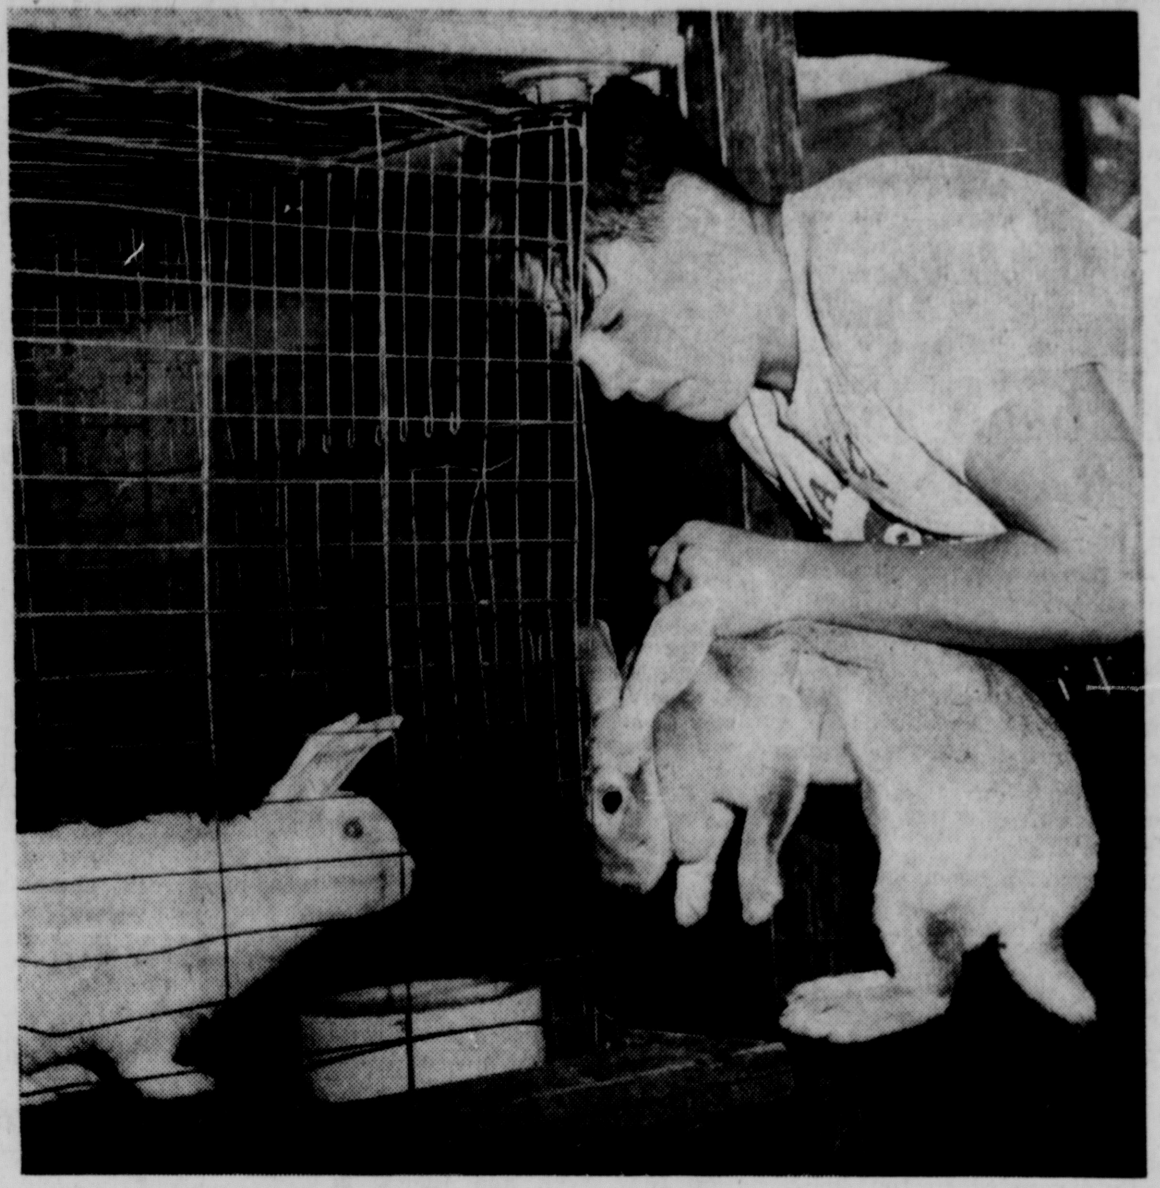

Among educational features sparking interest among the throngs are an exhibit depicting the story of the Stone Ridge college campus, a huge display of crafts and gift items made by patients of the Ulster County TB Hospital and Kingston Infirmary, and a lively collection of materials from the County District Attorney's office relating to narcotics control. Even the sheriff's bloodhounds may make an appearance.

What fairgoers wore in the late 1800's and the beaded era of the 20's are compared to today's gay short shifts.

Squealing youngsters climbing atop tractors easily compete with loud speakers barking instructions to vegetable and cattle exhibitors. A kindly judge tells his bright faced listeners "You must leave the outside leaves on the cabbage—all cabbages look good on the inside." To competitors in the cattle division another judge whispers, "This calf's ears should be cleaner."

Among events scheduled for Saturday and Sunday are a Grange-produced outdoor play at the stage area tomorrow night, a daytime performance by local musical groups, a 4-H horse show Saturday and open class show Sunday.

C. D. DuMont Jr. of Ulster Park, county fair president declared at 11 a. m. today it was the biggest crowd in the history of the fair.

Resnick Among Signers

Hint Reappraisal of War Role

BY RAY TYSON

Fifty-seven Liberal House Democrats, amongst them Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, today signed a letter to President Johnson saying that unless the South Vietnamese military junta immediately stopped interfering with that nation's Sept. 3rd free elections, the Congress would have to "seriously reappraise" its commitment to the war.

The letter requested President Johnson to apply the necessary political force to stop the military regime's obstruction of the elections.

The Congressmen expressed fear that the elections would be a "sham" and called upon the Administration to see that fair elections be assured.

Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits had charged earlier in the day on the floor of the Senate that would-be candidates have been barred from elections because their views were deemed unacceptable; that opponents of the Ky regime have been jailed; that presidential campaigns have been hampered by harassment; that the military regime is moving to perpetuate its power whatever the election outcome.

Kennedy said such interference is a betrayal of the cause for which 12,000 Americans have died.

Javits noted the elections should "mark the beginning of an end to our commitment there." He said a new elected government should set to work to take responsibility for its own security and the United States should look toward disengagement.

The elections are scheduled for Sept. 3. A field of 11 are entered, including a military pairing comprised of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state and Nguyen Cao Ky, now premier. Ky is running as vice president.

Wanted: Space Help for City Hall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan wants a space engineer, not to survey the moon, but to do a study on his proposed city hall.

The mayor told The Freeman this morning that the survey might cost the city $10,000 but would save money in the long run.

His Explanation

He explained it this way: "You have to plan these new buildings for the future. It isn't enough to hire a competent architect. The architect has to know what you need in a building."

The mayor cited the four-year-old County Office Building on Fair Street as an example of what poor planning can cause. "That place was crowded when they first opened it. There's no room for parking or expansion. Proper planning could have avoided all that," Garraghan claimed.

Garraghan has advised the Common Council on his space engineer proposals. The Council has yet to take action on a proposal to hire an architect to draw up plans for a city hall that was submitted over three months ago.

In other action, Mayor Garraghan called for a city department of housing to enforce city housing codes. He said one of the problems he has encountered in getting his workable program for the city through the Department of Housing and Urban Development is that the agency is not satisfied with housing code enforcement in Kingston.

At present, Kingston has one man to do the job; George Radcliffe, city building inspector.

Garraghan proposed a four or five-man office with a yearly budget of about $40,000. He also wanted an assistant corporation counsel on the city housing board to deal with violations.

Garraghan claims that lack of housing code enforcement by the city could result in the loss of all urban renewal funds from the federal government.

"If we don't show them we're serious about this code enforcement, they're (DHUD) going to forget all about Kingston when it comes to money," Garraghan said.

While on the subject of funds, the mayor disclosed that he has written a letter to each of the 13 aldermen asking for $125,000 for new equipment for the city.

This would include a bulldozer for landfill, a snowplow, two four-wheel drive trucks, two four-wheel drive trucks with scrapers, two refuse trucks with packers, and one five-yard dump truck.

Under Garraghan's administration, the buying of equipment has been handled differently than in past years.

Previously, the city wrote bank notes for any needed equipment. Under Garraghan, some $90,000 has been included in the last two budgets for equipment purchase.

Would Require Note

The $125,000 is in addition to the $45,000 in the budget for this year. If approved by the Common Council, a budget note would have to be written. The mayor will submit a formal proposal for the $125,000 to the council at its September meeting.

One of the problems of equipment purchasing, according to the mayor, is that it takes so long to get the equipment after it is ordered.

Garraghan told The Freeman that he ordered two packers for the Sanitation Department in December for delivery in March and he's still waiting for them. Also waiting is $31,500 in the budget for payment on the packers.

The mayor said this morning that he hopes the Common Council acts as quickly as possible on his proposal. "There's no question we need this equipment," Garraghan said. "The sooner this proposal is acted upon the sooner I can order the equipment."

Nab 13 in Incidents At Religious Camps

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Accused of entering the property of two Ellenville area religious camps and creating a disturbance and engaging in fist fights with camp counselors early today, 13 young men were taken into custody by Ellenville State Police and booked on charges of unlawful assembly.

One of the defendants also was charged with making a false report to police.

Several camps in that area have complained of incidents where groups of youths enter camp property and created disturbances and in some cases cause damage. Troopers said that the defendants did no damage, according to complaints this morning.

State Police Sergeant Donald W. Lott told The Freeman that the 13 men went to the two towns of Wawarsing area camps at 1:15 a. m., awakened sleeping campers and engaged in fights with those in charge of the camps. The camps were not identified.

Troopers James Curtis and Oscar Gray hurried to the camps after complaints were made by officials and made the arrests after taking statements. Senior BCI Investigator Charles Teelon conducted the investigation with the uniformed troopers.

Authorities expected to make additional arrests as the investigation continued.

Sergeant Lott reported the defendants were booked as: Joseph Finnin, 18, of 24 Chapel Street; Bradford M. Allen, 19, of 8 Canal Street; Beachey L. Wright, 19, of 175 Center Street; Theodore Green, 22, of 8 Allen Street; Jacob Sumner, 17, of 9 Broadhead Street; Stephen G. Lewis, 17, of Lurenkill Road; Wayne K. Mitchell, 21, of 10 Lake Drive; Ralph Wardynski, 17, of 27 Canal Street, and Henry Eli Mack, 24, of 2 1/2 North Main Street, all of Ellenville.

Also booked on the unlawful assembly charges were Kenneth L. St. Dennis, 17, of 2173 Fifth Street, Livermore, Calif.; Andrew G. Macesky, 18, of Cragmoor, and Frank Paes, 17, of Wiley Street, Napanoch.

Shortly before noon today, State Police arrested the 13th man in connection with the investigation of the incidents at the camps. He was identified as John Austin Forde, 18, of Berne Road, Ellenville. Troopers said the youth was charged with unlawful assembly.

Other youths will be questioned in the case, troopers reported.

Mack also was charged with making a false report to police officers. He was accused of reporting his automobile had been stolen.

The defendants were held for arraignment before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

No Cost to City

Esopus Levee Step Closer

By CHARLES BERMPHOHL

The proposed plan to build a levee along the Esopus Creek from Washington Avenue to behind Britts Shopping Plaza, is bordering on reality.

In a meeting yesterday at Army Corps of Engineers offices in New York City, plans for the dikes, or levee, was scrutinized by Army engineers, who will build the structure; Eric Hemphill, executive director of Kingston Urban Renewal; Stanley Freeman, Kingston representative of the Department of Housing and Urban Development; Bernard Buller of the planning firm of Raymond and May; Augustus S. Brinnier, representing KURA engineers; Scott Alexander of Kingston Shopping Plaza and Thomas Wickman, city engineer.

The proposed levee will protect an area that has been subject to severe flooding and the cost of the project will be in the neighborhood of $750,000.

The City of Kingston will be exempted from the cost.

The Levee Itself

The dike will be an earthen facility, six to 10 feet high, sloped at an approximate 33 per cent grade.

It will be landscaped with grass and shrubs.

Final proposals for the ambitious project will be submitted to Washington, D. C., for approval.

The land will be made available to the Army Corps of Engineers as they will need the right-of-way in order to build the project.

The city will be required to maintain the levee, and the original owners of the property, of which Kingston Urban Renewal and the Kingston Shopping Plaza are included, will retain control of the land. The urban renewal people are involved because part of the levee will run through the Uptown Urban Renewal area.

The portion is from Washington Avenue to the Sears property line and would include Murphy Street. According to Hemphill, Murphy Street fronting the creek is scheduled to be eliminated if the Urban renewal program uptown ever gets off the ground.

Asked Extension

Huyler Van Wagnen, chairman of the Lower Esopus Waterway Commission, had forwarded a letter to the Corps of Army Engineers requesting an extension of the flood control project to include the Legs Mills area.

The letter was to be read to the planners, engineers, and Kingston officials during the Thursday meeting. According to Hemphill, it was not.

"We are in favor of flood control in the Kingston area," the letter was reported to have said, but "we are also in favor of the extension of that flood control."

Van Wagnen told The Freeman that Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick had been informed of the Commission's proposal.

It is expected that the entire project will receive approval from Washington in short order. It was reported that city officials were relieved upon learning that Kingston would pay nothing for the project. The cost of keeping the landscaped levee in shape bothers no one.

If and when the project is completed, the levee, it is believed, will be attractive enough to fit in well with the Kingston scene and the infrequent but bothersome flooding of the past should be adequately checked.

Hemphill said that he considers it "a worthwhile project," one that would protect the Murphy Street area and attract developers.

Paltz Man Faces Charge of Murder

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

A 47-year-old New Paltz man was in the Ulster County jail today facing a charge of first degree murder in connection with the fatal clubbing of a 57-year-old man in a shack in the area of the old New Paltz village dump.

Authorities booked John Harnen, laborer, formerly of Kingston on the homicide charge after the body of Steve Davis, 57, was found in a wooded area some distance from the shack where he lived.

Harnen was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd, yesterday afternoon. He was committed to the county jail to await grand jury action.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, Kerhonkson, ruled the death of Davis a homicide. The body was taken to the morgue at Kingston Hospital for post mortem.

According to Coroner Chipp, Harnen had spent the previous night with Davis and sometime yesterday morning the two men engaged in an argument. Chipp said Harnen was accused of clubbing Davis about the head with a piece of 2 x 4 lumber, and later allegedly dragged the dying man from the shack to a nearby wooded area.

Chipp said Harnen notified New Paltz village police yesterday afternoon, and State Police were called in to participate in the investigation. The coroner reported brain tissue and fragments of Davis' skull were found in the shack where the assault took place not more than 12 hours before the man was pronounced dead at 1:40 p. m. by Dr. David Mesches of New Paltz.

Investigating the murder were State Police Captain R. E. Boland, Lieut. A. F. Van Blaricum, Senior BCI Investigator Edward Shannon, Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt, BCI Investigators Joseph Franke, L. M. Luongo, James Kallian, Roger Gardner, Joseph Ventriglia, John A. Salters, Sergeant David Clark and Troopers Brian O'Connor and Peter Bebenese of the Highland subdivision, and New Paltz Officers Edward Cole, William Hack and L. Pape.

MEMORIAL FOR LIBRARY—A wall plaque and $1,000 worth of books on Lincoln and the Federal Government in memory of former Kingston Mayor Frederick H. Stang were presented this week to Kingston Library by Kingston Kiwanis Club. The prominent local attorney was a past president of Kiwanis and an authority on the life of Lincoln. Mr. Stang died April 6, 1966. The local Kiwanis was in charge of the unsolicited contributions for the Frederick H. Stang Memorial Fund. At presentation ceremonies are (l-r) Raymond F. ## Urge More Negroes in Units

Mixed Response on Guard Call

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A presidential panel's call for greater Negro participation in the National Guard has gotten a mixed response. Republican governors have urged prompt law enforcement to head off potential riots, and 16 Negro leaders, including Black Power advocates, have called for a political alliance with "progressive whites."

Major Activity

This was the major activity on today's racial scene as specific proposals to deal with disorders and their causes began to flow from meetings and hearing rooms in New York, Washington and Chicago.

On a call Thursday by the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorder for more Negroes in the Guard, a panel member, Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., said, "If there was a more realistic percentage of Negroes in Guard units called to handle riots in Negro areas, the Guard units would be more effective in doing so."

But Maj. Gen. James F.K. Cantwell, president of the National Guard Association, said, "How can you beat the bushes when you have a waiting list?"

60-Point Program

Eight Republican governors who met in New York outlined a 60-point program to deal with social injustice and lawlessness, but stressed the need for quick law enforcement in volatile situations.

The governors' proposals included pooled police and fire-fighting manpower to be made available to cities where trouble has broken out.

In Chicago, 16 Negro leaders including Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, proposed "cooperation between black militants and white progressives."

In a letter sent to several thousand members of Negro organizations, they said, "There are whites who are still committed to the struggle for freedom and justice. We feel that political alliances, without compromising one's political or organizational integrity, are necessary and crucial at this point."

15 Negroes Win

In Mississippi, Negroes were cheering the victories of almost half the Negroes who ran for office in Tuesday's Democratic primary. Negroes won 15 county offices outright, and 19 others gained places in an Aug. 29 runoff election. The Democratic nominees probably will not be opposed in the November general election.

Matthews Issues Rebuttal To Resnick's Fee Charges

The following is a statement issued today by S. James Matthews, Kingston attorney who participated in closing and condemnation proceedings for Urban Renewal, in answer to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-28th District). The congressman said yesterday he was shocked and angered that Matthews "monopolized for his own benefit the closing and condemnation fees from the Broadway East Project."

"Congressman Resnick, yesterday issued an attack on the fees I have received from the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency. He avoided telling the people that what I earned was over a period of five and one-half years. Even using the figures of the Congressman, this amounts to a little over $5,000 per year."

"Resnick also neglected to state my contract has been approved by the United States Government and that payments to me have been audited by the federal people. Not once have they questioned the reasonableness of a single payment to me, nor have they even suggested any impropriety."

"The Congressman did not mention that the schedule of fees is less than is provided in the Kingston Urban Renewal budget which was approved by the Common Council, the State of New York and the United States Government."

"Although Poughkeepsie pays their urban renewal attorney $12,000 a year, my annual average has been less than half of this. What I received for a much heavier work load is about a thousand dollars a year less than the City pays the Corporation Counsel. He is provided a part time secretary and office space and equipment. I furnish my own."

"Just so it is very plain to all the people of Kingston, I want them to know that I now receive a monthly retainer of $150 for Broadway East and a like sum for Uptown. For this, I prepare government forms, contracts, give legal opinions, handle litigation, attend Agency meetings, prepare resolutions for the Common Council and have even handled legislation in Albany. This work occupies more than half of the time of my office."

"Obviously, I could not afford to do this work for the amount of the retainer. The Agency has therefore, given me the bulk of the real estate closings matters. It is the Agency which parcels out the closings to each attorney."

"For each closing of real estate title, I, and each of the other five attorneys, (three Democrats, two Republicans), receive $100. The approved budget would allow us $125. Both items are less than the average fee a lawyer realizes from a private closing and requires more paperwork and office time because of federal 'red tape.'"

"For each condemnation action carried to completion, I'm paid $300. For this I prepare the pleadings, appear in court, attend the commissioners when they view the premises, try the matter, prepare the commissioners' report and the order of confirmation. In addition, I attend a session before trial at which time the owner is given three-quarters of the estimated value of his property. I later attend a settlement when the balance is paid after litigation. Both occasions are similar to a closing."

"The recommended minimum fee of the Ulster County Bar Association for trial is $200 per day. Since litigation of a condemnation matter usually involves several days, it should be quite clear that the sum is not excessive."

"The volumes of paperwork occasioned by federal regulations necessitated the employing by me, of an additional secretary."

"I am not attempting to justify my fees, but I do believe all the facts should be before the public. I am confident they will act in a fair manner."

"The remarks of the Congressman should be taken for what they are—irrational remarks by a frustrated egotist who has been unable to obtain a favorable headline in recent months and who fears that the people are catching up with his antics."

Bechtold to Liberals:

Downtown Housing Overdue

By CHARLES BIRMPHOL

C. John Bechtold, Republican-Liberal candidate for Mayor of Kingston, has stated that the Broadway East Rondout Gardens housing project "should have been built years ago . . . to offset the fact that in four wards of Kingston more than 40 per cent of the housing dwellings are deteriorating."

Bechtold added that, "More public and private housing beyond Rondout Gardens must be planned because there actually has been little construction of housing units in the Hudson Valley in the past quarter of a century."

The mayoral candidate met with Liberals this week in a strategy session outlining the important city issues for the forthcoming campaign.

Topics discussed included the proposed new City Hall, and fire preparedness but centered mostly around the urban renewal problems.

'Out to Beat Him'

Ronald F. Woods, first vice-chairman of the Liberal party, stated after the meeting that, "The Liberal party will run an active campaign," adding, "we are solidly behind Bechtold."

Admitting that it will be an uphill fight to unseat incumbent Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, the Liberal party spokesman claimed that "Liberals don't believe Garraghan has been living up to his responsibilities as mayor" and that, "we are out to beat him."

Woods further stated that, "We will be more active in this campaign than in any other campaign in recent years."

This marks the first time Liberals have ever supported a Republican for Mayor of Kingston.

Democrat Garraghan has accepted Conservative party endorsement.

Bechtold on UR

Bechtold said that, "I was indeed happy to hear of the progress that is being made at Rondout Gardens in the urban renewal area," but he added that, "In connection with this, there should be stronger efforts to contact those families who have been moved from the urban renewal area in the past two years so that they can be encouraged to file an application for public housing."

The Republican-Liberal candidate went on further to say that "there is a definite need to get those families who are living in sub-standard housing into safe, decent housing and it is apparent that the proper officials are not working to solve this critical situation."

"The Urban Renewal Agency must take the necessary actions so that they can regain the confidence of the people," he said.

As for Garraghan's proposals to appoint a high-level commission to study housing problems in Kingston, Bechtold said, "I hope it will be carried through and not delayed any longer."

In contending that the Rondout Gardens project "should have been built years ago," Bechtold said that the reason for this was "to take care of families in wards such as six and seven which are older and densely developed sections."

It was right after this that Bechtold made mention of the idea that 40 per cent of four Kingston wards contained deteriorating housing dwellings.

It was also reported through usually informed sources that Republicans also had a secret strategy session last night and that an announcement will soon be made as to who will be Bechtold's campaign manager.

Chances are, according to the sources, that a prominent Kingston businessman will tackle the post.

Babson On Business

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 11—This is shaping up as a more favorable year for farmers than was expected earlier. Following unusually erratic weather patterns in the late winter and spring which delayed plantings of several items, crop prospects are now rated as slightly better than a year ago.

Acreage Up From 1966

Despite all the setbacks, crops seeded for 1967 harvest totaled 318 million acres, — a gain of 7 per cent over last year. However, acreage losses after planting are expected to rule higher than in 1966, with the bulk of the declines being felt in winter wheat, cotton, and corn. Even if such losses should pare the total acreage actually harvested to the 304 million acres forecast by the Agriculture Department, we would still have a 5 per cent gain over 1966.

The official estimates of a 19 per cent increase in food-grain output and an 8 per cent boost in feed-grain production—compared with last year's outturns—should be realized if weather vagaries are not extreme. The only other hitch is this: Crop development is running from two to three weeks late in many areas because of delayed plantings and slow starts. Such slowness increases the danger of frost damage.

Corn and Wheat

The Crop Reporting Board's July 1 forecast of a record 4.5-billion-bushel 1967 U. S. corn crop was higher than a number of experts had been expecting. It indicates that less acreage than had been feared was abandoned as a result of heavy rains. Official and private analyses place prospective yield at levels well above the five-year average. Hence, if corn gets the breaks weatherwise between now and harvest time, we could have a crop even larger than 4.5 billion bushels.

It now looks as if U. S. output of all wheat this year would come close to 1.6 billion bushels. This would be more than 150 million bushels larger than apparent disappearance for the 1966-67 season.

With Australian and Canadian wheat stocks also at relatively high levels, talk of wheat shortage—so rare a little more than a year ago—has now gone by the boards. But that does not necessarily mean that everything is rosy. U. S. wheat growers must still face up to the fact that there will be a heavy buildup of the soft red variety this season. And many a wheat farmer is also distressed by the high moisture content of his crop this year.

Cattle and Hogs

The drive is now on to cut back cattle output in an effort to boost prices and to improve profitability, which has been lagging seriously over the past several months. The trend from here on will be toward marketing younger animals at lighter weights and toward asserting a better control over feeding methods and feeding costs.

A somewhat similar turnabout is also taking place in hogs, with a 3% below average. So, assuming growers do not have second thoughts as a result of more plentiful corn supplies at lower price levels this autumn, you'll be paying more at wholesale and retail for both beef and pork.

Costly Poll

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—In addition to questions on Vietnam, government spending and other subjects, Rep. Charles M. Teague asked in a poll of his constituents "Whom would you like to see president?" So, the Republican said, the Post Office Department ruled that the political question voided his use of his franking privilege and it required him to pay $5,462.50 for the 190,000 pieces of mail.

Urge More Negroes in Units

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A presidential panel's call for greater Negro participation in the National Guard has gotten a mixed response. Republican governors have urged prompt law enforcement to head off potential riots, and 16 Negro leaders, including Black Power advocates, have called for a political alliance with "progressive whites."

But Maj. Gen. James F.K. Cantwell, president of the National Guard Association, said, "How can you beat the bushes when you have a waiting list?"

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was giving the special commission's recommendations immediate attention.

MONTEZUMA, N.Y. (AP) — Russell Chaffee, a mathematics teacher from Sayre, Pa., says he hopes to be in Montreal Aug. 21 after a 352 nautical-mile swim from Watkins Glen.
Chaffee, 42, crawled out of the State Barge Canal Thursday night in this community north-west of Auburn complaining of "sore muscles" and an ear-ache he said might indicate an ear infection.
Chaffee said he planned to reach Baldwinville by tonight and Lake Ontario by Saturday. If the Coast Guard does not escort him across the lake, he said, he will swim along the shoreline.

Chaffee, who began the swim Monday, said he planned stops in the St. Lawrence River at Alexandria Bay, Brockville, Ont., Ogdensburg, and points in Quebec.

Auburn to Pay

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — The Auburn Common Council reversed itself Thursday and voted to pay the city's $139,821 share of Medicaid claims.
Maurice Schwartz, the Republican mayor, said the council voted July 20 not to pay the claims because "we wanted to draw attention to this mess. We know we would have to pay the bills, it's the law."

The councilmen said a telegram would be sent to Gov. Rockefeller asking that a special session of the Legislature be called to review the state Medicaid program.

Bechtold to Liberals:

Downtown Housing Overdue

By CHARLES BIRMPHOHL

C. John Bechtold, Republican-Liberal candidate for Mayor of Kingston, has stated that the Broadway East Rondout Gardens housing project "should have been built years ago . . . to take care of families in wards such as six and seven which are older and densely developed sections."
It was right after this that Bechtold made mention of the idea that 40 per cent of four Kingston wards contained deteriorating housing dwellings.
It was also reported through usually informed sources that Republicans also had a secret strategy session last night and that an announcement will soon be made as to who will be Bechtold's campaign manager.
Chances are, according to the sources, that a prominent Kingston businessman will tackle the post.

In contending that the Rondout Gardens project "should have been built years ago," Bechtold said that the reason for this was "to take care of families in wards such as six and seven which are older and densely developed sections."

Congress Reaction Mixed On Security---Their Own

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of Congress are getting edgy about their own safety during deliberations wide open to the public.

In the Senate, its 100 members sit and stroll about in a pit 113 by 80 feet, within easy lobbing distance of the 611 gallery seats above and surrounding them.

In the House of Representatives, at the other end of the Capitol, up to 435 legislators at a time sit and mill about in another pit, 139 by 92 feet, wide open to the 24 gallery seats above and about them.

No Protective Barriers

No protective barriers intervene in either chamber. Cameras are checked outside. But although a handful of plainclothes detectives sit casually among the visitors, ladies clasp handbags in their laps; gentlemen reach, unmolested, into their pockets.

"When will it be?" Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., asked his House colleagues this week. "A year from now? Next week? Later this afternoon?"

"Does anyone doubt that it is only a matter of time before the odds catch up with this chamber and violence visits us again?" he asked.

The event that agitated Jacobs was the intrusion into the House gallery Monday of 75 to 100 Harlem demonstrators demanding rat control legislation. Some battled fiercely with Capitol police—one of whom remains hospitalized—before being ejected. The House had adjourned minutes earlier.

One demonstrator promised the group would return next week—with rats.

Jacobs and Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va., among others, want some protection.

"The galleries," Hechler said, "should be enclosed with soundproof, transparent covering, with the floor debates piped into the galleries."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, went Hechler one better. "There ought to be a plexiglass shield around the gallery," Gross told a newsman, "and there ought to be a wire mesh dropped from the ceiling so you couldn't throw grenades down into the House."

But there are other members of Congress who take a cooler view—and one, Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., speaks with some authority.

Against Separation

Fallon was wounded March 1, 1964, when Puerto Rican fanatics opened fire with pistols from the southwest gallery into a nearly full chamber. Five congressmen were wounded—shot seriously. Fallon, who was shot through the hip, is the only one of the five still in Congress.

"They talked about this glass shield then, too," Fallon recalled to a newsman. "But I just don't like the idea of separating the people in the galleries from the members of Congress."

Why, at that time, Congress had met for 150 years without a disturbance. We take so many risks in our everyday lives much greater than sitting in the House of Representatives.

"If they decide more security is needed, let them put in more policemen."

The drawing Tennesseean who heads the Capitol police force, James M. Powell, is a deputy chief of the Metropolitan (Washington) Police Department.

Local Finance Question Going To Delegates

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A proposal to be submitted to the Constitutional Convention would permit local government to impose any non-property tax of its choosing, unless expressly forbidden by the Legislature.

The local-finance article drafted by the convention's Committee on Local Government and Home Rule also would.

Liberalize the method for computing constitutional limits on local property taxation and on local borrowing, which also is based on property values.

Place restrictions on actions by the Legislature that require communities to raise the pay or fringe benefits of their employees.

Dr. Alan K. Campbell of Syracuse University, chairman of the committee, said committee members also approved measures that would permit counties to replace elected sheriffs with appointed police chiefs and place deputy sheriffs under the civil service system.

The same provision would delete the requirement that county clerks must be elected. Campbell said "local determination" would decide whether the clerks still should be elected or appointed.

The article will be brought before the Constitutional Convention next week. If adopted, the proposal would be subject to the approval of New York voters, along with other recommendations of the convention.

The committee's proposals fall considerably short of the fiscal objectives sought by New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay. Lindsay had asked the convention to empower the big cities of the state to pass any law-levy any tax—they choose, pending disapproval of the Legislature. No restrictions would be imposed in advanced.

In the present Constitution, communities must obtain permission from the Legislature to impose new taxes or to raise the rates of existing taxes beyond prescribed limits.

The new plan would give the Legislature one year—from the date the new Constitution went into effect—to enact a general law stating which taxes could not be levied by local governments. The Legislature also would set limits on approved taxes.

Thereafter, any community could impose any non-property tax not expressly forbidden with the provision that, if the Legislature found the levy objectionable, the Legislature could amend the law and thus force the community to rescind the tax.

This part of the article will be sent to the Convention floor without recommendation, Campbell said, because various committee members had proposed other ways of providing more tax opportunities and there was no majority for a single viewpoint.

The committee's second proposal would liberalize the present Constitution's provision limiting the amount that can be raised from the source to a fixed percentage of the five-year average of the full value of real estate in the community. The limit is 2½ per cent in New York City and 2 per cent elsewhere in the state.

Local governments would be permitted by the new provision to compute property tax limits instead on a three-year average. Thus, by using more current figures which reflect rising property values, the tax limits would be increased.

Campbell said that the property taxing capacity of New York City would be increased by $46.6 million; Yonkers by $1.4 million; Rochester by $36,000; Albany by $215,000, and Syracuse by $127,000. No increase was expected in Buffalo, he said, because property values there have not gained appreciably in the last three years.

Urge Prompt, Firm Action To Deter Riots

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight Republican governors say prompt, firm law enforcement is needed in preventing riots and they outlined a 60-point program for dealing with social injustice and lawlessness.

In presenting their "action program" to deal with "the tragic epidemic of riots," the governors charged Thursday the federal government had failed to provide adequate solutions for the nation's urban racial problems.

The governors were summoned by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as chairman of the policy committee of the Republican Governor's Association to discuss means of easing racial tensions in American cities.

Their report, issued after a day-long closed session, said the action program was designed to "inaugurate a new era of creative state leadership to meet a national crisis of social injustice and lawlessness." Michigan Gov. George Romney said he felt the most important recommendation was that dealing with prompt law enforcement.

The governors also recommended that the federal government "emphasize now the National Guard's responsibility to serve as a tactical force for maintaining order within the states as well as its responsibility in national defense."

Congress Reaction Mixed On Security---Their Own

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of Congress are getting edgy about their own safety during deliberations wide open to the public.

In the Senate, its 100 members sit and stroll about in a pit 113 by 80 feet, within easy lobbing distance of the 611 gallery seats above and surrounding them.

In the House of Representatives, at the other end of the Capitol, up to 435 legislators at a time sit and mill about in another pit, 139 by 92 feet, wide open to the 24 gallery seats above and about them.

No Protective Barriers

No protective barriers intervene in either chamber. Cameras are checked outside. But although a handful of plainclothes detectives sit casually among the visitors, ladies clasp handbags in their laps; gentlemen reach, unmolested, into their pockets.

"When will it be?" Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., asked his House colleagues this week. "A year from now? Next week? Later this afternoon?"

"Does anyone doubt that it is only a matter of time before the odds catch up with this chamber and violence visits us again?" he asked.

The event that agitated Jacobs was the intrusion into the House gallery Monday of 75 to 100 Harlem demonstrators demanding rat control legislation. Some battled fiercely with Capitol police—one of whom remains hospitalized—before being ejected. The House had adjourned minutes earlier.

One demonstrator promised the group would return next week—with rats.

Jacobs and Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va., among others, want some protection.

"The galleries," Hechler said, "should be enclosed with soundproof, transparent covering, with the floor debates piped into the galleries."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, went Hechler one better. "There ought to be a plexiglass shield around the gallery," Gross told a newsman, "and there ought to be a wire mesh dropped from the ceiling so you couldn't throw grenades down into the House." But there are other members of Congress who take a cooler view—and one, Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., speaks with some authority.

Against Separation

Fallon was wounded March 1, 1964, when Puerto Rican fanatics opened fire with pistols from the southwest gallery into a nearly full chamber. Five congressmen were wounded—one seriously. Fallon, who was shot through the hip, is the only one of the five still in Congress.

"They talked about this glass shield then, too," Fallon recalled to a newsman. "But I just don't like the idea of separating the people in the galleries from the members of Congress. Why, at that time, Congress had met for 150 years without a disturbance. We take so many risks in our everyday lives much greater than sitting in the House of Representatives."

"If they decide more security is needed, let them put in more policemen."

The drawing Tennessee who heads the Capitol police force, James M. Powell, is a deputy chief of the Metropolitan (Washington) Police Department.

Local Finance Question Going To Delegates

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A proposal to be submitted to the Constitutional Convention would permit local government to impose any non-property tax of its choosing, unless expressly forbidden by the Legislature.

The local-finance article drafted by the convention's Committee on Local Government and Home Rule also would.

— Liberalize the method for computing constitutional limits on local property taxation and on local borrowing, which also is based on property values.

— Place restrictions on actions by the Legislature that require communities to raise the pay or fringe benefits of their employees.

Dr. Alan K. Campbell of Syracuse University, chairman of the committee, said committee members also approved measures that would permit counties to replace elected sheriffs with appointed police chiefs and place deputy sheriffs under the civil service system.

The same provision would delete the requirement that county clerks must be elected. Campbell said "local determination" would decide whether the clerks still should be elected or appointed.

The article will be brought before the Constitutional Convention next week. If adopted, the proposal would be subject to the approval of New York voters, along with other recommendations of the convention.

The committee's proposals fall considerably short of the fiscal objectives sought by New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay. Lindsay had asked the convention to empower the big cities of the state to pass any law-levy any tax—they choose, pending disapproval of the Legislature. No restrictions would be imposed in advanced.

In the present Constitution, communities must obtain permission from the Legislature to impose new taxes or to raise the rates of existing taxes beyond prescribed limits.

The new plan would give the Legislature one year — from the date the new Constitution went into effect — to enact a general law stating which taxes could not be levied by local governments. The Legislature also would set limits on approved taxes.

Thereafter, any community could impose any non-property tax not expressly forbidden with the provision that, if the Legislature found the levy objectionable, the Legislature could amend the law and thus force the community to rescind the tax.

This part of the article will be sent to the Convention floor without recommendation, Campbell said, because various committee members had proposed other ways of providing more tax opportunities and there was no majority for a single viewpoint.

The committee's second proposal would liberalize the present Constitution's provision limiting the amount that can be raised from the source to a fixed percentage of the five-year average of the full value of real estate in the community. The limit is 2½ per cent in New York City and 2 per cent elsewhere in the state.

Local governments would be permitted by the new provision to compute property tax limits instead on a three-year average. Thus, by using more current figures which reflect rising property values, the tax limits would be increased.

Campbell said that the property taxing capacity of New York City would be increased by $46.6 million; Yonkers by $14 million; Rochester by $396,000; Albany by $215,000, and Syracuse by $127,000. No increase was expected in Buffalo, he said, because property values there have not gained appreciably in the last three years.

Urge Prompt, Firm Action To Deter Riots

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight Republican governors say prompt, firm law enforcement is needed in preventing riots and they outlined a 60-point program for dealing with social injustice and lawlessness.

In presenting their "action program" to deal with "the tragic epidemic of riots," the governors charged Thursday the federal government had failed to provide adequate solutions for the nation's urban racial problems.

The governors were summoned by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as chairman of the policy committee of the Republican Governor's Association to discuss means of easing racial tensions in American cities.

Their report, issued after a day-long closed session, said the action program was designed to "inaugurate a new era of creative state leadership to meet a national crisis of social injustice and lawlessness." Michigan Gov. George Romney said he felt the most important recommendation was that dealing with prompt law enforcement.

The governors also recommended that the federal government "emphasize now the National Guard's responsibility to serve as a tactical force for maintaining order within the states as well as its responsibility in national defense."

Fall Kills Boy

BUFFALO, N.Y. Robert Robinson, son of Mrs. Dorothea Robinson, died at Children's Hospital, 8½ hours after the fall.

Ulster County Fair

The three-day Ulster County Fair, which is sponsored by the Ulster County Agricultural Society, opened this morning at the County Farm and Home in New Paltz with a record number of exhibitors. The hours are from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

In its new location, there are better accommodations for the exhibitors. Many new features have been added this year to the old-time favorites, which emphasize farm products. The fair has outgrown Forsyth Park in Kingston, where it was held for many years.

The 4-H Division will have 2,500 exhibits and entries. Offerings to be judged include canning and preservation of fruits and vegetables, baked foods, articles of clothing and livestock display. All these demonstrate the constructive work accomplished by these boys and girls of the county, who have no leisure time problem.

The Ulster County Fair has been a happy occasion for a yearly gathering of people of the area, where they exchange pleasantries and enjoy fun and entertainment.

A better understanding of the mutual interest of farm and city people is a very important part of a county fair. This unification is a basic ingredient in the American way of life.

The Ulster County Fair is well worth attending.

Free College Plan

New York State taxpayers will be further burdened with huge educational costs if the Constitutional Convention approves the proposal calling for free tuition for the 370,000 students now in both public and private institutions in the state. The Educational Committee adopted the proposal as part of a broad policy urging free college education to all New York State residents.

It is estimated that the cost of the free program will be upwards of $120,000,000.

In addition, the removal of tuition charges from the State University system would cost another $44,000,000. Governor Rockefeller and other Republicans say this income is needed to finance expansion of the university.

Real estate property owners locally and elsewhere throughout the state need no reminding of the increased taxes for the expanding secondary public school system. These schools should have priority for available funds.

Scholarships financed by the state for deserving needy students, however, should be expanded.

World Scout Jamboree

Though the United States membership in the Boy Scout movement is 5.8 million of the 10.25 million members in the non-Communist world, the world scout jamboree was held in this country for the first time this month. It has just folded its tents in the 5,000-acre pine-forested campsite in Idaho's Farragut State Park, near Cour D'Alene.

Some 12,000 came from 74 countries, but the biggest delegations were the 5,000 from the United States, 1,300 from Britain and 1,200 from Canada. They ranged in age from 14 to 20. Though they came together for the adventure of camping and hiking, they also made new friends at home and abroad and felt themselves part of a great international movement.

The campers won rigorous competitions for the right to attend the jamboree and they were among the most committed of their kind. They share an interest in the outdoors and a strong loyalty to the ideals of world scouting, friendship and public service. As one American 16-year-old put it, "Nobody joins scouting to get their characters built, but one day you wake up and realize that is exactly what has happened."

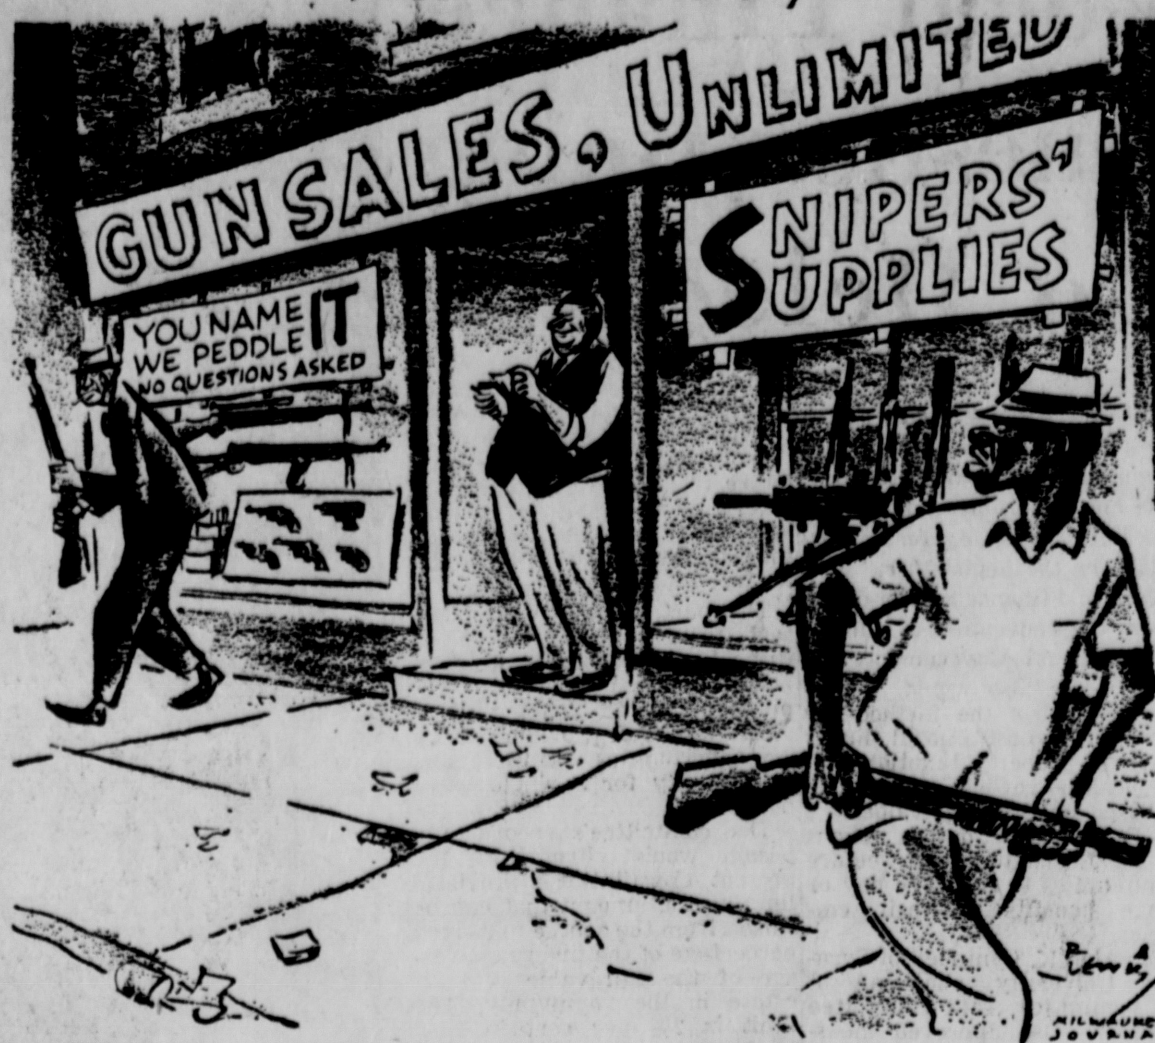

The characters scouting builds makes most of the 10 million march leaders in their own countries.

It was the proceeds of testimonial dinners used by Senator Thomas Dodd, Connecticut Democrat, that got him a Senate censure. Now, it is revealed that Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski, New York Democrat, chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, accepted for his personal use $11,000 from a testimonial dinner. His defense, "It was a personal tribute, not a political contribution." That was Dodd's defense in effect.

Seizure by the Custom Service of 26,313 pounds of marijuana last year did not stem the tide. Many hippies openly smoke the weed, so a lot more tons got through.

Inter-American foreign ministers meet in Washington beginning Sept. 22. Tops on their agenda is a pact for joint military action against Communist guerrillas and subversives. Castro Cuba has invited such action by boasting of exporting revolution to the hemisphere.

Today in National Affairs

Unrest in Nation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is certainly the "summer of our discontent." Letters are pouring in to the Capitol from all parts of the United States telling senators and representatives that the people do not like what is happening and believe "something should be done about it."

The protests are most vehement on the riot and crime situation. People seem to feel that, while the states have the major responsibility for preserving order, the Federal Government should play a big part, too. The spectacle of federal troops being required to help the state militia when disturbances have gotten beyond control is one that has not been paralleled in many decades.

The departments of justice and state are being bombarded by demands that action be taken against "Black Power" militant Stokely Carmichael for his utterances and activities at the communist conference in Cuba.

There are, of course, a variety of other grievances besides those growing out of racial friction. Many people—particularly parents with sons of draft age—think the war in Vietnam should be ended somehow, though they don't know just what can be done.

Others say the conflict is dragging along largely because the administration has not taken the action that the military men have repeatedly recommended—namely, that the air power be used more intensively.

The rise in the cost of living also has produced widespread dissatisfaction. While incomes have been rising, the purchasing power of the dollar has gone down steadily, and many families are feeling the pinch of higher costs for the ordinary necessities of life.

When there is unrest in the nation, the administration in power usually feels it. The Democrats have a majority in Congress. But this week a combination of Republicans and dissatisfied Democrats formed a majority which re-wrote the administration's anti-crime bill so as to make it tougher on those who foment disorder. Representative William G. Bray, Republican of Indiana, declared in the House that the vote on the anti-crime bill "registered what amounts to a vote of 'no confidence' in the administration's plans and abilities to cope with riots and crime."

But the letters that are coming to members of Congress are not confined to riots, the Vietnam war or the high cost of living. Many people are worried about the administration's handling of its finances. There is a belief that inflation is being stimulated by large amounts of money being spent by the federal government. The prospect of huge and continuing deficits is of concern, especially to businessmen and the financial community.

This certainly is a time of worry for government officials, as no administration can be indifferent to waves of protest such as are sweeping across the country today.

In defense of the administration, it might be argued that never before in the history of the United States has there been such a proliferation of problems, projects and governmental measures as the executive departments are attempting to handle nowadays. For the past few years, people have been encouraged to believe that the federal government can cure almost any ill in their communities. The administration is partly responsible for this, because it has sponsored programs of co-operation among the federal, state and local governments. While large sums of public money have been made available, the machinery for the effective use of such funds has not yet been devised. Administrative problem of a perplexing nature have arisen as well as inevitable friction between federal and state officials.

All this has a relationship to party politics. If the national elections were held this month, it seems likely that the party in power would receive an adverse verdict not only in the election of members of Congress but in the Presidential contest. Recent polls show that the president's popularity has been slipping and that, while no potential rival has shown a majority against him, enough support is being registered by the opposition to indicate that a negative mood is being developed which reflects the spirit of discontent that is building up on all sides.

McMillan's Payroll

WASHINGTON — Over the years, a number of elusive employees have turned up on the Congressional payroll of Rep. John McMillan, D-S.C., and have drawn their government pay without being seen by others in his office. These mysterious employees now seem to have vanished without a trace.

The only one this column has been able to track down apparently died before he went to work for McMillan. The House payroll records show that George Hall of Marion, S.C., was paid $1,173.90 for working in McMillan's office from June through November 1943. He turned up again on the Congressman's office payroll from June 1946 through February 1947, this time collecting $2,949.61.

The only George Hall recorded as living in Marion during the past 30 years died in 1938. Marion tax records list no George Hall after 1938. The Hall families in Marion know of no other George Hall who has lived there.

The departed George Hall had a dramatic death. His wife was the first to pass away. He brought her to her home in Virginia to be buried, then he fell dead on her grave. Their four children left Marion years ago.

All his life, Hall wore a special shoe because of a deformed foot. Recalls a friend, Archie Gales, who now works at the Gasque Motor Company in Marion: "George Hall was a fine man and a good Christian. He was a cripple, but he used to walk two miles every Sunday to church so he could teach Sunday school."

David Hall, who works at the Auto Service and Supply Shop in Marion, remembers the George Hall family. He is positive that the parents died and the children moved away before Pearl Harbor. Neither of the two Hall families now living in Marion has any memory of another George Hall coming to town in the 1940's. This squares with the town records.

Yet the George Hall whom McMillan placed on the public payroll in 1943 and again in 1946-47 was recorded as residing in Marion. His pay checks, however, were delivered to McMillan's office.

The Congressman could not be reached for a comment. Meanwhile, this column is trying to locate other people on his payroll who, like George Hall, apparently never showed up at McMillan's offices in Washington, D. C., or Florence, S. C., to do any work.

LBJ's Baby Birds
A White House workman started up a ladder the other day to remove a bird's nest from a cornice outside President Johnson's office. Inside the nest were three scrawny, wee baby birds.

Before the workman reached his destination he was intercepted by a messenger, who instructed him to leave the bird's nest alone until the babies were big enough to fly away.

The order came from the President of the United States, who had been peering through the French doors of his office.

Tennis, Anyone?

Early in the morning three days a week, world conditions permitting, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara rolls in his limousine into the playground at St. Albans Episcopal Prep School on the edge of historic Georgetown.

At precisely 7 a. m. he lays his newspaper and bursts out of the rear seat in his shorts for a fast game on tennis. He belongs to a hardy band of Washington celebrities who enjoy strenuous exercise. In President Eisenhower's day, golf was the game. President Kennedy brought in a group of young, intense New Frontiersmen who found tennis more their speed.

The survivors still play furiously tennis, in the Kennedy tradition, on the green clay courts in St. Albans. They include Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall. Presidential Assistants Walt Rostow and Harry McPherson, Senators Joe Clark, D-Pa., and Joe Tydings, D-Md., and a couple of Republican interlopers, Senators Jacob Javits of New York and Charles Percy of Illinois, have also got into the swing.

St. Albans became their tennis headquarters after Jackie Kennedy, as First Lady, asked pro Allie Ritzenberg to help her improve her game. He selected the St. Albans courts, which quickly attracted other New Frontier tennis addicts.

McNamara plays a typically no-nonsense game, stroking the ball left-handed. Once Ritzenberg received a frantic phone call at St. Albans from Mrs. McNamara, who announced that the secretary had forgotten to take along his business suit. Ritzenberg got the message to McNamara in time to keep him in his shorts.

Freeman puts in his appearances at St. Albans in an outfit that makes tennis aficionados raise their eyebrows. The Secretary of Agriculture hops out of his limousine ready to play, clad in boxer-type shorts, basketball shoes, and a T-shirt just a bit short so that his stomach peeps out at his opponent.

The most aggressive player of the lot is Rostow, the White House hawk, who demonstrates on the tennis courts how he would like to fight the Vietnam war.

Once the late President Kennedy tracked down Assistant Secretary of State Bob Manning at St. Albans. When Manning picked up the phone, the President said: "So that's where all you guys hang out!"

Quite a few still hang out there.

The World Today

LBJ Hit on Both Sides

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around his head the doves coo and the hawks caw and President Johnson plods along, keeping the war going, sending in more men, asking a tax boost to help pay the bill. This week a dove and a hawk swooped at the same time, and nothing illustrates better the fix he's in.

The dove was one of Johnson's fellow Democrats Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate's powerful Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright, Johnson's most persistent critic, wants the war toned down.

The hawk was the leader of House Republicans, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who has backed the President consistently on the war. But he, too, has been a critic, constantly complaining that Johnson wasn't fighting it hard enough or explaining enough. He wants the war intensified.

Fulbright has read many ominous things into the war and this week came up with a new one. He linked Vietnam with the Negro riots in this country, saying "the 'Great Society' has become a sick society by trying to cope with Vietnam and the riots at the same time."

"Each war feeds on the other," he said. "At home largely because of neglect resulting from 25 years of preoccupation with foreign involvements, our cities are exploding in violent protest against generations of social injustice."

He asked, "How can we commend democratic social reform in Latin America when Newark, Detroit and Milwaukee are providing explosive evidence of our own inadequate efforts at democratic social reform?"

Although both Johnson and Fulbright are Southerners, Johnson was the master pilot in getting civil rights legislation through Congress repeatedly while Fulbright voted against every civil rights bill approved by Congress in this century—1957, 1960, 1964 and 1965.

And in 1956 Fulbright, along with 95 other Southern Democrats, signed the Southern Manifesto denouncing the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing segregation and pledging by "all lawful means" to have it reversed.

Banged on Two Sides

Johnson was banged from the opposite direction when Ford demanded intensification of the bombing of North Vietnam. He objected to sending one more American to Vietnam until the President ends the restraints on U. S. bombing missions against the North.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in defense of the administration that Ford was ignoring the American objective which is not to broaden the war and not to waste American lives on bombing missions against targets considered insignificant. By broadening the war McNamara undoubtedly meant such intensified bombing that Red China might jump in to bail out North Vietnam.

Ford was calling for heavier action against the Communists early in 1965, before this country had begun the steady bombing of the North. This has been a repeated theme of Ford's.

Johnson thought he had done a pretty good job of explaining the war to the American people in a speech he gave at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore in April 1965.

But Ford has followed a line which probably irritates Johnson more than Ford's complaints that the war isn't tough enough. That's a steady plea that Johnson explains the war and the American position to the people.

In fact, Ford started doing that two days after Johnson made his Baltimore speech. For some reason Johnson, has often talked about Vietnam, thinks he has given ample explanation.

The fact is, his various statements on the war are not full-length explanations. He has made very few of those. More people than Ford are telling him so. It should be no surprise if he gives a long explanation some time soon.

Travia Is Boss Man

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The

final verdict is not in, but critics as well as admirers of Anthony J. Travia say he is running away with the State Constitutional Convention.

Friends of the hard-driving convention president say he is embarked on a series of personal successes that will enhance his prospects as a future candidate for governor. Political antagonists grudgingly concede he has mastered the "strong man" role in the convention and figures to emerge from the proceedings with heightened stature in Democratic ranks.

Moving cautiously at first, Travia gradually has taken the same firm grip on the convention reins that he had assumed in his dual role, as speaker of the Assembly.

He has forged ahead steadily on two fronts—first, to insure favorable action on his own pet program ideas and, second, to influence the convention's decisions on a wide variety of other issues.

run up a perfect batting average.

Early in the convention, he committed himself publicly to maintaining the "forever wild" status of the state's forest preserves. Last week, the convention voted to do just that.

Next, Travia made big headlines by calling on the convention to adopt a policy of free college education for all New York residents. The Education Committee endorsed the principle this week, and the full convention is expected to concur.

Finally, Travia suggested that the state should relieve local governments of all responsibility for welfare programs. He appointed a special committee to look into the idea. No one doubts that the committee will see it his way.

So, as one prominent Republican delegate put it, Travia has "one horse in the barn, one at the starting gate and one in the winner's circle."

Dominates the Course
Meanwhile, operating through his committee chairmen, Travia has dominated the course of other important affairs of the convention.

Omni-present legal aides of Travia have a way of turning up quietly at crucial committee meetings, often just happening to have on hand a draft of the proposal the committee is laboring over.

Travia agents helped hammer out the proposal for repeal of the controversial Blaine Amendment, which bars state aid to parochial schools.

They also persuaded a committee to scrap its plans for lifting the present Constitutional ban on taxing intangible personal property—bank accounts, securities and life insurance policies.

Travia was said to have intervened personally to keep provisions he regarded as objectionable out of the proposed new article setting forth the powers and functions of the Legislature.

It was Travia also who decided to entrust reapportionment to a bi-partisan commission, rather than risk a possible losing fight by keeping the function in the Legislature.

So far, then, the convention has been Travia's show. And he seems to be growing stronger every day.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The rain slanted thin and the flags on the greens hung their heads. At King's Inn Golf Club, the floggers addressed themselves to cold beer and bragging and studied the frowning sky. Harry Obitz, Executive Director of Golf, glanced at the onyx in his cup of coffee and said the sun would be out in ten minutes.

His pro, Dick Farley, munched on cheese and remembered the time Jackie Gleason came out in a rain suit at Shawnee-on-Delaware, listened to the applause of summer thunder and said: "Let's go, pal. Let's go."

Obitz is 52 and is built like a water cooler. Farley is 38, dark and handsome. In their time, these two have given golf tips to such as Perry Como, Ed Sullivan, Eddie Fisher, Phil Harris, Buddy Hackett, Vic Damone, Don Ameche and The Greatest. They worked at Fred Waring's Shawnee-on-Delaware, an undulating rug of green-blue in the Pocono Mountains.

Waring is a perfectionist. He also has a short fuse. When the president of Ford Motor Company lifted a divot and failed to replace it, Waring got in a golf cart, picked it up, followed the man, and presented it to him. "Here," he said, "start your own lawn." That was one customer who never returned.

Gleason showed up one morning in 1958 with Jack Philbin, his producer. He was tenderly manicuring a hangover. He and his adjoining belly were shown to adjoining rooms. Jackie never learned to sit. This is twice as true when booze has tightened the frets of the nervous system.

He is, by talent, a pool shark, but the only game at Shawnee was golf. So, rather than sit clapping and unclapping his sausage fingers, he took a club and said: "How do I hold this thing?" Dusty, a caddy, teed up some balls.

"Hold it any way you like," Harry Obitz said. Jackie bisected fifteen dot balls with mighty swipes. The 16th sailed out straight and true and far, hanging like an eight ball in the sky.

This made a golfer of Jackie Gleason. It may also have been the most monumental progress in the world of golf since Harry Varden invented the overlapping grip. When Jackie likes anything, animate or inanimate, he immerses himself completely and forthwith. He asked Dusty how much he earned a week. "Fifty," the caddy said. "You are now on my payroll," said the ruddy eyeballs, "at a hundred." Gleason, momentarily out of work, tipped everybody lavishly, got Obitz and Farley out of bed at dawn, and beat golf balls until their intestines hung out. In two nights, he read a dozen books on the game and ruined his swing. Obitz made Gleason concentrate on his knees, a pair of dimpled darlings Jackie hadn't seen in years. Farley concentrated on the finish of the swing.

In a month, Jackie's game went from 153 to 93; in 60

Ulster County Fair

The three-day Ulster County Fair, which is sponsored by the Ulster County Agricultural Society, opened this morning at the County Farm and Home in New Paltz with a record number of exhibitors. The hours are from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

In its new location, there are better accommodations for the exhibitors. Many new features have been added this year to the old-time favorites, which emphasize farm products. The fair has outgrown Forsyth Park in Kingston, where it was held for many years.

The 4-H Division will have 2,500 exhibits and entries. Offerings to be judged include canning and preservation of fruits and vegetables, baked foods, articles of clothing and livestock display. All these demonstrate the constructive work accomplished by these boys and girls of the county, who have no leisure time problem.

The Ulster County Fair has been a happy occasion for a yearly gathering of people of the area, where they exchange pleasantries and enjoy fun and entertainment.

A better understanding of the mutual interest of farm and city people is a very important part of a county fair. This unification is a basic ingredient in the American way of life.

The Ulster County Fair is well worth attending.

Free College Plan

New York State taxpayers will be further burdened with huge educational costs if the Constitutional Convention approves the proposal calling for free tuition for the 370,000 students now in both public and private institutions in the state. The Educational Committee adopted the proposal as part of a broad policy urging free college education to all New York State residents.

It is estimated that the cost of the free program will be upwards of $120,000,000.

In addition, the removal of tuition charges from the State University system would cost another $44,000,000. Governor Rockefeller and other Republicans say this income is needed to finance expansion of the university.

Real estate property owners locally and elsewhere throughout the state need no reminding of the increased taxes for the expanding secondary public school system. These schools should have priority for available funds.

Scholarships financed by the state for deserving needy students, however, should be expanded.

World Scout Jamboree

Though the United States membership in the Boy Scout movement is 5.8 million of the 10.25 million members in the non-Communist world, the world scout jamboree was held in this country for the first time this month. It has just folded its tents in the 5,000-acre pine-forested campsite in Idaho's Farragut State Park, near Cour D'Alene.

Some 12,000 came from 74 countries, but the biggest delegations were the 5,000 from the United States, 1,300 from Britain and 1,200 from Canada. They ranged in age from 14 to 20. Though they came together for the adventure of camping and hiking, they also made new friends at home and abroad and felt themselves part of a great international movement.

The campers won rigorous competitions for the right to attend the jamboree and they were among the most committed of their kind. They share an interest in the outdoors and a strong loyalty to the ideals of world scouting, friendship and public service. As one American 16-year-old put it, "Nobody joins scouting to get their characters built, but one day you wake up and realize that is exactly what has happened."

The characters scouting builds makes most of the 10 million marked leaders in their own countries.

It was the proceeds of testimonial dinners used by Senator Thomas Dodd, Connecticut Democrat, that got him a Senate censure. Now, it is revealed that Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski, New York Democrat, chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, accepted for his personal use $11,000 from a testimonial dinner. His defense, "It was a personal tribute, not a political contribution." That was Dodd's defense in effect.

Seizure by the Custom Service of 26,313 pounds of marijuana last year did not stem the tide. Many hippies openly smoke the weed, so a lot more tons got through.

Inter-American foreign ministers meet in Washington beginning Sept. 22. Tops on their agenda is a pact for joint military action against Communist guerrillas and subversives. Castro Cuba has invited such action by boasting of exporting revolution to the hemisphere.

Unrest in Nation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is certainly the "summer of our discontent." Letters are pouring in to the Capitol from all parts of the United States telling senators and representatives that the people do not like what is happening and believe "something should be done about it."

The protests are most vehement on the riot and crime situation. People seem to feel that, while the states have the major responsibility for preserving order, the Federal Government should play a big part, too. The spectacle of federal troops being required to help the state militia when disturbances have gotten beyond control is one that has not been paralleled in many decades.

The departments of justice and state are being bombarded by demands that action be taken against "Black Power" militant Stokely Carmichael for his utterances and activities at the communist conference in Cuba.

There are, of course, a variety of other grievances besides those growing out of racial friction. Many people—particularly parents with sons of draft age—think the war in Vietnam should be ended somehow, though they don't know just what can be done. Others say the conflict is dragging along largely because the administration has not taken the action that the military men have repeatedly recommended—namely, that the air power be used more intensively.

This certainly is a time of worry for government officials, as no administration can be indifferent to waves of protest such as are sweeping across the country today. The rise in the cost of living also has produced widespread dissatisfaction. While incomes have been rising, the purchasing power of the dollar has gone down steadily, and many families are feeling the pinch of higher costs for the ordinary necessities of life.

When there is unrest in the nation, the administration in power usually feels it. The Democrats have a majority in Congress. But this week a combination of Republicans and dissatisfied Democrats formed a majority which re-wrote the administration's anti-crime bill so as to make it tougher on those who foment disorder. Representative William G. Bray, Republican, of Indiana, declared in the House that the vote on the anti-crime bill "registered what amounts to a vote of 'no confidence' in the administration's plans and abilities to cope with riots and crime."

But the letters that are coming to members of Congress are not confined to riots, the Vietnam war or the high cost of living. Many people are worried about the administration's handling of its finances. There is a belief that inflation is being stimulated by large amounts of money being spent by the federal government. The prospect of huge and continuing deficits is of concern, especially to businessmen and the financial community.

The rain slanted thin and the flags on the greens hung their heads. At King's Inn Golf Club, the floggers addressed themselves to cold beer and bragging and studied the frowning sky. Harry Obitz, Executive Director of Golf, glanced at the onyx in his cup of coffee and said the sun would be out in ten minutes. His pro, Dick Farley, munched on cheese and remembered the time Jackie Gleason came out in a rain suit at Shawnee-on-Delaware, listened to the applause of summer thunder and said: "Let's go, pal. Let's go."

In defense of the administration, it might be argued that never before in the history of the United States has there been such a proliferation of problems, projects and governmental measures as the executive departments are attempting to handle nowadays. For the past few years, people have been encouraged to believe that the federal government can cure almost any ill in their communities. The administration is partly responsible for this, because it has sponsored programs of co-operation among the federal, state and local governments. While large sums of public money have been made available, the machinery for the effective use of such funds has not yet been devised. Administrative problem of a perplexing nature have arisen as well as inevitable friction between federal and state officials.

All this has a relationship to party politics. If the national elections were held this month, it seems likely that the party in power would receive an adverse verdict not only in the election of members of Congress but in the Presidential contest. Recent polls show that the president's popularity has been slipping and that, while no potential rival has shown a majority support, enough opposition is being registered that a negative mood is being developed which reflects the spirit of discontent that is building up on all sides.

McMillan's Payroll

WASHINGTON — Over the years, a number of elusive employees have turned up on the Congressional payroll of Rep. John McMillan, D-S.C., and have drawn their government pay without being seen by others in his office. These mysterious employees now seem to have vanished without a trace.

The only one this column has been able to track down apparently died before he went to work for McMillan. The House payroll records show that George Hall of Marion, S.C., was paid $1,173.90 for working in McMillan's office from June through November 1943. He turned up again on the Congressman's office payroll from June 1946 through February 1947, this time collecting $2,949.61.

The only George Hall recorded as living in Marion during the past 30 years died in 1938. Marion tax records list no George Hall after 1938. The Hall families in Marion know of no other George Hall who has lived there.

The departed George Hall had a dramatic death. His wife was the first to pass away. He brought her to her home in Virginia to be buried, then he fell dead on her grave. Their four children left Marion years ago.

All his life, Hall wore a special shoe because of a deformed foot. Recalls a friend, Archie Gales, who now works at the Gasque Motor Company in Marion: "George Hall was a fine man and a good Christian. He was a cripple, but he used to walk two miles every Sunday to church so he could teach Sunday school."

David Hall, who works at the Auto Service and Supply Shop in Marion, remembers the George Hall family. He is positive that the parents died and the children moved away before Pearl Harbor. Neither of the two Hall families now living in Marion has any memory of another George Hall coming to town in the 1940's. This squares with the town records.

Yet the George Hall whom McMillan placed on the public payroll in 1943 and again in 1946-47 was recorded as residing in Marion. His pay checks, however, were delivered to McMillan's office.

The Congressman could not be reached for a comment. Meanwhile, this column is trying to locate other people on his payroll who, like George Hall, apparently never showed up at McMillan's offices in Washington, D. C., or Florence, S. C., to do any work.

A couple of Republican interlopers, Senators Jacob Javits of New York and Charles Percy of Illinois, have also got into the swing.

St. Albans became their tennis headquarters after Jackie Kennedy, as First Lady, asked pro Allie Rittenberg to help her improve her game. He selected the St. Albans courts, which quickly attracted other New Frontier tennis addicts.

McNamara plays a typically non-nonsense game, stroking the ball left-handed. Once, Rittenberg received a frantic phone call at St. Albans from Mrs. McNamara, who announced that the secretary had forgotten to take along his business suit. Rittenberg got the message to McNamara in time to keep him in his shorts.

Freeman puts in his appearances at St. Albans in an outfit that makes tennis aficionados raise their eyebrows. The Secretary of Agriculture hops out of his limousine ready to play, clad in boxer-type shorts, basketball shoes, and a T-shirt just a bit short so that his stomach peeps out to his opponent.

The most aggressive player of the lot is Rostow, the White House hawk, who demonstrates on the tennis courts how he would like to fight the Vietnam war.

Once the late President Kennedy tracked down Assistant Secretary of State Bob Manning at St. Albans. When Manning picked up the phone, the President said: "So that's where all you guys hang out!"

Quite a few still hang out there.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Around his head the doves coo and the hawks caw and President Johnson plods along, keeping the war going, sending in more men, asking a tax boost to help pay the bill. This week a dove and a hawk swooped at the same time, and nothing illustrates better the fix he's in.

The dove was one of Johnson's fellow Democrats Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate's powerful Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright, Johnson's most persistent critic, wants the war toned down.

The hawk was the leader of House Republicans, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who has backed the President consistently on the war. But he, too, has been a critic, constantly complaining that Johnson wasn't fighting it hard enough or explaining enough. He wants the war intensified.

Fulbright has read many ominous things into the war and this week came up with a new one. He linked Vietnam with the Negro riots in this country, saying "the 'Great Society' has become a sick society by trying to cope with Vietnam and the riots at the same time."

"Each war feeds on the other," he said. "At home largely because of neglect resulting from 25 years of preoccupation with foreign involvements, our cities are run up a perfect batting average.

Early in the convention, he committed himself publicly to maintaining the "forever wild" status of the state's forest preserves. Last week, the convention voted to do just that.

Next, Travia made big headlines by calling on the convention to adopt a policy of free college education for all New York residents. The Education Committee endorsed the principle this week, and the full convention is expected to concur.

Finally, Travia suggested that the state should relieve local governments of all responsibility for welfare programs. He appointed a special committee to look into the idea. No one doubts that the committee will see it his way.

So, as one prominent Republican delegate put it, Travia has "one horse in the barn, one at the starting gate and one in the winner's circle."

Dominates the Course
Meanwhile, operating through his committee chairmen, Travia has dominated the course of other important affairs of the convention.

not to waste American lives on bombing missions against targets considered insignificant. By broadening the war McNamara undoubtedly meant such intensified bombing that Red China might jump in to bail out North Vietnam.

Ford was calling for heavier action against the Communists early in 1965, before this country had begun the steady bombing of the North. This has been a repeated theme of Ford's.

Johnson thought he had done a pretty good job of explaining the war to the American people in a speech he gave at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore in April 1965.

But Ford has followed a line which probably irritates Johnson more than Ford's complaints that the war isn't tough enough. That's a steady plea that Johnson explains the war and the American position to the people.

In fact, Ford started doing that two days after Johnson made his Baltimore speech. For some reason Johnson, has often talked about Vietnam thinks he has given ample explanation.

The fact is, his various statements on the war are not full-length explanations. He has made very few of those. More people than Ford are telling him so. It should be no surprise if he gives a long explanation some time soon.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in defense of the administration that Ford was ignoring the American objective which is not to broaden the war and

Borscht Hotels Hurting

MON/ICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — "I wouldn't want my son to marry a woman and have her get up at 5:30 in the morning and work until 11 at night, seven days a week," says Max Jacobs.

Jacobs, who operates an 80-room hotel in the foothills of the Catskill Mountains, pinpointed the reason why the number of small, family-operated hotels is dwindling.

Membership in the former Sullivan County Hotelmen's Association alone dropped from about 400 to 240 establishments in the last 10 years.

Works 'Like a Dog'

Jacobs, 51, owns and manages the Delmar Hotel near Liberty. His wife, Claire, he says, spends most of her time in the kitchen working "like a dog." They have two sons. Both work in the dining room during the summer.

The Delmar is typical of the family-run, smaller hotels that once lined the winding roads of Sullivan, Ulster and Greene counties in southeastern New York.

Many of them are now burned-out, boarded-up or abandoned.

"No one left in the family to carry on," is a common reason given for closing a small hotel.

The Jacobs have children, but they do not want them to take on a business some hotel owners say is plagued by fierce competition, rising labor costs and problems, fast and inexpensive travel, and weather.

Many of the hotels started early in this century as farms or boarding houses. It was worth the long, tiring trip to escape a hot city summer and partake of generous servings of old-world cooking and companionship in an ethnic atmosphere that still prevails at many of the hotels.

Most Unchanged

Most have remained virtually unchanged over the years. A few have continually expanded and almost put the outdoors inside, as their owners boast.

It's possible to spend an entire day in these sprawling complexes — (some claim to accommodate over 1,000 guests) — eating, sleeping, swimming, night-clubbing, ice skating, or bowling without setting foot outside to enjoy the country, the chief commodity offered by the Catskills.

Most of the small hotels still offer the fresh air.

The giants, the multi-storied Concord for example, offer big-name entertainers. Grossingers hosts national sporting events. And the Nevele could say: "President Johnson slept here."

Why are so many of the little hotels giving up?

Jack and Lee Wohl run the Cedar Hill near Fallsburg. Their place has 40 rooms spread around in several small buildings.

Unbearable List

They list "Unbearable labor, food prices and taxes" as their chief problems.

"I had to throw one of our staff out this morning," Mrs. Wohl said. "He was drunk. I called the (employment) agency ... can't get anyone."

Ben Kaplan, president of the Sullivan County Hotelmen's association until its reorganization in January, said, "You get to the point where someone in the family isn't a chef. That's one of your big costs."

The Cedar Hill has been in Wohl's family for 48 years. Now, he also operates a fuel oil business to make ends meet.

Wohl said he had sunk $80,000 into his hotel in the last five years and was sorry he had "put in a dime."

Easy travel, the New York World's Fair and now Expo 67 also are blamed by Wohl for hurting his business.

A family went to the Montreal fair and "stopped here on their way to rest for two days," Mrs. Wohl added.

Kaplan says air conditioning is another bit of progress hurting the cool Catskill resort area.

"Florida and the islands — places where no one would have thought of going in the summer — now are all air conditioned," he explained.

The "older" people who have been going to the same small hotels for years are another worry.

Can't Ape Big Ones

"You get sued," said one hotelman. "They break legs. My liability is $3,200 a year. I got to put in an elevator."

Kaplan's advice is:

"To stay alive, the small man must find customers who are satisfied with what he has to offer. He cannot afford to ape the big places."

But Seymour Kreiger, who heads the Catskill Resort Association, says the remedy is to "glamorize" the small hotels. "Extol their virtues."

The Paramount in Parkville did just this in a renovation program and Fred Gasthalter reports business at his 115-room hotel is thriving.

Gasthalter, only 29-years-old, is a son who is interested in the business. He and his widowed mother run the Paramount owned by his father in 1907.

Commenting on the decline of many of his neighbors, Gasthalter said, "People just don't want to go to an old, dilapidated hotel any more."

Borscht Hotels Hurting

MONTECELLO, N.Y. (AP) — "I wouldn't want my son to marry a woman and have her get up at 5:30 in the morning and work until 11 at night, seven days a week," says Max Jacobs.

Jacobs, who operates an 80-room hotel in the foothills of the Catskill Mountains, pinpointed the reason why the number of small, family-operated hotels is dwindling.

Membership in the former Sullivan County Hotelmen's Association alone dropped from about 400 to 240 establishments in the last 10 years.

Works 'Like a Dog'

Jacobs, 51, owns and manages the Delmar Hotel near Liberty. His wife, Claire, he says, spends most of her time in the kitchen working "like a dog." They have two sons. Both work in the dining room during the summer.

The Delmar is typical of the family-run, smaller hotels that once lined the winding roads of Sullivan, Ulster and Greene counties in southeastern New York.

Many of them are now burned-out, boarded-up or abandoned.

"No one left in the family to carry on," is a common reason given for closing a small hotel.

The Jacobs have children, but they do not want them to take on a business some hotel owners say is plagued by fierce competition, rising labor costs and problems, fast and inexpensive travel, and weather.

Many of the hotels started early in this century as farms or boarding houses. It was worth the long, tiring trip to escape a hot city summer and partake of generous servings of old-world cooking and companionship in an ethnic atmosphere that still prevails at many of the hotels.

Most Unchanged

Most have remained virtually unchanged over the years. A few have continually expanded and almost put the outdoors inside, as their owners boast.

It's possible to spend an entire day in these sprawling complexes — (some claim to accommodate over 1,000 guests) — eating, sleeping, swimming, night-clubbing, ice skating, or bowling without setting foot outside to enjoy the country, the chief commodity offered by the Catskills.

Most of the small hotels still offer the fresh air.

The giants, the multi-storied Concord for example, offer big-name entertainers. Grossingers hosts national sporting events. And the Nevele could say: "President Johnson slept here."

Why are so many of the little hotels giving up?

Jack and Lee Wohl run the Cedar Hill near Fallsburgh. Their place has 40 rooms spread around in several small buildings.

Unbearable List

They list "Unbearable labor, food prices and taxes" as their chief problems.

"I had to throw one of our staff out this morning," Mrs. Wohl said. "He was drunk. I called the (employment) agency ... can't get anyone."

Ben Kaplan, president of the Sullivan County Hotelmen's association until its reorganization in January, said, "You get to the point where someone in the family isn't a chef. That's one of your big costs."

The Cedar Hill has been in Wohl's family for 48 years. Now, he also operates a fuel oil business to make ends meet.

Wohl said he had sunk $80,000 into his hotel in the last five years and was sorry he had "put in a dime."

Easy travel, the New York World's Fair and now Expo 67 also are blamed by Wohl for hurting his business.

A family went to the Montreal fair and "stopped here on their way to rest for two days," Mrs. Wohl added.

Kaplan says air conditioning is another bit of progress hurting the cool Catskill resort area.

"Florida and the islands — places where no one would have thought of going in the summer — now are all air conditioned," he explained.

The "older" people who have been going to the same small hotels for years are another worry.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

ON WHEN TO TAKE THE GENTLEMAN'S ARM
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it acceptable for a young lady to take her escort's arm during the day if he has not offered it to her? The situation would be an afternoon tea or wedding.—Polly K.

Dear Polly: Since it can hardly be considered necessary for a young lady to hang onto a man's arm in the daytime, it can only appear that she is being overly affectionate or very possessive. After dark, it's another matter, and she may correctly hold his arm for support, especially when she is wearing high heels.

Invitations to Home Sound Like Bid for More Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: Please state if it is in good taste to invite people (who have not been invited to the wedding) to the home at night for a drink, knowing full well that no one would come without bringing a present? Doesn't it seem like a cheap way of getting more gifts?—Connie

Dear Connie: No, it isn't in good taste and, yes, that's just what it sounds like.

Fruits and Tid-Bits In Cocktails

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct way to drink a cocktail when the cherry-lemon or orange slice, etc. is on a toothpick or tiny sword and lying across the rim of the glass top? Do you remove the fruit with your fingers and drop it into the cocktail, or do you put stick and all into the drink? I've heard that the fruit absorbs the liquor and should remain in the drink.—Laura

Dear Laura: Leave the fruit on the stick and put the whole thing into the drink. The cherry (or any edible tid-bit) can then be easily eaten right from the stick when it has absorbed the flavor of the cocktail. Orange and lemon slices are usually not eaten—they are there to add to the flavor of the drink. In order to get the stick out of the way, hold a finger against the rim of the fruit slice, pull the pick out, and discard it.

Corsage for a Wedding Guest

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are invited to a wedding the 19th of August, and that day is also our anniversary. Would it be appropriate to wear my corsage to the wedding or would it be out of place? I would appreciate an answer.—Mrs. M. Grant

Dear Mrs. Grant: There is no reason that you should not wear your corsage. The flowers will enhance your costume, and it would be a shame not to use the opportunity to have them seen.

Wedding Guests Not Chosen to Make An Impression

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a close friend of mine, who happens to be the mayor of our small town, was invited to a wedding reception by a family he had barely met. My reaction was that these people obviously were trying to impress their daughter's in-laws by being able to introduce "the mayor of the city" at their party. I felt it was poor taste for them to issue the invitation, and even poorer taste for him to go. Now my questions are: Is inviting public officials of a city just because they are public officials socially accepted procedure, or were these people wrong to do it? And if this type of incident should come up again, shouldn't the official graciously decline with a polite excuse, or should he go? He is a person who will go places and do things he doesn't really care for, if he feels he is doing "the right thing."—A. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: You are right and the mayor was wrong. Weddings should never be an occasion to try to make an impression. They are intimate, sentimental affairs which should be restricted to those who care. The next time your mayor is invited to attend an affair as a "prize exhibit" I hope he will have the good sense to regrettably decline.

Gifts, Once Used, Never Returned

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend was given a wedding shower when she married and they moved into their apartment the next day and lived there a year, using the gifts. Now they are separated. Is she required to return them, since she had no expensive ones?—Eleanor

Dear Eleanor: Whether the gifts were expensive or not makes no difference; anything that has been used, even once, should never be returned.

GOP Women Planning Party Here; Wilson Named Guest of Honor

A cocktail party and reception honoring Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson will be given on August 20 by members of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club according to reports received by The Freeman.

Wilson is former county chairman of the Republican Party here. He was succeeded by former Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley of Kingston.

Co-chairmen of the party are Mrs. John Salapatis of Kingston and Mrs. Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock. They announce the party will be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel and will commence at 5 p. m.

In announcing plans for the party, the co-chairmen endorsed the statement that Assemblyman Wilson served the Republicans as their county chairman for the past 10 years.

"During his leadership, the GOP had always managed to retain its control of the county's governing body, the Board of Supervisors," they said.

The co-chairmen also stated that during the past 10 years, the Republican party had consistently turned in overwhelming majorities for the party's state legislative candidates, even during the Democratic sweep of 1964 when the GOP lost both houses of the Legislature.

Mrs. Salapatis and Mrs. Goldberg agreed the sale of advance tickets indicates a capacity attendance. Named ticket chairmen were Mrs. Monroe Longendyke of Woodstock and Mrs. Lucille Ingarra of Kingston.

Anthony D. Morris and Michael J. Morris, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Morris, 12 Elwyn Drive, Woodstock, are both students of Cornell University.

Anthony Morris has recently been named to the dean's list at Cornell where he has just completed his junior year. He is presently employed as research assistant in the laboratory at the university in the biochemistry department. Upon graduation next year, he plans to continue his studies in graduate school in the field of biochemistry.

Michael Morris is currently engaged as a visiting lecturer in the physiology department at Ithaca College. A graduate of Cornell University, he has just completed his first year at Cornell University School of Medicine in New York where he was the recipient of a four-year scholarship. He plans to return to medical school in September.

The Rev. James Seanson officiated at the ceremony which took place at Holy Trinity Chapel, New York City.

Mrs. Otruba attended the Academy of St. Ursula and the College of New Rochelle. Her husband, a graduate of Iona College, is presently a graduate student at New York University.

The couple will reside in New York City.

YWCA Group Visits West Point Academy

The YWCA's 1967 summer program climaxed Wednesday, Aug. 2, with a trip to Bear Mt. Park and West Point Military Academy.

a.m. and arrived at the state park at 11 o'clock.

The girls enjoyed a picnic lunch and a walk through the combined museum and zoo where they saw two black bears which formerly inhabited that area.

At 2:30 p.m. they went to West Point where they visited the Cadet Chapel, museum and souvenir counter. The museum, with its wealth of information on the wars and the soldiers who fought them, was of special interest.

The YWCA is a member of the Community Chest.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

ON WHEN TO TAKE THE GENTLEMAN'S ARM
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it acceptable for a young lady to take her escort's arm during the day if he has not offered it to her? The situation would be an afternoon tea or wedding.—Polly K.

Dear Polly: Since it can hardly be considered necessary for a young lady to hang onto a man's arm in the daytime, it can only appear that she is being overly affectionate or very possessive. After dark, it's another matter, and she may correctly hold his arm for support, especially when she is wearing high heels.

Invitations to Home Sound Like Bid for More Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: Please state if it is in good taste to invite people (who have not been invited to the wedding) to the home at night for a drink, knowing full well that no one would come without bringing a present? Doesn't it seem like a cheap way of getting more gifts?—Connie

Dear Connie: No, it isn't in good taste and, yes, that's just what it sounds like.

Fruits and Tid-Bits In Cocktails

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct way to drink a cocktail when the cherry-lemon or orange slice, etc. is on a toothpick or tiny sword and lying across the rim of the glass top? Do you remove the fruit with your fingers and drop it into the cocktail, or do you put stick and all into the drink? I've heard that the fruit absorbs the liquor and should remain in the drink.—Laura

Dear Laura: Leave the fruit on the stick and put the whole thing into the drink. The cherry (or any edible tid-bit) can then be easily eaten right from the stick when it has absorbed the flavor of the cocktail. Orange and lemon slices are usually not eaten—they are there to add to the flavor of the drink. In order to get the stick out of the way, hold a finger against the rim of the fruit slice, pull the pick out, and discard it.

Corsage for a Wedding Guest

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are invited to a wedding the 19th of August, and that day is also our anniversary. Would it be appropriate to wear my corsage to the wedding or would it be out of place? I would appreciate an answer.—Mrs. M. Grant

Dear Mrs. Grant: There is no reason that you should not wear your corsage. The flowers will enhance your costume, and it would be a shame not to use the opportunity to have them seen.

Wedding Guests Not Chosen to Make An Impression

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a close friend of mine, who happens to be the mayor of our small town, was invited to a wedding reception by a family he had barely met. My reaction was that these people obviously were trying to impress their daughter's in-laws by being able to introduce "the mayor of the city" at their party. I felt it was poor taste for them to issue the invitation, and even poorer taste for him to go. Now my questions are: Is inviting public officials of a city just because they are public officials socially accepted procedure, or were these people wrong to do it? And if this type of incident should come up again, shouldn't the official graciously decline with a polite excuse, or should he go? He is a person who will go places and do things he doesn't really care for, if he feels he is doing "the right thing."—A. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: You are right and the mayor was wrong. Weddings should never be an occasion to try to make an "impression." They are intimate, sentimental affairs which should be restricted to those who care. The next time your mayor is invited to attend an affair as a "prize exhibit" I hope he will have the good sense to regrettably decline.

Gifts, Once Used, Never Returned

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend was given a wedding shower when she married and they moved into their apartment the next day and lived there a year, using the gifts. Now they are separated. Is she required to return them, since she had no expensive ones?—Eleanor

Dear Eleanor: Whether the gifts were expensive or not makes no difference; anything that has been used, even once, should never be returned.

GOP Women Planning Party Here; Wilson Named Guest of Honor

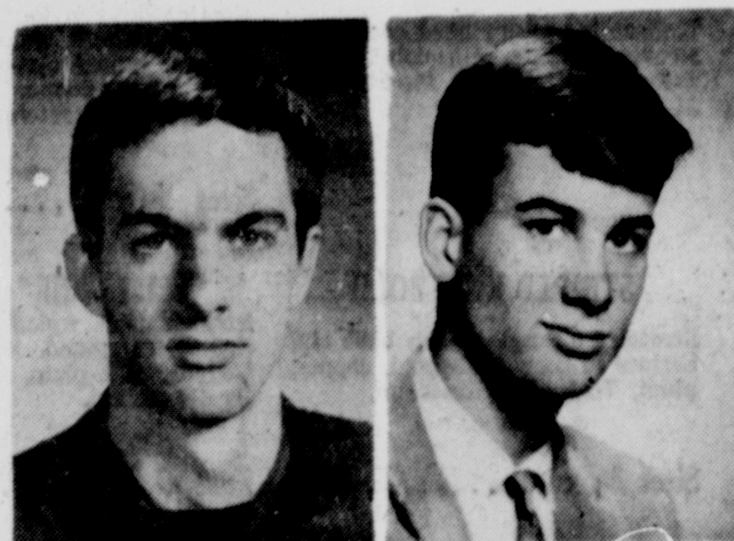

A cocktail party and reception honoring Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson will be given on August 20 by members of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club according to reports received by The Freeman.

Wilson is former county chairman of the Republican Party here. He was succeeded by former Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley of Kingston. Co-chairmen of the party are Mrs. John Salapatis of Kingston and Mrs. Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock. They announce the party will be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel and will commence at 5 p. m.

In announcing plans for the party, the co-chairmen endorsed the statement that Assemblyman Wilson served the Republicans for their county chairmanship for the past 10 years. "During his leadership, the GOP had always managed to retain its control of the county's governing body, the Board of Supervisors," they said. The co-chairmen also stated that during the past 10 years, the Republican party had consistently turned in overwhelming majorities for the party's state legislative candidates, even during the Democratic sweep of 1964 when the GOP lost both houses of the Legislature.

Mrs. Salapatis and Mrs. Goldberg agreed the sale of advance tickets indicates a capacity attendance. Named ticket chairmen were Mrs. Monroe Longendyk of Woodstock and Mrs. Lucille Ingarra of Kingston.

YWCA Group Visits West Point Academy

The YWCA's 1967 summer program climaxed Wednesday, Aug. 2, with a trip to Bear Mt. Park and West Point Military Academy.

a.m. and arrived at the state park at 11 o'clock.

The girls enjoyed a picnic lunch and a walk through the combined museum and zoo where they saw two black bears which formerly inhabited that area.

At 2:30 p.m. they went to West Point where they visited the Cadet Chapel, museum and souvenir counter. The museum, with its wealth of information on the wars and the soldiers who fought them, was of special interest.

The YWCA is a member of the Community Chest.

Look Here! Homemaker

Potatoes are a bargain in nutrition, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

Minerals — Three medium sized potatoes will supply you with one-fourth of the iron you need for one day. Do save this iron by cooking in the skins or by paring thin. Cook in as little water as possible.

Vitamins — Potatoes can boast two very important vitamins — vitamin B1 (thiamine) and vitamin C. Both are needed for healthy bodies. To get the most vitamins — cook quickly and serve promptly.

Starch — Potatoes have more starch than most vegetables. Starch supplies food energy to work and play.

Calories — One potato, of medium size, has about 100 calories. (Calorie-wise this is similar to the number of calories in a medium-sized apple, banana, pear or orange). It takes 3 or 4 potatoes to give you as many calories as you often eat in one piece of pie or cake.

Are potatoes fattening? No! No food is fattening until the body's need for calories has been met, then the surplus of any food is converted to fat and stored. A recent demonstration showed that subjects could lose weight when potatoes are included in a reducing diet.

Are macaroni and white rice potato substitutes? Potatoes contribute a significant amount of vitamin C that is completely lacking in macaroni and rice. Potatoes contain considerably more thiamine and iron, and some more riboflavin than unenriched rice and macaroni; there is little difference if enriched products are used. Also, rice and macaroni supply more calories.

Are vitamins lost in prolonged storage? Potatoes lose about one-half their vitamin C during the first three months in storage and about two-thirds during the first six months.

BARBECUED ROCK LOBSTER

Barbecue Lobster, Gribiche Sauce

Barbecued South African rock lobster tails are so popular these days that the are no novelty. Most people would like them to become at least once a week fare, if not everyday.

Since the tails of the rock lobster are all meat with no waste, they are easy for even the youngest family members to enjoy. When barbecued either with butter or some special sauce, the meat is there to be forked out of the shell with ease. In a solid piece, even, if someone wants to see all that succulent meat before he eats it.

Try this Gribiche Sauce for a change. This is a classic French sauce for seafood and it gives an extra spark to the barbecue. Especially if guests are present. It's the kind of thing people talk about as well as enjoy.

LOBSTER WITH

- 8 South African rock lobster tails.
- 1½ cups olive oil
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- ½ cup cider vinegar or lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ hard cooked eggs, sieved
- 1 small dill pickle, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley

Thaw South African rock lobster tails. Cut underside membrane around edge and remove. Grasp tail in both hands and bend backwards toward shell side to crack, or insert skewers to prevent curling. Mix together olive oil, mustard, vinegar and salt. Beat with a rotary egg beater until smooth and well blended. Set aside 1 cup of the mixture for basting rock lobster tails. When fire is hot, grill tails for 5 minutes flesh side down toward heat. Turn, spread flesh with sauce. Grill flesh side up just until meat has lost its translucency and is opaque. Do not overcook. Add eggs, pickle and parsley to remaining olive oil mixture. Beat until smooth and well blended. Spoon sauce over hot rock lobster tails. Yield: 8 servings—about 2 cups sauce.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE KRUSE

Dear Folks:

One of the greatest time savers in my kitchen — which also helps keep the kitchen neat — is a plastic container about the shape of a two pound coffee can.

This little "elf" is always sitting on my drainboard just to the right of my sink and it's always over half full of water. I put all used silverware into it immediately and leave it there until I wash dishes. I never leave a dirty piece of flat silver laying around for a minute.

Not only does this little "helper" soak the silver so that it makes it easy for me to wash when the time comes, but he keeps my drainboard neat and keeps Mr. Disposal from grinding up so many pieces. Grrr...

A plastic juice container can be used for this. Or if you don't have one, cut off the top of a plastic bleach bottle and use that for a few days to see how you like the idea.

Know you'll love it.

And did you know... that when you have potato salad, fried eggs and stuff that usually tarnishes forks, that if you grab that silver real quick and stick it under water, it will not tarnish?

Even if you don't clean the table immediately, remember to gather all that flatware and give it to your little "elf" so he can be cleaning it for you.

Never do anything yourself that something else will!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

In most cities, carpet companies sell remnants at a very reduced price.

I recently made a most attractive rug for our den by buying a number of these remnants in various colors. I also purchased a roll of carpet tape. Then I simply laid out my squares, placing the colors together to suit me. Then taking a row at a time, I taped them together snugly at the back.

The effect is gay, unusual and cheery. The whole family is delighted and yet the cost was so VERY small.

Jan Peters

The greatest part about this idea is that when you have damaged spots (cigarette burns, etc.) is that the squares can be exchanged — (put the bad one under a bed, etc.)

What price ingenuity? Jan sure had it.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To deaden the tick of a clock cover it with a clear plastic bag. The time can be clearly seen, the dust is kept out and your sleep undisturbed.

Mrs. W. Anderson

Dear Heloise:

When I began to make my daughter an afghan all in one piece, I was told that it would be too bulky to handle. But I wanted to try.

When the afghan was about two feet long I gathered the bottom and slipped on two elastic bands five or six inches apart, then as it grew I added more bands to hold it together.

When it reached the floor I slipped a plastic bread sack over the end with the rubber bands on the outside to hold the sack.

As it got longer I simply cut the bottom off more bread sacks and slipped them up above the first one.

It handled easily and was no job at all to keep it clean. Now I'm starting another.

Grandma C.

All I can say is, you have a lucky daughter.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If you have scorched a white blouse or shirt, dampen a white cloth with 3 per cent peroxide, place it over the scorched spot and press with an iron. Most times if the scorch wasn't too bad, you'll find it gone.

Man Behind the Shrimp

NEW YORK — (NEA) — With scissors snipping and hair being shorn in beauty salons around the world as the new short hair craze takes hold, Jean Shrimpton's famous long tresses are being protected by her personal hairdresser, Michael of Leonard's of London.

He is the answer to her problem of trying to find someone who likes to do long hair. He has created some of the fabulous hairdos the Shrimp wears on numerous magazine covers.

Jean and Michael were both in New York recently, she to present Yardley's annual London Look Award and he to do her hair for photo sessions.

Michael says "her face is fantastic. She can carry any hairstyle, even masses of hairpieces. She's a hairdresser's delight." Together they worked out the simple style that has become her signature, long, soft and free flowing, with wispy, eyebrow length bangs.

"Michael is always a step ahead of others in hairdressing. He knows what is to come," says the Shrimp. His prediction is, "people don't want a hairstyle any more, they want a look. Women strive for individuality more and more, not wanting to look like every other woman on the street."

"I like anything as long as it is well done. Hair with more looks, not curls as such but movement. Long hair should be smooth and shiny. Short hair, natural and free. Hard, unfattering hair is out," said Michael.

The Shrimp usually does her own hair, but relies completely in Michael to do the newest and most flattering styles for her modeling work.

Another of the famous customers of Leonard's of London is mod model Twiggy. "She's the salon mascot and Leonard is the creator of Twiggy's much-imitated cropped coif," Michael explained.

Michael believes that men's hairdressing is the next big thing. He was once requested to cut Rudolf Nureyev's hair before a ballet, but when he showed up the dancer was afraid to have it cut and disappeared. Michael and Nureyev's manager hunted him for hours and he eventually succumbed to the scissors at one o'clock in the morning.

Rummage Sales

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a rummage sale Aug. 24-25 at Sawkill Town Hall, Sawkill-Zena Road.

Mrs. Robert C. Clark, 14 Melissa Road, Sweet Meadows, Kingston, requests that persons who wish to contribute articles for the sale, contact her. Arrangements will be made for the items to be picked up during the week of Aug. 14 to 19.

Proceeds from the sale will be for the benefit of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company.

MICHAEL OF LEONARD'S OF LONDON is literally the man behind Jean Shrimpton, in the beauty salon. Here he adds (upper left) a small, fake wiglet to Jean's own hair, making the base larger. He doesn't necessarily believe that hairpieces have to match one's own hair. "It sometimes makes an interesting design by mixing light and dark shades." Using varying shades (upper right) in tones of blonde and brown, he gives the Shrimp a sphinxlike look with layers of long braids looped from one side to the other. (Londonderry Hair, Yardley)

Philharmonic Orchestra in Progress

Plans are now underway for the second season of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society's Orchestra in Progress.

The orchestra, under the direction of Claude Montoux, will resume rehearsals this fall on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie.

The Orchestra in Progress was founded in January 1967 and is composed of 65 members from a three county area. Its purpose is to train musicians who aspire to the professional ranks of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and also to provide an opportunity for those who wish to play orchestral music but do not have time to meet the very rigorous Philharmonic schedule.

As a project of the Friends of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, the Orchestra in Progress is looking forward to a productive 1967-68 season. Weekly rehearsals will be culminated by concerts in December and April, under the direction of Claude Montoux.

Mrs. John Jenner, who is president of The Friends of the Philharmonic has announced that Mrs. J. F. Zinni will be Business Manager for the season.

has also been splendid progress in "curing" infertility. A wide range of drugs, hormones, and surgical procedures have doubled or trebled successful therapy of sterile couples.

Although pregnant women live much freer lives than formerly, the march of science has also fenced them in a bit. The dangers to an unborn child of heavy smoking are now clear. Large-scale surveys show that babies born to mothers who smoke more than six cigarettes daily are more apt to be underweight or premature, and therefore weaker, than the babies of nonsmokers.

No "Eating for Two"

The other limitation is on glutony. No longer can pregnant women indulge in "eating for two." Doctors warn that excessive weight gains can cause complications. Under the general rule that, at the end of your pregnancy you should weigh 20 pounds over your ideal weight, you may even be urged to lose weight while carrying your baby.

As for the birth itself, it bears almost no resemblance to the painful, endless labors described by older generations. Natural childbirth helps some women achieve a painless or almost-painless birth without anesthesia.

For women uninterested in such an attainment, there are carefully-controlled anesthetics. One of the newest is the continuous paracervical block, which leaves the mother fully conscious and reduces possible drug hazard to the baby.

Ingenious instruments enable obstetricians to keep tabs on the unborn baby to make certain that he is developing properly and ultrasonic waves are used to measure fetal head size and to trace fetal heartbeats.

Forceps Re-examined

The forceps used in difficult births is under critical scrutiny. Some doctors favor a spatula, while a Canadian doctor has designed a parallel forceps to lessen the pressure needed to move the conventional scissors-like forceps.

In certain type cases, say other obstetricians, forceps should be replaced by vacuum extractors, which in effect suck the ill-placed or recalcitrant baby out of his mother's body.

Although a Cesarean birth is two or three times riskier than a normal birth, it is increasingly the preferred method for dealing with a difficult delivery. From five to seven per cent of all births are now Cesareans.

Believe it or not, doctors now have the answer to the traditional saw, "How many pains make a baby?" A Swiss study reveals that it takes an average of 135 contractions to bring forth a first baby, 68 for later infants.

Potatoes are a bargain in nutrition, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

Minerals — Three medium sized potatoes will supply you with one-fourth of the iron you need for one day. Do save this iron by cooking in the skins or by paring thin. Cook in as little water as possible.

Vitamins — Potatoes can boast two very important vitamins — vitamin B1 (thiamine) and vitamin C. Both are needed for healthy bodies. To get the most vitamins — cook quickly and serve promptly.

Starch — Potatoes have more starch than most vegetables. Starch supplies food energy to work and play.

Calories — One potato, of medium size, has about 100 calories. (Calorie-wise this is similar to the number of calories in a medium-sized apple, banana, pear or orange). It takes 3 or 4 potatoes to give you as many calories as you often eat in one piece of pie or cake.

Are potatoes fattening? No! No food is fattening until the body's need for calories has been met, then the surplus of any food is converted to fat and stored. A recent demonstration showed that subjects could lose weight when potatoes are included in a reducing diet.

Are macaroni and white rice potato substitutes? Potatoes contribute a significant amount of vitamin C that is completely lacking in macaroni and rice. Potatoes contain considerably more thiamine and iron, and some more riboflavin than unenriched rice and macaroni; there is little difference if enriched products are used. Also, rice and macaroni supply more calories.

Are vitamins lost in prolonged storage? Potatoes lose about one-half their vitamin C during the first three months in storage and about two-thirds during the first six months.

BARBECUED ROCK LOBSTER

Barbecue Lobster, Gribiche Sauce

Barbecued South African rock lobster tails are so popular these days that the are no novelty. Most people would like them to become at least once-a-week fare, if not everyday.

Since the tails of the rock lobster are all meat with no waste, they are easy for even the youngest family members to enjoy. When barbecued either with butter or some special sauce, the meat is there to be forked out of the shell with ease. In a solid piece, even, if someone wants to see all that succulent meat before he eats it.

Try this Gribiche Sauce for a change. This is a classic French sauce for seafood and it gives an extra spark to the barbecue. Especially if guests are present. It's the kind of

LOBSTER WITH

- 8 South African rock lobster tails.
- 1 1/2 cups olive oil
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar or lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 hard cooked eggs, sieved
- 1 small dill pickle, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley

Thaw South African rock lobster tails. Cut underside membrane around edge and remove. Grasp tail in both hands and bend backwards toward shell side to crack, or insert skewers to prevent thing people talk about as well as enjoy.

GRIICHIE SAUCE

curling. Mix together olive oil, mustard, vinegar and salt. Beat with a rotary egg beater until smooth and well blended. Set aside 1 cup of the mixture for basting rock lobster tails. When fire is hot, grill tails for 5 minutes flesh side down toward heat. Turn, spread flesh with sauce. Grill flesh side up just until meat has lost its translucency and is opaque. Do not overcook. Add eggs, pickle and parsley to remaining olive oil mixture. Beat until smooth and well blended. Spoon sauce over hot rock lobster tails. Yield: 8 servings—about 2 cups sauce.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE KRUSE

Dear Folks:

One of the greatest time savers in my kitchen — which also helps keep the kitchen neat — is a plastic container about the shape of a two pound coffee can.

This little "elf" is always sitting on my drainboard just to the right of my sink and it's always over half full of water. I put all used silverware into it immediately and leave it there until I wash dishes. I never leave a dirty piece of flat silver laying around for a minute.

Not only does this little "helper" soak the silver so that it makes it easy for me to wash when the time comes, but he keeps my drainboard neat and keeps Mr. Disposal from grinding up so many pieces. Grrr...

A plastic juice container can be used for this. Or if you don't have one, cut off the top of a plastic bleach bottle and use that for a few days to see how you like the idea.

Know you'll love it. And did you know... that when you have potato salad, fried eggs and stuff that usually tarnishes forks, that if you grab that silver real quick and stick it under water, it will not tarnish?

Even if you don't clean the table immediately, remember to gather all that flatware and give it to your little "elf" so he can be cleaning it for you.

Never do anything yourself that something else will.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

In most cities, carpet companies sell remnants at a very reduced price.

I recently made a most attractive rug for our den by buying a number of these remnants in various colors. I also purchased a roll of carpet tape. Then I simply laid out my squares, placing the colors together to suit me. Then taking a row at a time, I taped them together snugly at the back.

The effect is gay, unusual and cheery. The whole family is delighted and yet the cost was so VERY small.

Jan Peters

The greatest part about this idea is that when you have damaged spots (cigarette burns, etc.) is that the squares can be exchanged — (put the bad one under a bed, etc.)

What price ingenuity? Jan sure had it.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To deaden the tick of a clock, cover it with a clear plastic bag. The time can be clearly seen, the dust is kept out and your sleep undisturbed.

Mrs. W. Anderson

Dear Heloise:

When I began to make my daughter an afghan all in one piece, I was told that it would be too bulky to handle. But I wanted to try.

When the afghan was about two feet long I gathered the bottom and slipped on two elastic bands five or six inches apart, then as it grew I added more bands to hold it together.

When it reached the floor I slipped a plastic bread sack over the end with the rubber bands on the outside to hold the sack.

As it got longer I simply cut the bottom off more bread sacks and slipped them up above the first one.

It handled easily and was no job at all to keep it clean. Now I'm starting another.

Grandma C.

Dear Heloise:

If you have scorched a white blouse or shirt, dampen a white cloth with 3 per cent peroxide, place it over the scorched spot and press with an iron. Most times if the scorch wasn't too bad, you'll find it gone.

Man Behind the Shrimp

NEW YORK — (NEA) —

With scissors snipping and hair being shorn in beauty salons around the world as the new short hair craze takes hold, Jean Shrimpton's famous long tresses are being protected by her personal hairdresser, Michael of Leonard's of London.

He is the answer to her problem of trying to find someone who likes to do long hair. He has created some of the fabulous haidros the Shrimp wears on numerous magazine covers.

Jean and Michael were both in New York recently, she to present Yardley's annual London Look Award and he to do her hair for photo sessions.

Michael says "her face is fantastic. She can carry any hairstyle, even masses of hairpieces. She's a hairdresser's delight." Together they worked out the simple style that has become her signature, long, soft and free flowing, with wispy, eyebrow length bangs.

"Michael is always a step ahead of others in hairdressing. He knows what is to come," says the Shrimp. His prediction is, "people don't want a hairstyle any more, they want a look. Women strive for individuality more and more, not wanting to look like every other woman on the street."

"I like anything as long as it is well done. Hair with more looks, not curls as such but movement. Long hair should be smooth and shiny. Short hair, natural and free. Hard, unflattering hair is out," said Michael.

The Shrimp usually does her own hair, but relies completely in Michael to do the newest and most flattering styles for her modeling work.

Another of the famous customers of Leonard's of London is mod model Twiggy. "She's the salon mascot and Leonard is the creator of Twiggy's much-imitated cropped coil," Michael explained.

Michael believes that men's hairdressing is the next big thing. He was once requested to cut Rudolf Nureyev's hair before a ballet, but when he showed up the dancer was afraid to have it cut and disappeared. Michael and Nureyev's manager hunted him for hours and he eventually succumbed to the scissors at one o'clock in the morning.

Rummage Sales
The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a rummage sale Aug. 24-25 at Sawkill Town Hall, Sawkill-Zena Road.

Mrs. Robert C. Clark, 14 Melissa Road, Sweet Meadows, Kingston, requests that persons who wish to contribute articles for the sale, contact her. Arrangements will be made for the items to be picked up during the week of Aug. 14 to 19.

Proceeds from the sale will be for the benefit of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company.

Philharmonic Orchestra in Progress

Plans are now underway for the second season of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society's Orchestra in Progress.

The orchestra, under the direction of Claude Monteux, will resume rehearsals this fall on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie.

The Orchestra in Progress was founded in January 1967 and is composed of 65 members from a three county area. Its purpose is to train musicians who aspire to the professional ranks of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

Also to provide an opportunity for those who wish to play orchestral music but do not have time to meet the very rigorous Philharmonic schedule.

As a project of the Friends of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, the Orchestra in Progress is looking forward to a productive 1967-68 season. Weekly rehearsals will be culminated by concerts in December and April, under the direction of Claude Monteux.

Mrs. John Jenner, who is president of The Friends of the Philharmonic has announced that Mrs. J. F. Zinni will be Business Manager for the orchestra this season. She will be assisted by Mrs. David Stevenson, Mrs. Adolf Meier, Jr. will be Personnel Manager.

Mrs. Zinni has let it be known that there are openings for new musicians in the orchestra this season due to transfers and graduations. The orchestra is open to competent musicians of any age.

Auditions for new members will be held at Oakwood School on Tuesday, September 12th at 6:30, 7:00, and 7:30. All those auditioning will be asked to play a five minute musical selection, which they will have chosen and prepared in advance, and to demonstrate their ability to sight read music.

Negro Colonel in Viet Answers Black Power

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP)—To a Black Power leader who says Negroes are ready to fight at home but not in Vietnam, a Negro colonel replies that thousands of Negroes are fighting here "and when we go home we'll have to live down the trouble he and other idiots like him have built."

The majority of American Negroes oppose the extremists of their race, said Col. David James Jr., 47, of Pensacola, Fla., a pilot with 56 combat missions over North Vietnam. "But we must speak out firmly against them and violence."

"Before, when the Negroes were on the receiving end of the mob, many whites were opposed but they didn't raise their voices to stop it. Now, we're doing the same thing."

"This thing got to me, the lawlessness—rioting," James declared in an interview. "Men like Stokely Carmichael acting as if they speak for the Negro people. They don't, and they've set civil rights back 100 years."

"Carmichael says he will fight with guns. Well, who has the guns? You can't physically overpower the majority and if you could it would be wrong—it is just stupid."

Carmichael, former head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was quoted by a Cuban magazine Wednesday as saying that "if the people in the United States had been armed, they would have taken good care of (President) Johnson."

"I like the idea of having the people armed, but this is possible only in a free country where total freedom has been attained," Carmichael said in Havana. He is attending a meeting of Latin American revolutionaries and helped write a resolution calling for unity of Latin American guerrilla movements with the Black Power campaign in the United States.

"Black Power—I don't know what that is," said James, the tall, soft-spoken deputy commander of the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing.

"But I know what American power is. Our wing isn't a black wing, or a white wing or a green wing—it's technicolor, all-American."

James tried to strike a nonviolent blow for Negro rights as a young lieutenant in World War II. He and 100 other Negro officers were arrested when they tried to visit an all-white officers' club at Johnson Field, Ind., after they had been warned to stay away.

Three of the demonstrators were court-martialed. Two were acquitted and the third was convicted of resisting arrest.

Drum Corps Meet Tickets Reported Selling in 4 States

Tickets for the third annual Pow Wow of junior champions have been ordered by drum corps fans from Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and throughout New York State in the past two weeks. The Pow Wow, sponsored by the Troop 12 BSA Indians, will be held 8 p.m., Aug. 19 at Dietz Stadium.

Among the six corps that will try to take the coveted title from St. Lucy's Cadets will be the two corps featured in this article. From the beautiful and historic Mohawk Valley will come Update New York's pride "The Magnificent Yankees" Junior Drum and Bugle Corps from Utica.

They will open with the Broadway sound of "If My Friends Could See Me Now" and then on to a stirring color presentation of "Bless This House." The concert, you will recognize as an old Central New York folk song "Eric Canal," set in a jet age arrangement by Yankee bugle instructor Dick Robilotta, in observance of this year's Erie Canal Sesqui-Centennial celebration.

Garfield Cadets of New Jersey is one of the oldest and most well known drum corps in the United States, having been in continuous operation for a period of 33 years. Among the many outstanding titles held by the Corps is the Junior National Championship of the American Legion, won on 10 separate occasions. This record is unmatched in drum corps competition. They have been both American Legion and VFW Champions of New Jersey, plus the holders of many other titles.

The Cadets have interpreted the best 1966-1967 Broadway musicals and will present arrangements of "Overture To Man Of La Mancha," "American Salute," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "The Man In The Moon," and "Mame."

Both reserve section and general admission tickets are available through any member of the Kingston Indians, Ticket Chairman Gilbert Sampson, or at Shapiro's Paint Store, 63 North Front Street.

Dutchess Candidate Asks Action on LSD

Robert Fouhy, Democratic candidate for Dutchess County executive has announced that he has asked federal officials to introduce and pass legislation outlawing the sale and possession of LSD, STP and other hallucinogenic drugs.

Fouhy, in a letter to Senators Jacob K. Javits and Robert F. Kennedy and to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, declared "the physical dangers from the irresponsible use of LSD are now becoming clear. In addition to considerable knowledge about the long-lasting and perhaps permanent psychotic after-effects of LSD, we now have biological evidence of serious chromosomal damage in the body's cells. I am writing to ask you to support legislation of this kind because I consider it to be the responsibility of local officials and citizens to keep their representatives informed of local needs."

Praises Program

In his letter, Fouhy praised the educational program of the Millbrook Committee on Drug Education. Fouhy said, "I have attended some of their public meetings and found them most informative. Federal legislation should include provision for educational programs in schools so that the glamorous publicity LSD has received might be countered by presenting the evidence of irreparable physical damage caused by this chemical. States and counties should be assisted in starting their own educational programs."

Reached here for comment Fouhy added, "Dutchess County needs a complete educational program concerning drugs. Every community should follow Millbrook's example in making our children aware of the mental and physical dangers of LSD."

According to Fouhy's letter, the physical damage from LSD use has been reported by Professor George Alexander of the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons. His research demonstrates that the administration of LSD to pregnant rats resulted in a high percentage of stillborn and stunted young. Other researchers, Dr. Maimon Cohen of Buffalo and Dr. Kurt Hirschhorn of Mount Sinai Hospital in New York, have shown that high rates of chromosome damage can be found in about 90 percent of LSD users. They explained that chromosomes are the biological control for passing heredity from generation to generation. In addition to endangering the newborn, chromosomal damage may lead to cancer and leukemia.

Fouhy's letter continued, "I recommend for your attention an article in the Saturday Evening Post of August 12th which documents all of these emerging dangers of LSD use. The article includes a horrible and tragic tale of an LSD user who appears to be permanently crippled mentally."

This unfortunate man considers himself to be an orange and is frightened of other humans because he believes that if he is touched, he will turn into orange juice. According to the article, this man and similar casualties of LSD are kept from hospital care by their fellow 'hippies' because, according to them, it would give away (LSD) bad name."

"In addition there seems to be those who get a thrill from putting LSD or other chemicals into friends' drinks without their knowledge. If possession were made illegal, these practical jokes could be deterred by legal action. In Dutchess County there is at least one such case, the tragic result of which is still in a mental hospital."

"Surely it is time for the Federal Government, through the Food and Drug Administration to outlaw the sale and possession of these dangerous and unpredictable chemicals. While the manufacture of LSD is already illegal, other chemicals may not be included in any previous ruling. I urge you to take immediate action to see that forceful legislation is passed quickly to outlaw the manufacture, sale and possession of the hallucinogenic drugs."

Negro Colonel in Viet Answers Black Power

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP)—To Black Power leader who says Negroes are ready to fight at home but not in Vietnam, a Negro colonel replies that thousands of Negroes are fighting here "and when we go home we'll have to live down the trouble he and other idiots like him have built."

The majority of American Negroes oppose the extremists of their race, said Col. David James Jr., 47, of Pensacola, Fla., a pilot with 56 combat missions over North Vietnam. "But we must speak out firmly against them and violence."

"Before, when the Negroes were on the receiving end of the mob, many whites were opposed but they didn't raise their voices to stop it. Now, we're doing the same thing."

"This thing got to me, the lawlessness—rioting," James declared in an interview. "Men like Stokely Carmichael acting as if they speak for the Negro people. They don't, and they've set civil rights back 100 years."

"Carmichael says he will fight with guns. Well, who has the guns? You can't physically overpower the majority and if you could it would be wrong—it is just stupid."

Carmichael, former head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was quoted

by a Cuban magazine Wednesday as saying that "if the people in the United States had been armed, they would have taken good care of (President) Johnson."

"I like the idea of having the people armed, but this is possible only in a free country where total freedom has been attained," Carmichael said in Havana. He is attending a meeting of Latin American revolutionaries and helped write a resolution calling for unity of Latin American guerrilla movements with the Black Power campaign in the United States.

"Black Power—I don't know what that is," said James, the tall, soft-spoken deputy commander of the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing.

"But I know what American power is. Our wing isn't a black wing, or a white wing or a green wing—it's technicolor, all-American."

James tried to strike a nonviolent blow for Negro rights as a young lieutenant in World War II. He and 100 other Negro officers were arrested when they tried to visit an all-white officers' club at Johnson Field, Ind., after they had been warned to stay away.

English, American Actors Compared

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer LEEOLANE, Ireland (AP)—Working with English actors, observed Fred Zinnemann while directing "A Man for All Seasons," was like conducting a symphony orchestra after leading a dance band.

John Huston is inclined to agree. He has been directing an all-English cast in this lushly green land of western Ireland which is doubling as 1820 Scotland for "Sinful Davey," a saga of a legendary highwayman. "American acting has been based on personality, while the English actors have virtuosity," says Huston.

Hurt Prime Example

Such virtuosity has been demonstrated in the Academy Awards, which have been dominated by English actors in recent years. How do they get that way? A prime example can be offered by Huston's present star, John Hurt.

Huston is accustomed to directing names like Humphrey Bogart, Gregory Peck, Richard Burton, Marlon Brando and John Huston. But to play adventurous David Haggart he needed a British actor who could appear to be 20. Huston spotted a photograph of Hurt, who had played the traitor Rich in "A Man for All Seasons."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Aug. 11, the 223rd day of 1967. There are 142 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954 a formal peace announcement ended warfare between France and the Communist Viet Minh in Indochina.

On this date: In 1902, Oliver Wendell Holmes was appointed a Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1928, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover announced in Palo Alto, Calif., that he would accept the Republican nomination for president.

In 1944, American heavy bombers, operating for the first time from the Marianas, bombed Iwo Jima.

In 1945, the Allies told Japan its surrender offer was satisfactory.

Ten years ago — 79 persons were killed in an airliner crash near Quebec.

Five years ago — The Russians launched Cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev on a 64-orbit space flight.

One year ago — Chinese Communist authorities mysteriously recalled editions of the People's Daily and deleted a story about a Peking mass meeting at which Mao Tse-tung spoke.

"If the kid can act, that's our Davey," said the director. He soon found out John Hurt can act. The young actor was prepared for the opportunity because he had been afforded the kind of acting experience that seems to exist in no other country except England. Nowhere else can an actor receive top-notch training in modern plays and the classics, then be able to practice his profession in the best of theater, films and television.

Limited Experience

John Hurt's acting experience in school was limited to a female role in an Oscar Wilde play. But he was convinced he wanted to act. His father, a Church of England minister, was not at all enthusiastic, and John was persuaded to study art instead.

"But at 20 I still wanted to try acting, and I tried to enroll in the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art," he says. "They weren't holding auditions at the time, so I went off to work in the Lincoln Repertory, playing all the parts that the other actors didn't want."

Hurt returned to the Royal Academy and performed what he thought was a miserable audition. But his listeners perceived enough promise to grant him admission to the school, which has produced such recent graduates as Peter O'Toole, Albert Finney, Sarah Miles, Tom Courney and David Warner.

A plain-looking fellow of medium height, John Hurt may well find himself an international star as the result of "Sinful Davey." At 27, the prospect neither delights nor appalls him. "I think I'll be able to handle whatever happens," he says confidently.

Stone Ridge

Stone Ridge Reformed Church will sponsor its annual Dutch Day tour of stone houses. The tour is from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., starting from the church. Luncheon will be served from 11 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Rondout Valley Methodist Church Women's Society will sponsor a rummage sale at the church hall on Aug. 26. Articles may be left at the church. Mrs. Gerald Krom is the chairman. The annual chicken barbecue will be held Saturday, Sept. 23. Summer church school will be held at the Krippelbush church starting on Monday, Aug. 21 through Friday, Aug. 25, from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bruce Carlson have returned from their trip abroad.

Bridge Results

The Glenrie Bridge Club held its regular fractional point game at the Elks Club and played 24 boards in a Mitchell movement.

On the North-South side Arling Kallberg and Dr. John Olivet of Kingston won.

On the East-West side Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara of Hurley won a free game with a top score over all.

On the North-South side second place went to Joseph Mautner and Nathan Katatsky of Kingston. Third place was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Crisafulli of Boiceville.

On the East-West side second place went to Mrs. Robert Hogan and Ernest Le Fevre of Hurley. Third place was taken by Roy Wulff and John Levy of Kingston.

The Glenrie Bridge Club will hold its regular fractional point game at the Elks Club today at 7:30 p. m. All bridge players may attend.

MOURNS FOR PUPPY — Korene Stebler, 10 year old, blinded by Glaucoma at age 6, mourns dejectedly for runaway puppy "Tina." She holds the dogs leash and toy fish. Two months ago the girl's first puppy "Candy" also ran away. Korene is the 1967 Poster Girl for the Western Pa. School for the Blind. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Negro Children Get New Area Rest Chance

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Sixty-three Negro children from this city's slums have been given a second chance to vacation at a camp in New York's Catskill Mountains — thanks to a $7,800 gift from Local 1189 of the AFL-CIO Drug and Hospital Employees Union.

The federal government had canceled funds appropriated for the camp's operation.

"That this should happen to the Negro children of Newark is a terrible commentary on what our government has learned from the recent riots there," said Leon Davis, president of Local 1189.

The children, sent home after 12 days of a planned three-week vacation, returned Tuesday night to Camp Abeland, near Hunter, N.Y.

Mrs. Victor Fink, business manager of the camp, said her bank notified her that an Office of Economic Opportunity check for $10,631 to cover the children's stay had been stopped. She said the OEO office in New York City told her only that Camp Abeland was "programmatically unacceptable."

A spokesman for Newark's antipoverty agency said it had been given no explanation for the decision to stop the program.

A spokesman for the OEO in Washington said Abeland's management had come under investigation by the OEO last year when it operated Camp Wehauk, in Windale, N.Y. The spokesman said the investigation followed a series of articles in a New York newspaper claiming that Camp Wehauk had been used by communists to train "hand-picked youth how to infiltrate the civil rights movement."

Mrs. Fink said the OEO inquiry yielded no evidence of any connection between the Communist party and the camp, which she said is nonprofit and without political or religious affiliations.

English, American Actors Compared

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer LEEOLANE, Ireland (AP)—Working with English actors, observed Fred Zinnemann while directing "A Man for All Seasons," was like conducting a symphony orchestra after leading a dance band.

John Huston is inclined to agree. He has been directing an all-English cast in this lushly green land of western Ireland, which is doubling as 1820 Scotland for "Sinful Davey," a saga of a legendary highwayman.

"American acting has been based on personality, while the English actors have virtuosity," says Huston.

Hurt Prime Example

Such virtuosity has been demonstrated in the Academy Awards, which have been dominated by English actors in recent years. How do they get that way? A prime example can be offered by Huston's present star, John Hurt.

Huston is accustomed to directing names like Humphrey Bogart, Gregory Peck, Richard Burton, Marlon Brando and John Huston. But to play adventurous David Haggart he needed a British actor who could appear to be 20. Huston spotted a photograph of Hurt, who had played the traitor Rich in "A Man for All Seasons."

Today In History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Aug. 11, the 223rd day of 1967. There are 142 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954 a formal peace announcement ended warfare between France and the Communist Viet Minh in Indo-China.

On this date: In 1902, Oliver Wendell Holmes was appointed a Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1928, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover announced in Palo Alto, Calif., that he would accept the Republican nomination for president.

In 1944, American heavy bombers, operating for the first time from the Marianas, bombed Iwo Jima.

In 1945, the Allies told Japan its surrender offer was satisfactory. Ten years ago — 79 persons were killed in an airliner crash near Quebec.

Five years ago — The Russians launched Cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev on a 64-orbit space flight.

One year ago — Chinese Communist authorities mysteriously recalled editions of the People's Daily and deleted a story about a Peking mass meeting at which Mao Tse-tung spoke.

And it needn't be expensive. We are now serving soup and salad as well as our interesting relish tray with all entrees. P. S. Don't forget our catering service, call us for details.

Negro Children Get New Area Rest Chance

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Sixty-three Negro children from this city's slums have been given a second chance to vacation at a camp in New York's Catskill Mountains — thanks to a $7,800 gift from Local 1199 of the AFL-CIO Drug and Hospital Employees Union.

The federal government had canceled funds appropriated for the camp's operation.

"That this should happen to the Negro children of Newark is a terrible commentary on what our government has learned from the recent riots there," said Leon Davis, president of Local 1199.

The children, sent home after 12 days of a planned three-week vacation, returned Tuesday night to Camp Abeland, near Hunter, N.Y.

Mrs. Victor Fink, business manager of the camp, said her bank notified her that an Office of Economic Opportunity check for $10,631 to cover the children's stay had been stopped. She said the OEO office in New York City told her only that Camp Abeland was "programmatically unacceptable."

A spokesman for Newark's antipoverty agency said it had been given no explanation for the decision to stop the program.

A spokesman for the OEO in Washington said Abeland's management had come under investigation by the OEO last year when it operated Camp Webatuck, in Windgate, N.Y. The spokesman said the investigation followed a series of articles in a New York newspaper claiming that Camp Webatuck had been used by communists to train "hand-picked youth how to infiltrate the civil rights movement."

Mrs. Fink said the OEO inquiry yielded no evidence of any connection between the Communist party and the camp, which she said is nonprofit and without political or religious affiliations.

Murals on Store Fronts Cover Up Scars of Riot

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Eight Negro teenagers have found that plywood boards shuttering riot-scattered stores can be turned into a thing of beauty with some paint and imagination.

The eight, with the cooperation of storeowners, have done just that. Where passersby along Joseph Avenue stared at plain boards a few days ago, today they see murals commissioned by the merchants.

The paintings are on boards erected to cover a clothing store, a hardware store, a pharmacy, two drycleaning shops and two groceries.

They're part of the third annual arts festival sponsored by the Joseph Avenue Businessmen's Association, which opens a three-day run today.

Thirty artists in the area have scheduled sidewalk showings of their work; and a night parade, complete with drum and bugle corps, and street dancing are highlights of the program lined up by the merchants, who include both Negroes and whites.

Joseph Avenue, which lies just north of this city's central business district, was the origin point of racial rioting here three summers ago. Again this summer, on July 24 and 25, a lesser disturbance sprang from the street.

The plywood boards were erected to protect plate glass windows from vandals or to cover broken glass.

Some merchants were reluctant to stage the festival this year, thinking that still-visible signs of turmoil would lend a jarring note to what should be a happy occasion.

Hearing this, Mrs. Patricia Wild, executive secretary of the Arts Council of Rochester, hit upon the idea of the murals. She went to the Sidewalk Storefront Art Studio, a venture sponsored by anti-poverty funds and interested the youngsters in the mural project.

Storeowners also were receptive to the plan, and one who already had removed his boards offered his windows as a painting surface, she said.

The merchants selected the themes for their artwork. The hardware store, for instance, now is graced by a mural depicting animated tools, nails and other objects for sale behind the plywood.

A local paint firm donated the materials, and the young artists—seven boys and a girl ranging in age from 16 to 19—set to work. They are being guided by Allen Bell, supervisor of the Storefront Studio, and Nancy Mills, an Antioch College student from Falls Church, Va., who is working this summer at a settlement house in the area.

Still Probe 212 Crash

Woodstock constables today continued investigation of a two-car collision which occurred at 7:30 p. m. Thursday on Route 212 near the Woodstock Lakes.

Constable William Waterous said William H. Smith, 33, of Phoenicia, was driving along along the highway and apparently attempting to pass a vehicle operated by William Trevor of Bearsville, when Smith's car went out of control. The vehicle continued across the road up an embankment and knocked down sign posts, Waterous said.

Smith was taken to Kingston Hospital by Eufum's ambulance. Waterous said when he arrived at the hospital he was informed Smith had left.

Three Unhurt

Three young women escaped injury at 11:50 p. m. Thursday when the car in which they were riding went out of control and crashed through a fence off Route 375 near the White Horse Inn, Woodstock. Constable William Waterous reported Naomi Solomon, 18, of Ellenville was negotiating a sharp curve at the time of the accident. She was cited for failure to keep to the right. Carol Solomon, a cousin of the driver, was a passenger in the vehicle. The third passenger was not identified.

Will Poll Reds

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Between 120,000 and 200,000 members of Poland's ruling Communist party are going to be interviewed about their politics, honesty, views on international questions and responsiveness to party discipline. Trybuna Ludu, the party newspaper, said this week that special teams have been set up in each county to quiz 6 to 10 per cent of the party membership—which now totals just under 2 million—and weed out those who "do not respect discipline and violate statutory standards."

The questioning is part of a general screening prior to recall of all party membership cards in November and December and the issuance of new ones.

Oil Slick Again

LONDON (AP) — Seventeen miles of England's southern channel coast were black, smelly and sticky today from a huge new oil slick that settled on the beaches and drove thousands of vacationers away. The oil was believed to have been pumped from an unidentified tanker in the channel. There was no indication of any connection with the supertanker Torrey Canyon, which broke up off the southwest coast in March and flooded the beaches in that area with crude oil.

More than 6,000 holidaymakers went to emergency centers Thursday to have patches of oil washed from their bodies, hair and clothes.

Yard Probing

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard is investigating a complaint that Duncan Sandys, a former Conservative Cabinet minister, violated the race relations act in a television interview. A group of West Indian immigrants demanded that Sandys be prosecuted because in an interview July 24, he called for a curb on immigration and said the breeding of millions of half-caste children would produce a generation of misfits.

Posner Not Driving

In an account of city accidents reported in Thursday's Freeman it was inadvertently noted that Philip Posner of Miller's Lane was the operator of a vehicle involved in a collision on Fair Street Wednesday night. According to city police, the car is owned by Posner, but it was hit and run accident and the driver was unknown. Posner claimed today he was not the operator of the car and he did not know who was operating the car at the time of the mishap.

Impound Wagner Car

NEW YORK (AP) — Police slapped an illegal parking tag on the windshield of former Mayor Robert Wagner's car Thursday and towed it away. The shiny, black limousine was parked in front of Wagner's East 69th Street residence when it was spotted by a patrolman. Twenty minutes later a tow truck had hauled it away. At the police car pound, where a Wagner aide paid the $25 tow fee to reclaim the auto, a sergeant commented, "We don't care who the car belongs to. If it's tagged, we'll tow it, and the owner pays the fine."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed with the averages a shade lower in early trading Friday.

A few more stocks were lozier than higher.

After a mixed opening, the market edged off on balance. It was the fourth of the abbreviated sessions, cut to four hours from 5½ so that brokerage offices could catch up with paper work.

Deals were active in airlines, with United up a fraction. Steels were unchanged to narrowly mixed for the most part but Sharon Steel spurted nearly 3 points.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York and American Stock exchanges will continue their shortened trading periods through next week to help brokerage firms clear a logjam of paperwork that has stacked up during recent record volume.

The decisions to extend the period of 2 p.m. closing—30 minutes earlier than usual—was reached by the boards of governors of both exchanges late Thursday. They said regular hours of 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. will be resumed Monday, Aug. 21.

In addition, the governors announced an alteration in the schedules for settlement of transactions to provide a doubling up of daily settlements on one day next week and two days the following week.

DeGaulle Hits Critics at Home

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle assailed his critics at home Thursday night as "apostles of decline" who renounce French independence and "experts in disparagement" who oppose the development of France.

In a 20-minute radio-television defense of his policies, the 76-year-old leader reiterated none of the domestic and foreign stands which this summer have aroused increasing opposition in France as well as abroad.

He enumerated his recent foreign policy stands—on Vietnam, the war in the Middle East, the European Common Market, relations with Communist nations and his support of French-Canadian separatism—and said "the fact that France is taking a position appropriately French, stupefies and exasperates the apostles of decline."

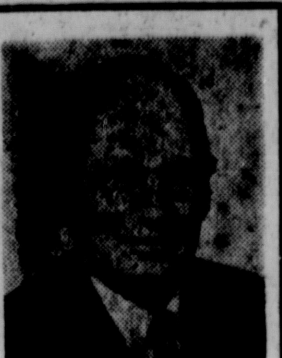

De Gaulle said nothing is more important than for France to rebuild its influence and power.

He said this is why his government recognized Communist China in 1964, and why "we condemn in regard to all states, any armed intervention in the territory of others such as indeed took place in Southeast Asia and in the Middle East, because nowadays a fire is detectable and once lit threatens to spread far."

"Progress, independence, peace, these are the linked goals which our policy is following," he declared. "It naturally follows that this over-all action is disapproved by what one must call the school of national renunciation. To those minds, to those parties, to those newspapers who belong to it, the idea itself, that France could play a role that is its own appears to be impossible, ridiculous, even scandalous."

Risks in Fixed Income As Well as Stocks

Q) "I am single with a small income. I have an annuity policy which will mature soon, when I reach 60. Now, I must elect to receive $9,000 cash or a moderate fixed income for life. Every time I think of fixed payments, I worry about the shrinking dollar. Why not purchase common stocks offering a small yield and the possibility of appreciation? Then at age 70, buy a straight life annuity that would pay eight per cent." E.B.

A) You appear to have thought things out very well for yourself. There is risk in common stock investment, of price fluctuation if nothing else. There is also a potential for enhancing your capital to keep its value at least constant in terms of purchasing power. In my opinion, there is considerable risk in fixed-income investment as well — the very real danger that a shrinking dollar will impair the true value of your capital ten years hence. I advise you to follow the plan you have outlined and suggest you accept cash and buy American Home Products; Foxboro; Norwich Pharmacal. Q) "We are retired and have sufficient income. Our investments are with the United Fund Mutual stock funds where we have accumulated considerable shares over the years. There is so much talk about the investigation of mutual fund shares that we wonder if we should sell at least part and invest in good bonds." R.S.

A) I don't believe you need to feel the slightest apprehension about your mutual funds. The investigation to which you refer resulted solely in criticism of sales and management fees. At no time have there been any charges of mismanagement of funds, which is what I believe you are concerned about. United Fund Mutuals are a well regarded and, in my opinion, well managed group. You have already paid your sales fees and you will benefit if any reduction in management charges is effected. Unless you require more current income, I would not disturb your holdings.

Pile of Papers Buries Wall Street, Others

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It was bound to happen, but most people thought it would occur first in Washington, the seat of bureaucracy, not in Wall Street, where you would expect problems to be handled with businesslike dispatch.

But the fact is that Wall Street and its equivalent streets throughout America have been buried in a storm of paper.

All Clogged Up

Brokerage houses, where little slips of paper mean everything, are all clogged up. Stock exchanges, where brokers transact their business, have been forced to shut down 30 minutes early to ease the paper flow.

The problem is one of soaring volume in the stock markets and an inability of brokers to automate or train new help fast enough to handle it.

This volume, as confessed by more than one analyst skilled in forecasting trends in other business, has grown much faster than was foreseen. The brokerage business failed to see or plan for its own bull market.

Just a couple of years ago the New York Stock Exchange released a forecast of 11 million shares a day by 1975. But now, eight years before that date, volume already is averaging 10 million shares a day.

The result is a paper storm that has jammed back offices, or cages as they are called. Extra shifts are added and workers get all the overtime they want. New help is trained. But still the jam builds up.

Stock dividends, proxy materials, monthly statements, and confirmation slips that should have been mailed days ago are still days away from being mailed. Although not critical now, the situation will be if measures are not taken.

Personnel Problems

The personnel problems were described this way in an interview by a partner of one of the nation's largest brokerage houses:

"The street has only a certain number of good, competent clerical employees. It does no good to steal from one another, but just look at the ads in the Sunday papers."

"Fifty firms advertised last week for the same kind of employees. They're not asking for just any Joe. They're seeking skilled workers and all these workers are already employed. It's not a smart thing to be doing."

The heavy volume is tough to contend with at any time. But, continued over many months, the volume eventually wears the best workers into making errors.

One answer is to automate, but as one Wall Streeter remarked, "a computer can't reach out with an iron claw and grab a paper certificate."

The solution, a temporary one, has been to put workers on overtime. But now clerks are showing a dislike for extra hours regardless of the money.

As a result of this dilemma, most of the big stock exchanges around the country have lopped, temporarily, an hour and a half from their usual trading day to permit brokers to catch up on their paper work.

There is some indication, however, that this stopgap measure to avert a breakdown won't help much. Shorter days, say some brokers, will merely concentrate his same volume in fewer hours. They vote instead for a four-day week.

What is eventually needed, some critics say, is a better self-understanding by the brokerage business itself, so that planning and order will replace crises.

The British fleet ended Napoleon's dreams of invading England by defeating a French and Spanish force in 1805.

Frank Tefft, 19, of Route 23, Leeds, escaped injury at 1:45 a. m. today when his car overtook on Blue Mountain Road, Town of Saugerties, but he was recited by State Police for failure to keep to the right.

Tefft, authorities reported, was traveling north on the road and negotiating a left curve when he lost control. The car veered off the left side of the pavement and overturned, coming to a stop on its wheels.

Victory Markets Declare Dividend

Charles A. Smith, chairman of the board and treasurer, reported new sales records. Sales for 30 weeks in 1967 were $40,900,257.43, which was an increase of $3,129,228.27, or 8.3 per cent over the same period in 1966.

This will be the 234th dividend and is the 59th consecutive year of continuous dividends for the corporation.

The expansion program of the company is proceeding on schedule. Two new Victory supermarkets have been opened this year.

Murals on Store Fronts Cover Up Scars of Riot

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Eight Negro teen-agers have found that plywood boards shuttering riot-scarred stores can be turned into a thing of beauty with some paint and imagination.

The eight, with the cooperation of storeowners, have done just that. Where passersby along Joseph Avenue stared at plain boards a few days ago, today they see murals commissioned by the merchants.

The paintings are on boards erected to cover a clothing store, a hardware store, a pharmacy, two drycleaning shops and two groceries.

They're part of the third annual arts festival sponsored by the Joseph Avenue Businessmen's Association, which opens a three-day run today.

Thirty artists in the area have scheduled sidewalk showings of their work, and a night parade, complete with drum and bugle corps, and street dancing are highlights of the program lined up by the merchants, who include both Negroes and whites.

Joseph Avenue, which lies just north of this city's central business district, was the origin point of racial rioting here three summers ago. Again this summer, on July 24 and 25, a lesser disturbance sprang from the street.

The plywood boards were erected to protect plate glass windows from vandals or to cover broken glass.

Some merchants were reluctant to stage the festival this year, thinking that still-visible signs of turmoil would lend a jarring note to what should be a happy occasion.

Hearing this, Mrs. Patricia Wild, executive secretary of the Arts Council of Rochester, hit upon the idea of the murals. She went to the Sidewalk Storefront Art Studio, a venture sponsored by anti-poverty funds and interested the youngsters in the mural project.

Storeowners also were receptive to the plan, and one who already had removed his boards offered his windows as a painting surface, she said.

The merchants selected the themes for their artwork. The hardware store, for instance, now is graced by a mural depicting animated tools, nails and other objects for sale behind the plywood.

A local paint firm donated the materials, and the young artists—seven boys and a girl—rang in age from 16 to 19—set to work. They are being guided by Allen Bell, supervisor of the Storefront Studio, and Nancy Mills, an Antioch College student from Falls Church, Va., who is working this summer at a settlement house in the area.

Still Probe 212 Crash

Woodstock constables today continued investigation of a two-car collision which occurred at 7:30 p. m. Thursday on Route 212 near the Woodstock Lanes.

Constable William Waterous said William H. Smith, 33, of Phoenix, was driving along along the highway and apparently attempting to pass a vehicle operated by William Trevor of Bearsville, when Smith's car went out of control. The vehicle continued across the road up an embankment and knocked down sign posts, Waterous said.

Smith was taken of Kingston Hospital by Fatum's ambulance. Waterous said when he arrived at the hospital he was informed Smith had left.

Three Unhurt

Three young women escaped injury at 11:50 p. m. Thursday when the car in which they were riding went out of control and crashed through a fence off Route 375 near the White Horse Inn, Woodstock. Constable William Waterous reported Naomi Solomon, 18, of Ellenville was negotiating a sharp curve at the time of the accident. She was cited for failure to keep to the right. Carol Solomon, a cousin of the driver, was a passenger in the vehicle. The third passenger was not identified.

Will Poll Reds

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Between 120,000 and 200,000 members of Poland's ruling Communist party are going to be interviewed about their political, honest, views on international questions and responsiveness to party discipline. Trybuna Ludu, the party newspaper, said this week that special teams have been set up in each county to quiz 6 to 10 per cent of the party membership—which now totals just under 2 million—and weed out those who "do not respect discipline and violate statutory standards."

The questioning is part of a general screening prior to recall of all party membership cards in November and December and the issuance of new ones.

Oil Slick Again

LONDON (AP) — Seventeen miles of England's southern channel coast were black, smelly and sticky today from a huge new oil slick that settled on the beaches and drove thousands of vacationers away. The oil was believed to have been pumped from an unidentified tanker in the channel. There was no indication of any connection with the supertanker Torrey Canyon, which broke up off the southwest coast in March and flooded the beaches in that area with crude oil. More than 6,000 holidaymakers went to emergency centers Thursday to have patches of oil washed from their bodies, hair and clothes.

Yard Probing

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard is investigating a complaint that Duncan Sandys, a former Conservative Cabinet minister, violated the race relations act in a television interview. A group of West Indian immigrants demanded that Sandys be prosecuted because in an interview July 24, he called for a curb on immigration and said the breeding of millions of half-caste children would produce a generation of misfits.

Posner Not Driving

In an account of city accidents reported in Thursday's Freeman it was inadvertently noted that Philip Posner of Miller's Lane was the operator of a vehicle involved in a collision on Fair Street Wednesday night. According to city police, the car is owned by Posner, but it was hit and run accident and the driver was unknown. Posner claimed today he was not the operator of the car and he did not know who was operating the car at the time of the mishap.

Impound Wagner Car

NEW YORK (AP) — Police slapped an illegal-parking tag on the windshield of former Mayor Robert Wagner's car Thursday and towed it away. The shiny, black limousine was parked in front of Wagner's East 69th Street residence when it was spotted by a patrolman. Twenty minutes later a tow truck had hauled it away. At the police car pound, where a Wagner aide paid the $25 tow fee to reclaim the auto, a sergeant commented, "We don't care who the car belongs to. If it's tagged, we'll tow it, and the owner pays the fine." Wagner's successor at City Hall, Mayor John V. Lindsay, instituted the towaway program.

To those minds, to those parties, to those newspapers who belong to it, the idea itself, that France could play a role that is its own appears to be impossible, ridiculous, even scandalous."

Car Overtakes At Saugerties; Driver Unhurt

Frank Tefft, 19, of Route 23, Leeds, escaped injury at 1:45 a. m. today when his car overtook on Blue Mountain Road, Town of Saugerties, but he was cited by State Police for failure to keep to the right. Trooper John McMickle said the summons issued by Trooper David Wachtel is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cody, Town of Saugerties. Tefft, authorities reported, was traveling north on the road and negotiating a left curve when he lost control. The car veered off the left side of the pavement and overturned, coming to a stop on its wheels.

Risks in Fixed Income
As Well as Stocks

Q) "I am single with a small income. I have an annuity policy which will mature soon, when I reach 60. Now, I must elect to receive $9,000 cash or a moderate fixed income for life. Every time I think of fixed payments, I worry about the shrinking dollar. Why not purchase common stocks offering a small yield and the possibility of appreciation? Then at age 70, buy a straight life annuity that would pay eight per cent." E.B.

A) You appear to have thought things out very well for yourself. There is risk in common stock investment, of price fluctuation if nothing else. There is also a potential for enhancing your capital to keep its value at least constant in terms of purchasing power. In my opinion, there is considerable risk in fixed-income investment as well — the very real danger that a shrinking dollar will impair the true value of your capital ten years hence. I advise you to follow the plan you have outlined and suggest you accept cash and buy American Home Products; Foxboro; Norwich Pharmacal; Q) "We are retired and have sufficient income. Our investments are with the United Fund Mutual stock funds where we have accumulated considerable shares over the years. There is so much talk about the investigation of mutual fund shares that we wonder if we should sell at least part and invest in good bonds." R.S.

A) I don't believe you need to feel the slightest apprehension about your mutual funds. The investigation to which you refer resulted solely in criticism of sales and management fees. At no time have there been any charges of mismanagement of funds, which is what I believe you are concerned about. United Fund Mutuals are a well regarded and, in my opinion, well managed group. You have already paid your sales fees and you will benefit if any reduction in management charges is effected. Unless you require more current income, I would not disturb my holdings. ## Pile of Papers Buries Wall Street, Others

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It was bound to happen, but most people thought it would occur first in Washington, the seat of bureaucracy, not in Wall Street, where you would expect problems to be handled with businesslike dispatch.

But the fact is that Wall Street and its equivalent streets throughout America have been buried in a storm of paper.

All Clogged Up

Brokerage houses, where little slips of paper mean everything, are all clogged up. Stock exchanges, where brokers transacted their business, have been forced to shut down 90 minutes early to ease the paper flow.

The problem is one of soaring volume in the stock markets and an inability of brokers to automate or train new help fast enough to handle it.

This volume, as confessed by more than one analyst skilled in forecasting trends in other businesses, has grown much faster than was foreseen. The brokerage business failed to see or plan for its own bull market.

Just a couple of years ago the New York Stock Exchange released a forecast of 11 million shares a day by 1975. But now, eight years before that date, volume already is averaging 10 million shares a day.

The result is a paper storm that has jammed back offices, or cages as they are called. Extra shifts are added and workers get all the overtime they want. New help is trained. But still the jam builds up.

Stock dividends, proxy materials, monthly statements, and confirmation slips that should have been mailed days ago are still days away from being mailed. Although not critical now, the situation will be if measures are not taken.

Personnel Problems

The personnel problems were described this way in an interview by a partner of one of the nation's largest brokerage houses: "The street has only a certain number of good, competent clerical employees. It does no good to steal from one another, but just look at the ads in the Sunday papers."

"Fifty firms advertised last week for the same kind of employees. They're not asking for just any Joe. They're seeking skilled workers and all these workers are already employed. It's not a smart thing to be doing."

The heavy volume is tough to contend with at any time. But, continued over many months, the volume eventually wears the best workers into making errors.

One answer is to automate, but as one Wall Streeter remarked, "a computer can't reach out with an iron claw and grab a paper certificate."

The solution, a temporary one, has been to put workers on overtime. But now clerks are showing a dislike for extra hours regardless of the money.

As a result of this dilemma, most of the big stock exchanges around the country have lopped, temporarily, an hour and a half from their usual trading day to permit brokers to catch up on their paper work.

There is some indication, however, that this stopgap measure to avert a breakdown won't help much. Shorter days, say some brokers, will merely concentrate his same volume in fewer hours. They vote instead for a four-day week.

What is eventually needed, some critics say, is a better self-understanding by the brokerage business itself, so that planning and order will replace crises.

The British fleet ended Napoleon's dreams of invading England by defeating a French and Spanish force in 1805.

600-Acre Wittenberg Site

Area Park Work Due for 1968

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County said today he has learned from the State Conservation Department that a preliminary plan for the development of the proposed Wittenberg State Park in northern Ulster County has been completed, and that the State hopes to start actual construction work on the 600 acre recreational facility by the fall of next year.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, an appropriation of $20,000 was included in the current State budget for the planning of the new State park, and Wilson added the Conservation Department has entered into negotiations with the firm of Andrews and Clark in New York City for the preparation of a comprehensive master plan for developing the major recreational facility, which will include the creation of a large, artificial lake for various water sports.

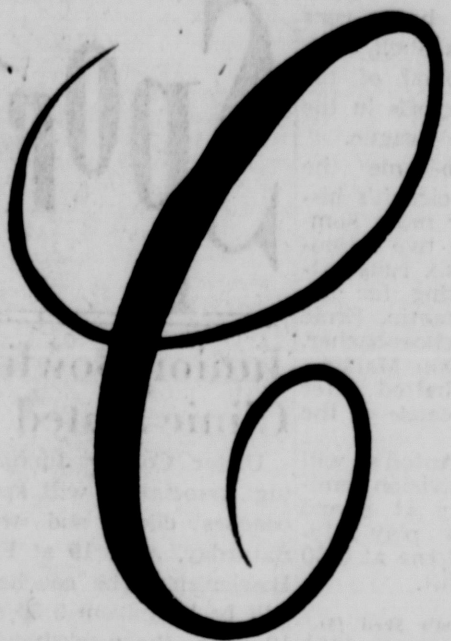

The Assemblyman noted that the consultant firm has already submitted a preliminary plan for the park's development, and that the Conservation Department is now in the process of evaluating the proposal to determine if any basic changes have to be made before work on the final plans is begun. Mr. Wilson said that the plan now calls for the creation of various types of recreational facilities including the possible construction of a public golf course.

Assemblyman Wilson said he has been informed that the State Conservation Department will request funds in their budget for the coming fiscal year for the first phase of development, and that the contract plans should be ready in time to commence some actual construction work by the fall of 1968. Wilson added that the Department will also be requesting funds in the 1968-69 budget for the construction of the dam to create the artificial lake.

Wilson said he realized that quite a bit of time has elapsed since he first proposed the establishment of a new State park in Ulster County, but he pointed out that it was not until last year, when the voters of New York State approved the $200 million dollar recreational development bond issue, that the necessary funds could be made available for the construction of new recreational facilities such as the Wittenberg State Park. The Assemblyman concluded by stating, "There is no doubt now that the Wittenberg Park is finally becoming a reality, and we have all reached the point when we can begin thinking in terms of months, rather than years, when the residents of Ulster County will be able to enjoy the benefits of this magnificent recreational facility."

Baxter's 66 Leads American Golf Play

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Rex Baxter Jr., with only one tournament victory to show for his 10 years as a pro, is in unfamiliar but pleasant position.

The 31-year-old Texan took a three-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 American Golf Classic.

Baxter, who offhand couldn't remember the last time he held a lead in a tournament, shot a four-under-par 34-32-66 Thursday over the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course which had his fellow pros moaning and groaning.

Rains, a new watering system, and 20-mile-per-hour wind gusts had the lengthy layout playing at its very toughest.

"That's four shots lower than any round I've ever had on this course," said the happy Baxter.

Baxter's only tour victory came in the 1963 Cajun Classic.

Par is Adamant

Only six others in the field of 124 golfers managed to break par and all came in with 69s.

They were George Archer with 35-34, Bill Collins 36-33, Bill Martindale 36-33, Jack McGowan 34-35, Kermit Zarley 36-33 and Randy Glover 36-33.

Only Glover in that group has a tournament victory this year, and that came in the Azalea Open, while Zarley is the top money winner and ranks 31st on the list.

Some of the lads who are expected to apply the pressure to Baxter were another shot behind.

Play Sunday At Torrington

The municipal stadium arc-light system, with every bulb in place, will be dimmed Saturday but they'll be turned on Monday night when the Kingston Braves host the Krael Athletic Club of Schenectady.

Meanwhile, the locals launch the final phase of their Interstate League season Sunday afternoon at Torrington, Conn.

The disastrous 6-5 loss to America last Saturday night virtually knocked the Braves out of contention, but they remain only one game behind in the loss column. Winsted and Millerton, tied for first place with 6-2 have, of course two victories more than Kingston salted away.

Ron Thomas, who was breezing against America until a kink in his elbow forced him to leave the game, is expected to get the nod against Torrington.

In other Sunday action, America is at Pine Plains and Millerton hosts Winsted in a battle of the leaders.

At Torrington Sunday, Chick Boice gets a chance to set a new Interstate League record the first time he steps to the plate. Boice now shares the league mark of nine straight hits, having collected four against Millerton and "5-5" last Saturday night at the stadium against America.

Meanwhile, Jerry Hawkins of Braves leads the league hitters with a .483 average on 14 hits in 29 trips. Boice's sensational streak has vaulted him into second place with a .440 figure (11 for 25).

Mets Sign Matlack, Has Ties Locally

Jon Matlack, a 17-year-old West Chester (Pa.) resident, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trumbour of Saugerties has signed a bonus contract with the New York Mets.

A 6-3, 185-pound left-handed pitcher, Matlack was the first choice of the Mets in the recent free-agent draft. Though figures were not given, it was estimated Matlack signed for about $40,000. He will report to Williamsport of the Eastern League.

While pitching for Henderson High School in West Chester, the youngster compiled a brilliant 22-1 record and had seven no-hitters. He also hurled for the West Chester American Legion team and had a 9-0 record.

His mother, the former Marcella Trumbour, is a native of Saugerties and was graduated from Saugerties High School.

Peters Checks Tigers

Starter in Relief: New Stanky Formula

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Eddie Stanky, a firm believer in the "There's no tomorrow" school of baseball thinking, always has been ready to go to any legitimate lengths to win a game.

The one-time Walking Man of the Brooklyn Dodgers, now the manager of the Chicago White Sox, found himself in a ticklish situation Thursday night.

And he didn't hesitate any longer than during his playing days when he'd casually stick a hip in front of a fast ball to get on base.

"You do what you have to," Stanky shrugged.

So, with a one-run lead to protect and the bases loaded in the eighth, he routed his starting pitching ace, Gary Peters, off the bench, sent him out in relief and salvaged a 2-1 victory over Detroit.

Lead by Two
It preserved the White Sox' two-game lead atop the American League standings.

Bob Allison's two home runs led Minnesota to a 5-0 conquest of Washington, and Chuck Hinton's clutch double with two out in the 13th provided Cleveland with a 2-1 edge over Baltimore in the only other American League games scheduled.

The White Sox, who had lost four of six games going into the Detroit tilt, had a 2-1 lead going into the bottom of the eighth. The Tigers promptly loaded the bases with one out on two walks and an error. After Mickey Stanley popped up, Stanky sent in Peters.

Peters promptly struck out pinch hitter Norm Cash to end the inning and the White Sox were out of trouble.

Boyer's Homer Wins

Ken Boyer's homer off relief pitcher Mike Marshall in the top of the eighth broke a 1-1 tie and provided the winning margin. A two-base error and Pete Ward's pinch single drove in the first White Sox run in the seventh.

Detroit had taken a 1-0 lead in the fourth on a single by Al Kaline, a walk and Stanley's two-out single.

Allison's two homers, both 400-foot plus shots, gave him 18 for the year, drove in three runs and provided all the offensive support needed by Jim Perry, who limited Washington to five hits. Jack Hernandez singled in the other two runs.

Allison, who also doubled, hit his first homer in the fifth, breaking a scoreless string of 18 innings.

Hinton drove in both Indian runs against Baltimore, clubbing the first pitch of the game for a homer and then settling it with a run-scoring double with two out in the 13th. Vern Fuller, who had singled, came home with the winning run.

Stan Williams went all the way for the victory, allowing only five hits, walking three and striking out 13, high for the season in the American League.

Slate Two Finals in Club Championships

Club championships will be at stake at both The Twaalfskill Club and Woodstock Country Club Sunday.

Defending champion Rick Barthel will not be in the field at Twaalfskill, but seven players, including 12-time winner George Hughes will vie in the 36-hole medal test Saturday and Sunday. Play starts at 9:30 a. m.

Pairings at Twaalfskill for Saturday and Sunday—

9:30—Robert Carnright, Alvin Boice, Charles H. Gaffney;

9:45—Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruha, George Hughes, William Merrill, Jr. and Form Coughlin.

Making a bid for his 10th Woodstock title, Bill Van Aken meets Alex Sharpe, Jr. in one semi-final bracket. In the other, Ray DuBois, 1966 finalist against Van Aken, plays Dick Ryberg, the 1967 tournament surprise.

Van Aken and DuBois are favored and the latter is given the best chance of beating Van Aken since the Waterous brothers—Herb and Bill—last did it five years ago.

THE DOUBLE'S DYNAMIC!

CHIP SHOTS

CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

Mrs. Clifford Spiesman, the newly crowned Ulster county woman's golf champion, jokingly attributed the secret of her success to the excellent, nourishing rye bread dispensed by her husband at the family bakery in Kingston.

The golf fraternity knows, of course, that the pretty 34-year-old housewife has much more than that going for her. Like a classic swing, a strong desire to improve her game and a fine competitive spirit. No golfer ever travelled far without these qualities.

The victory, the first major achievement of her career, may have been the catalytic turn for her. She is still young enough to enjoy many years of topnotch golf and perhaps qualify as a worthy successor to Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) DeLisio of Woodstock whom she edged by one shot for the 1967 title.

The books cannot be closed on the 1967 tournament without mention of Mrs. DeLisio, who until Wednesday had never been beaten in UCWGA competition. Her physical condition is such that golf is no longer a pleasure for her. The future will find her playing only infrequently. Always a gracious competitor—win or lose—Mrs. DeLisio was for a decade the finest woman golfer this county has ever seen. The real challenge to Mrs. Spiesman is to become the undisputed queen of area golf like Mrs. DeLisio was for years. We think she has the ability to do it.

WILTZYCK COUNTRY CLUB members are understandably proud of their first UCWGA champion. Some of the credit must go to Scotty Robertson and his assistant, Bill Kane, both of whom have contributed to Mrs. Spiesman's development as a golfer. You'd think Wiltzyck would play much tougher than Woodstock what with its plush grass and distance and more difficult terrain. It didn't work out that way for some of the women. . . . Take it from Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli the courses are dead even. She played each in 109. . . . Mrs. Arnold Pinsky was close with 120 at Woodstock, 121 at home. . . . Wiltzyck's woman's layout at 5663 yards, par 74, plays only 325 yards longer than Woodstock's 5338 yard, par 35-35-70 setup. . . . Mrs. Harvey Bostie made a perfect adjustment adding 10 strokes a nine to her Woodstock (net 60) score. . . . It was just enough to edge Mrs. Werner Kohn for a stroke for the handicap championship. . . . Mrs. Kohn, incidentally, emerged as the sleeper of the field, a player to watch in the future.

THIS IS A CRAZY TOURNAMENT year. Harvey Bostie, the only player who can give Leon Randall real trouble at Wiltzyck, arrives too late from vacation and forfeits a first round match. . . . Joe Modica, who is considered the logical successor to Bill Van Aken at Woodstock, passes up the championships to compete in the Stamford Invitational. . . . If Ray DuBois doesn't take the 9-time champion this weekend, the only thing that will beat Bill is old age. . . . Dutchess Country Club, like Wiltzyck, went back to the traditional match play format, this season, leaving only Twaalfskill at medal play. . . . Long time ago, Prof. Arnold Borge carded a 35 in an early season tournament and we neglected to mention it. Well, prof., there it is. . . . There isn't a shred of substance to rumors that the other clubs in the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf will ask the Wiltzyck powerhouse to sit out next year's dance.

WOODSTOCK OPEN will play to the finest field in its history for the 25th anniversary event on Friday, August 25, one week later than usual. . . . Four of the finest amateurs in the East already have accepted invitations. . . . John Flanagan, sports editor of the Poughkeepsie Journal, is the best newspaper golfer in the mid-Hudson area. He's in the club finals at Millbrook against Sal Molella. . . . Will Grimsley, the AP's itinerant golf expert, reports in a Golf magazine story that Catherine LaCoste, the French lassie who became the first amateur ever to win the U.S. Women's Open, received a very cool reception from the women pros and especially their tournament director, Lennie Wertz. The youngster said she was really hurt by Mr. Wertz who never once congratulated me at the presentation ceremonies. The pride of the pros was obviously pricked. Meow!

Vikings Open Slate With Connecticut

MIDDLETOWN — When the Hudson Valley Vikings open their North Atlantic Football League season tonight against the Connecticut Rockets, they'll be meeting a club that dropped its only exhibition game, 20-19.

But in losing their opener, the Rockets displayed more offensive punch than the Vikings have in their two exhibition starts.

Guiding the Rockets offense is quarterback Sam Coppola, who played his college ball at Fordham University. "Coppola has a solid background," Rockets President Gene Quiriconi said this week.

"He's played service ball and last year he played for the Westchester Crusaders in the Atlantic Coast Football League," said Quiriconi.

Favorite Receivers
Coppola's favorite receivers are split end Bill Meade, a 6-4, 220-pounder and flanker Joe Clapp, a 6-foot, 185-pound speedster. Meade played college ball at the University of Georgia and at the University of Bridgeport.

Clapp, who caught a pair of touchdown passes in last week's game, played for the

Too Many Ifs Beat the Cards

By CHARLIE BAROUH

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If

If Lou Brock hadn't made a spectacular catch on Willie Mays' liner to deep left center in the fifth, the Giants might have had an early rout.

If Eddie Bressoud had thrown to first instead of second, Willie McCovey might not have batted with two on in the fifth and Mike McCormick might not have won his 15th game.

"You can look back over any game and find a lot of ifs," McCovey said, "but who can say what would have happened?"

What you can say for sure is that the San Francisco Giants beat the Cardinals, 5-2, Thursday night.

McCovey hit his 19th homer of the year in the fifth inning, but Brock's catch was the big news of the game. With men on first and second, Brock ran hard to his left and speared Mays' two-out liner with a diving, sliding catch. Brock recovered and threw to Bressoud, who looked at the lead runner and fired to first. Too late. Then McCovey swung against loser Ray Washburn.

"I saw the catch," McCormick, the runner on first said. "I think Brock's first reaction was to hold up his glove to show he'd caught the ball. That gave me a chance to come back to first."

"No," Brock said, "my first reaction was to get the ball back in. The trouble was I couldn't stop sliding. But I just wanted to get the ball to somebody so he could throw it in."

National Little League of Kingston will conduct its annual field day Saturday at the home grounds.

The field day is open to boys of the league, including those who played on the farm team. Games and events will be held from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Royal Grill won a forfeit decision from Gordon's Bar on Thursday to retain its slim pennant hopes in the City Softball League.

Perry's Grill has a 12-4 record to lead the league. The Royals are second at 11-6. Perry's has games on Monday and Wednesday against Subway and must win one of the two to clinch the championship. Royal is slated to oppose Gordon's next Thursday. All games are scheduled at Upper Hasbrouck.

Lebeau Signs Pact, Is $2,400 Poorer

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Lebeau didn't look like a man who was $2,400 poorer.

The Lions fine holdouts at the rate of $100 a day, but the 30-year-old Lebeau waived it off. "Oh, I've got to pay the fine, but I'm very happy with the contract," he said.

The former Ohio State star said earlier he was asking for a big raise, but the Lions wouldn't meet his demand. He said then that he had made the Pro Bowl three years in a row and had a good year last year, so he felt he was entitled to a raise.

"I just decided to play football," Lebeau said after his first workout with the Lions.

Ortiz Predicts KO of Laguna

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, who rarely makes predictions of knockout victories, said flatly today "I'm going to knock him out."

"Him" is Ismael Laguna, a tall and slender punching whirlwind from Panama who has split with Ortiz in two 15-round title fights.

They will meet in an outdoor 15-rounder at Shea Stadium Wednesday night.

In betting circles, the fight is rated even. This is off their previous fights in which Laguna outpointed Ortiz at Panama April 13, 1965, and Ortiz regained his crown the same way at San Juan, Puerto Rico, seven months later.

Laguna, now 24, also made a sensational debut in Madison Square Garden last March 12 in outpointing Frankie Narvaez.

"I'll get him in the 10th or 11th round," said Ortiz. "The more heat he puts on me, the better I'll like it."

Laguna also predicted a knockout victory in the 10th or 11th round.

"He's getting old and he's ready to be taken," said Laguna. "I'm going right after him. I'm going to put the pressure on him."

CHIP SHOTS

CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

Mrs. Clifford Spiesman, the newly crowned Ulster county woman's golf champion, jokingly attributed the secret of her success to the excellent, nourishing rye bread dispensed by her husband at the family bakery in Kingston.

The golf fraternity knows, of course, that the pretty 34-year-old housewife has much more than that going for her. Like a classic swing, a strong desire to improve her game and a fine competitive spirit. No golfer ever travelled far without these qualities.

The victory, the first major achievement of her career, may have been the catalytic turn for her. She is still young enough to enjoy many years of topnotch golf and perhaps qualify as a worthy successor to Mrs. A. J. (Wiggle) DeLisio of Woodstock whom she edged by one shot for the 1967 title.

The books cannot be closed on the 1967 tournament without mention of Mrs. DeLisio, who until Wednesday had never been beaten in UCWGA competition. Her physical condition is such that golf is no longer a pleasure for her. The future will find her playing only infrequently.

Always a gracious competitor—win or lose—Mrs. DeLisio was for a decade the finest woman golfer this county has ever seen. The real challenge to Mrs. Spiesman is to become the undisputed queen of area golf like Mrs. DeLisio was for years. We think she has the ability to do it.

WILTWYCK COUNTRY CLUB members are understandably proud of their first UCWGA champion. Some of the credit must go to Scotty Robertson and his assistant, Bill Kane, both of whom have contributed to Mrs. Spiesman's development as a golfer. You'd think Wiltwyck would play much tougher than Woodstock what with its plush grass and distance and more difficult terrain. It didn't work out that way for some of the women. Take it from Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli the courses are dead even. She played each in 109. Mrs. Arnold Finley was close with 120 at Woodstock, 121 at home. Wiltwyck's woman's layout at 5663 yards, par 74, plays only 325 yards longer than Woodstock's 5338 yard, par 35-35-70 setup. Mrs. Harvey Bostie made a perfect adjustment adding 10 strokes a nine to her Woodstock (net 60) score. It was just enough to edge Mrs. Werner Kohn by a stroke for the handicapped championship. Mrs. Kohn, incidentally, emerged as the sleeper of the field, a player to watch in the future.

THIS IS A CRAZY TOURNAMENT year, Harvey Bostie, the only player who can give Leon Randall real trouble at Wiltwyck, arrives too late from vacation and forfeits a first round match. Joe Modica, who is considered the logical successor to Bill Van Aken at Woodstock, passes up the championships to compete in the Stamford Invitational. If Ray DuBois doesn't take the 9-time champion this weekend, the only thing that will beat Bill is old age. Dutchess Country Club, like Wiltwyck, went back to the traditional match play format, this season, leaving only Twaitskill at medal play. Long time ago, Prof. Arnold Broggi carded a 35 in an early season tournament and we neglected to mention it. Well, prof, there it is. There isn't a shred of substance to rumors that the other clubs in the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf will ask the Wiltwyck powerhouse to sit out next year's dance.

WOODSTOCK OPEN will play to the finest field in its history for the 25th anniversary event on Friday, August 25, one week later than usual. Four of the finest amateurs in the East already have accepted invitations. John Flanagan, sports editor of the Poughkeepsie Journal, is the best newspaper golfer in the mid-Hudson area. He's in the club finals at Millbrook against Sal Molitella. Will Grimsley, the AP's itinerant golf expert, reports in a Golf magazine story that Catherine LaCoste, the French lassie who became the first amateur ever to win the U.S. Women's Open, received a very cool reception from the women pros and especially their tournament director, Lennie Wertz. The youngster said she was really hurt by Mr. Wertz who never once congratulated me at the presentation ceremonies. The pride of the pros was obviously pricked. Meow!

Vikings Open Slate With Connecticut

MIDDLETOWN — When the Hudson Valley Vikings open their North Atlantic Football League season tonight against the Connecticut Rockets, they'll be meeting a club that dropped its only exhibition game, 20-19.

But in losing their opener, the Rockets displayed more offensive punch than the Vikings have in their two exhibition starts.

Guiding the Rockets' offense is quarterback Sam Coppola, who played his college ball at Fordham University. Coppola has a solid background. "Coppola's President Gene Quiriconi said this week.

"He's played service ball and last year he played for the Westchester Crusaders in the Atlantic Coast Football League," said Quiriconi.

Favorite Receivers

Coppola's favorite receivers are split end Bill Meade, a 6-4, 220-pounder and flanker Joe Clapp, a 6-foot, 185-pound speedster. Meade played college ball at the University of Georgia and at the University of Bridgeport.

Clapp, who caught a pair of touchdown passes in last week's game, played for the

Too Many Ifs Beat the Cards

By CHARLIE BAROUH
ST. LOUIS (AP) — If

If Lou Brock hadn't made a spectacular catch on Willie Mays' liner to deep left center in the fifth, the Giants might have had an early rout.

If Eddie Bressoud had thrown to first instead of second, Willie McCovey might not have batted with two on in the fifth and Mike McCormick might not have won his 15th game.

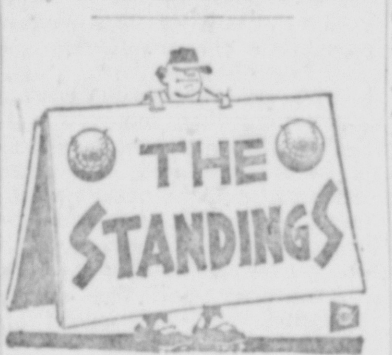

"You can look back over any game and find a lot of ifs," McCovey said, "but who can say what would have happened."

What you can say for sure is that the San Francisco Giants beat the Cardinals, 5-2, Thursday night.

McCovey hit his 19th homer of the year in the fifth inning, but Brock's catch was the big news of the game. With men on first and second, Brock ran hard to his left and speared Mays' two-out liner with a diving, sliding catch. Brock recovered and threw to Bressoud, who looked at the lead runner and fired to first. Too late. Then McCormick swung against loser Ray Washburn.

"I saw the catch," McCormick, the runner on first said. "I think Brock's first reaction was to hold up his glove to show he'd caught the ball. That gave me a chance to come back to first."

"No," Brock said, "my first reaction was to get the ball back in. The trouble was I couldn't stop sliding. But I just wanted to get the ball to somebody so he could throw it in."

Yankees Nip Tigers, 3-2, in ULL Playoff

Kiwanis Yankees made an early 3-0 lead stand up as they nipped the Nytralite Tigers, 3-2, in the second game of the Town of Ulster championship playoffs.

Tom Turco hurled a six-hitter and fanned nine to gain the decision over Dave Decker. He gave up only one hit and walked four while fanning 13 batters.

The losers had debuts by Mike Palladino and Rich Gossett and a triple by Mark Brown.

Royals Gain Forfeit Win

Royal Grill won a forfeit decision from Gordon's Bar on Thursday to retain its slim pennant hopes in the City Softball League.

Perry's Grill has a 12-4 record to lead the league. The Royals are second at 11-6. Perry's has games on Monday and Wednesday against Subway and must win one of the two to clinch the championship. Royal is slated to oppose Gordon's next Thursday. All games are scheduled at Upper Hasbrouck.

Lebeau Signs Pact, Is $2,400 Poorer

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Lebeau didn't look like a man who was $2,400 poorer.

The handsome, muscular cornerback reported to the Detroit Lions Thursday and signed a contract after holding out for 24 days.

The Lions fine holdouts at the rate of $100 a day, but the 30-year-old Lebeau waved it off. "Oh, I've got to pay the fine, but I'm very happy with the contract," he said.

The former Ohio State star said earlier he was asking for a big raise, but the Lions wouldn't meet his demand. He said then that he had made the Pro Bowl three years in a row and had a good year last year so he felt he was entitled to a raise.

"I just decided to play football," Lebeau said after his first workout with the Lions.

Ortiz Predicts KO of Laguna

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, who rarely makes predictions of knockout victories, said flatly today "I'm going to knock him out."

"Him" is Ismael Laguna, a tall and slender punching whirlwind from Panama who has split with Ortiz in two 15-round title fights.

They will meet in an outdoor 15-rounder at Shea Stadium Wednesday night.

In betting circles, the fight is rated even. This is off their previous fights in which Laguna outpointed Ortiz at Panama April 13, 1965, and Ortiz regained his crown the same way at San Juan, Puerto Rico, seven months later.

Laguna also predicted a knockout victory in the 10th or 11th round.

Hudson Scores In Sire Stakes

MONTICELLO, New York — On one of his infrequent visits to Monticello Raceway, veteran pilot Billy Hudson won both divisions of the New York Sires Stakes for pacing three-year-old fillies with Karen Adios and Molly Brook Dean.

The first division, worth $3,780, saw Karen Adios, an Adios H. filly owned by Abraham Gallant of New York, come from behind to win in a photo in 2:05.3. Adios Carrie was second, Adios Treat third.

Hudson changed his style in winning the $5,927 second division with Molly Brook Dean, a Bonny Brook Dean filly owned by Francis Hanlon, Pulaski, New York. Molly Brook hustled to the front and cut out a 2:05 mile—holding a four length lead at the three-quarters and increasing that margin to six. Second was Cathy Barmin with Tar Della third.

Soccer Merger Seen Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—A final determination of the possible merger between the United Soccer Association and the National Professional Soccer League is expected to develop after the meeting of the United Soccer Association scheduled for here next Monday.

The NPSL reaffirmed at its regular meeting Thursday its desire to carry through on an amalgamation of any other plans which will enable it to operate an organized soccer.

Owners attending the NPSL meeting gave indications that they were well pleased with the improvements displayed by their respective teams and felt that they had a good nucleus for the resumption of operation next season.

It Was His Bat

Jones' Throwing Arm Didn't Wreck Astros
By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Billy Hitchcock was worried about Mack Jones' arm, but the Houston Astros are more concerned about his bat.

Atlanta Manager Hitchcock rearranged his entire outfield Thursday night so Jones' ailing arm would have less work to do. Jones responded by hitting a pair of homers and a two-run double, driving in five runs in 3.

The lanky, 23-year-old right-hander who starred in hockey, soccer and basketball as well as baseball as a prep in South Chatham, Ontario, has become the season's first 15-game winner in the National League.

He hurled a four-hit, 6-0 shut-out over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday to boost his mark to 15-9.

Since 1945, only Larry Jackson with 24-11 in 1964 and Dick Ellsworth with 22-10 in 1963 have been 20-game Cub winners.

"Before the season started I thought I would be doing well if I just doubled my victories of last year when I won six," said Fergie. "But when the ball club began doing so well, I set my goal a little higher."

"Now, I don't see why I can't make it 20. I could get three or four more starts this month and seven or eight in September."

Hurley, VFW Score Babe Ruth Victories

Hurley whitewashed Chidsey-DeForest, 3-0, and the VFW nine overpowered Food Fair, 10-4, in Babe Ruth League games Thursday at Dietz Stadium.

Dom Fisher hurled a four-hitter for Hurley. He walked two and struck out three to outduel Ralph Perry.

Gary Clark of the winners stroked a double. Hurley had five hits off Perry.

Five runs in the first inning were more than enough for the VFW. Ricky Sorenson pitched a two-hitter and had eight strikeouts. Eight bases on balls kept him in hot water.

Starter Bill Samuels was the loser. He was touched for those first inning runs. The winners added two in the second and three in the seventh.

Oriskany Girl In Junior Semis

LA HABRA, Calif. (AP) — Cute and enthusiastic girl golfers continue to provide surprises as the USGA Junior Championship semifinalists tee off today at the Hacienda Golf Club.

Upsets were the rule Thursday as Debbie Ann Grove of Chula Vista, Calif.; Liana Zambresky of Pebble Beach, Calif.; Elizabeth Harmon of Shelbyville, Tenn., and Elizabeth (Doll) Story of Oriskany, N.Y., shot their way to victory.

Misses Grove and Zambresky are paired in the semis, and Miss Harmon plays Miss Story, with the winners meeting Saturday in an 18-hole final.

Debbie Ann, a quiet 13-year-old with mature concentration, is the youngest semifinalist ever in this competition for girls 18-years-old and under after beating Mary Bea Porter of Buena Park, Calif., 3 and 2, in the quarter-finals.

Liana, 16, eliminated the tournament favorite, Candace Michaeloff, the Western Junior winner from Minneapolis, 2 and 1.

Miss Harmon edged Nancy Hager of Richardson, Tex., on the 21st hole in the tournament's longest match.

And the other Elizabeth, better known as Doll, topped Mary Jane Fassinger of Newcastle, Pa., 3 and 2, in what was considered a mild upset.

Alabama Sets Stage for Duel Of the Fillies
By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Three-year-old fillies will try to straighten out their tangled title situation in one $50,000-added race Saturday while grass court performers take over in the two other richest races on the national thoroughbred racing program.

The 3-year-old misses will be seen in action in the 1¼ miles of the Alabama at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., with at least 12 slated to present their championship credentials.

The turf course stakes are the 1¼ miles of the $50,000-added Grassland Handicap at Arlington Park and the 1¼ miles of the $25,000-added Margate Handicap for fillies and mares at Atlantic City.

The Alabama shapes up as a wide-open affair with Gaffney, one-half of the William Haggin Perry entry which also will include Princesses, the likely choice of her impressive victory in one division of the recent Test Stakes at Saratoga.

Treacherous, winner of the other half of the Test, also is a probable starter along with Lewiston and Swiss Cheese, who ran one-two in the Delaware Oaks.

Arlington officials look for a field of 12 for the Grassland, which is being run for the 18th time but only the second since 1962. The distances have varied from 5¼ furlongs to 1¼ miles. For Saturday's running, Dominar is listed the probable topweight with 118 pounds with Hill Clown picking up 117 and Canadel 116.

Margarethen, recent winner of the Beverly Handicap at Arlington Park, will be back to defend her laurels in the Margate under 115 pounds. She'll get eight from topweight Swinging Mood, who also is listed as a probable starter at Arlington, and seven from Indian Sunlite, runner-up in the weights at 122 pounds.

WILLIAM COTTRELL, of Mobile, Alabama, was one of a GROUP of sportsmen who did much to REVIVE thoroughbred racing at Saratoga after the Civil War. . . . For his efforts it was decided to name a race in his honor.

Mr Cottrell modestly declined, asking instead, the race be named for his native state. . . . He was born the ALABAMA STAKES in 1872 . . .

Hudson Scores In Sire Stakes

The first division, worth $3,780, saw Karen Adios, an Adios H. filly owned by Abraham Galfant of New York, come from behind to win in a photo in 2:05.3. Adios Carrie was second. Adios Treat third.

Hudson changed his style in winning the $5,927 second division with Molly Brook Dean, a Bonny Brook Dean filly owned by Francis Hanlon, Pulaski, New York. Molly Brook hustled to the front and cut out a 2:05 mile—holding a four length lead at the three-quarters and increasing that margin to six. Second was Cathy Barmin with Tar Della third.

Soccer Merger Seen Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—A final determination of the possible merger between the United Soccer Association and the National Professional Soccer League is expected to develop after the meeting of the United Soccer Association scheduled for here next Monday.

The NPSL reaffirmed its desire to carry through on an amalgamation of any other plans which will enable it to operate an organized soccer.

Owners attending the NPSL meeting gave indications that they were well pleased with the improvements displayed by their respective teams and felt that they had a good nucleus for the resumption of operation next season.

Set New Records For Yearling Sales at Spa

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Saratoga's records for individual prize, total receipts and averages were broken at Thursday's third session of the 47th annual yearling sales in Fasig-Tipton Co.'s sales ring.

A bay filly by Bold Ruler from the stakes-winning mare Blue Northern was sold for $190,000 to the Foxcatcher Farm, owned by John E. duPont of Wilmington, Del.

Bids started at $50,000 and climbed steadily as Bull Hancock of Claiborne Farms and John Hay Whitney joined duPont in vying for the prize.

Near Record Price
 The price was one of the highest ever paid for a yearling at a public auction.

The filly was from the three-horse consignment of Jona Bell Farms, Kentucky, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bell III. The Bells were selling her for Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Hawn of Dallas, Tex., who bred the daughter of Bold Ruler.

Second high for the night was $121,000 for a chestnut filly by Ameriga from In The Van, which went to Miss Tangley C. Lloyd of Greenwich, Conn.

Nydris Duke of Kentucky realized the largest total of consignors with 12 head sold for $429,000, and average of $35,765.

The yearling sales conclude Friday. Horses of racing age will be sold Monday and brood mares Tuesday.

Homers Help Mike
 Mike McCormick, backed up by homers from Willie McCovey and Jim Hart, continued his winning ways, picking up his 15th victory of the season as he limited St. Louis to six hits.

McCovey's homer, his 19th, drove in three runs, while Hart's solo shot was his 28th. Ted Abernathy and Billy McCool took turns in putting down Los Angeles rallies. Abernathy got Ron Hunt to hit into a double play in the seventh inning after one run was in, and McCool got the final two outs of the game with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Tommie Sisk pitched a three-hitter against the Mets and the Pirates got runs out of Bill Mazeroski's eighth homer and Manny Mota's bases-loaded double in the ninth.

John Briggs' two-base error in the eighth inning set up the tie-breaking run as Chicago ended the Phillies' eight-game winning streak. Briggs dropped Adolpho

Hurley, VFW Score Babe Ruth Victories

Hurley whitewashed Chidsey-DeForest, 3-0, and the VFW nine overpowered Food Fair, 10-4, in Babe Ruth League games Thursday at Dietz Stadium.

Dom Fisher hurled a four-hitter for Hurley. He walked two and struck out three to outduel Ralph Perry.

Gary Clark of the winners stroked a double. Hurley had five hits off Perry.

Five runs in the first inning were more than enough for the VFW. Ricky Sorenson pitched a two-hitter and had eight strikeouts. Eight bases on balls kept him in hot water.

Starter Bill Samuels was the loser. He was touched for those first inning runs. The winners added two in the second and three in the seventh.

Oriskany Girl In Junior Semis

LA HABRA, Calif. (AP) — Cute and enthusiastic girl golfers continue to provide surprises as the USGA Junior Championship semifinals tee off today at the Hacienda Golf Club.

Upsets were the rule Thursday as Debbie Ann Grove of Chula Vista, Calif.; Liana Zambresky of Pebble Beach, Calif.; Elizabeth Harmon of Shelbyville, Tenn., and Elizabeth (Doll) Story of Oriskany, N.Y., shot their way to victory.

Misses Grove and Zambresky are paired in the semis, and Miss Harmon plays Miss Story, with the winners meeting Saturday in an 18-hole final.

Debbie Ann, a quiet 13-year-old with mature concentration, is the youngest semifinalist ever in this competition for girls 18-years-old and under after beating Mary Bea Porter of Buena Park, Calif., 3 and 2, in the quarter-finals.

Liana, 16, eliminated the tournament favorite, Candace Michaeloff, the Western Junior winner from Minneapolis, 2 and 1.

Miss Harmon edged Nancy Hager of Richardson, Tex., on the 21st hole in the tournament's longest match.

And the other Elizabeth, better known as Doll, topped Mary Jane Fassinger of Newcastle, Pa., 3 and 2, in what was considered a mild upset.

Payment Failure
 BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A Washington, D. C. firm charged in federal court Monday that Bubba Smith, giant rookie tackle for the Baltimore Colts, has not paid an agreed-to commission on an estimated $200,000 he received to sign with the National Football League team.

Three-year-old fillies will try to straighten out their tangled title situation in one $50,000-added race Saturday while grass court performers take over in the two other richest races on the national thoroughbred racing program.

The 3-year-old misses will be seen in action in the 1¼ miles of the Alabama at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., with at least 12 slated to present their championship credentials.

The turf course stakes are the 1-1½ miles of the $50,000-added Grassland Handicap at Arlington Park and the 1-1½ miles of the $25,000-added Margate Handicap for fillies and mares at Atlantic City.

The Alabama shapes up as a wide-open affair with Gaffely, one-half of the William Haggin Perry entry which also will include Princessian, the likely choice of her impressive victory in one division of the recent Test Stakes at Saratoga.

Treacherous, winner of the other half of the Test, also is a probable starter along with Lewiston and Swiss Cheese, who ran one-two in the Delaware Oaks.

Arlington officials look for a field of 12 for the Grassland, which is being run for the 18th time but only the second since 1962. The distances have varied from 5½ furlongs to 1-1½ miles. For Saturday's running, Dominar is listed the probable topweight with 118 pounds with Hill Crown picking up 117 and Canadel 115.

Margarethen, recent winner of the Beverly Handicap at Arlington Park, will be back to defend her laurels in the Margate under 115 pounds. She'll get eight from topweight Swinging Mood, who also is listed as a probable starter at Arlington, and seven from Indian Sunlite, runner-up in the weights at 122 pounds.

WILLIAM COTTRELL, of Mobile, Alabama, was one of a GROUP of sportsmen who did much to REVIVE thoroughbred racing at Saratoga after the Civil War... For his efforts it was decided to name a race in his honor.

Cottrell modestly declined, asking instead, the race be named for his native state... He was born the ALABAMA STAKES in 1872.

At-Home Vacation

Vacationing at home this year? You won't be the only one... thousands of your fellow Americans will forego travel in favor of a week or two around the house... some through necessity, many by choice. One big advantage is more rest. Another is the chance to clean up... without pressure... some of those odd jobs which have been piling up for months. Work a little in the morning, swim or picnic in the afternoon, relax in the evening... it's not a bad recipe for a pleasant vacation.

Among those odd jobs, chances are there's a bookcase or cabinet to build, a recreation room to panel, a chest or table to renew, or maybe even a wood floor to refinish. In keeping with the trend, friend wife will undoubtedly insist on natural finishes instead of paint for these projects. Happily, there are many outstanding clear protective coatings for wood now available, thanks to the magic of modern polymeric chemistry. They're easy to use, give long-lasting service, produce an attractive finish in the luster of your choice, ranging from a brilliant high gloss to a "built-in" soft, rich glow that rivals a genuine hand-rubbed look. Your paint, hardware or lumber dealer will help you select the right product for the job. For authentic, reliable information on all phases of natural wood finishing, send 25c in coin to Pierce & Stevens Chemical Corp., Dept. RV, P.O. Box 1092, Buffalo, New York 14240 for a copy of "A Short Course in Natural Wood Finishing" plus other helpful pamphlets and manuals.

Well Balanced House

By JACK McEENEY

A combination of simplicity and structure cost at a minimum. The designer exercised extreme care in arriving at a finished floor plan that would make the best possible use of all available space; the result is a home that will provide all the features found in an expensive house.

The placement of the living room at the front and the kitchen in the rear fits well into this type of plan.

The front entrance is enhanced with a brick or stone planter beneath the picture window, and a decor screen extending from the guest closet eliminates the feeling of walking directly from the outside into the living room. Plans are available by using the accompanying coupon, and show how this house may be built with frame, brick, stone or concrete block.

There are 1,180 square feet of living space and the garage uses another 240 square feet.

Rec Room Barbecue

You can have a cookout when it rains or, for that matter, when it snows if you build a year round, indoor barbecue in the recreation room, says the Tile Council of America. If space and your budget will allow, you can build a barbecue complete with plenty of food preparation counters and equipment storage cabinets, fireplace.

Bathroom Brush-Up

Surprise your summer guests with new color on your bathroom walls. The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association recommends a semi-gloss enamel or another moisture resistant paint to add new beauty and protection. Laundry hampers and wooden bathroom accessories can be painted in a matching shade or accentuated in a contrasting color.

Painting Tip

What can you do if you're in the middle of a paint job and the phone rings? Here's a handy answer from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Just tape paper towels around the telephone and put a newspaper beneath it. The next time the phone rings, you can answer it without worrying about paint splatters.

Remove Loose Paint

Don't forget to remove loose paint from your house before beginning to paint. New paint will not adhere to a poorly prepared surface stresses the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

Tree Talk

Lightning claims about 300 lives a year in the U.S. and kills and maims thousands of valued shade trees.

"Most deaths," says Robert A. Bartlett, president of the Bartlett Tree Expert Company, "occur when persons seek shelter under a tree, or are caught in the open on beaches, near wire fences, on exposed hilltops, even golf courses. One of the safest places you can be during a lightning storm is in an auto or inside a skyscraper."

No tree is safe refuge during a thunderstorm. The oak is the most unsafe of all. Lightning strikes it with greater frequency than any other species.

It is safer to lie flat in the open, preferably in a gully, "But," the arborist noted, "if you are in the open when an electrical storm comes up, keep away from water, metal and high ground. On a golf course, drop your clubs and stay away from them until the storm is over. Avoid shelter near a tree because some trees explode and shatter when struck."

Trees standing in the open, singly or in groups, or at the edge of a woods, or bordering streets are prime lightning targets. There may be no outward sign of injury when some trees are struck. Then, days and months later the tree begins to die slowly.

Expert Solves Urban Problem Of Water Well

How do you go about "buying a well?"

This question isn't as quaint as it sounds. About one-fourth of the American people or 10 million families depend entirely upon individual wells for their water. They live on farms, in the suburbs and in rural non-farm areas beyond municipal water mains. But they're not the only ones who might be interested in buying a well, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out. At least 50,000 wells are drilled each year to provide supplementary water in areas where use of municipal water is curtailed during drought.

The modern water well is more properly called an "individual water system." The pump has an electric motor and, in home installation, is likely to be put in the well.

If you'd like more information about home water systems, send 15 cents in coin to the Ground Water Resources Institute, 205 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60606. Ask for "How Water Wells Can Help You Solve Your Water Problems—Easily and Economically."

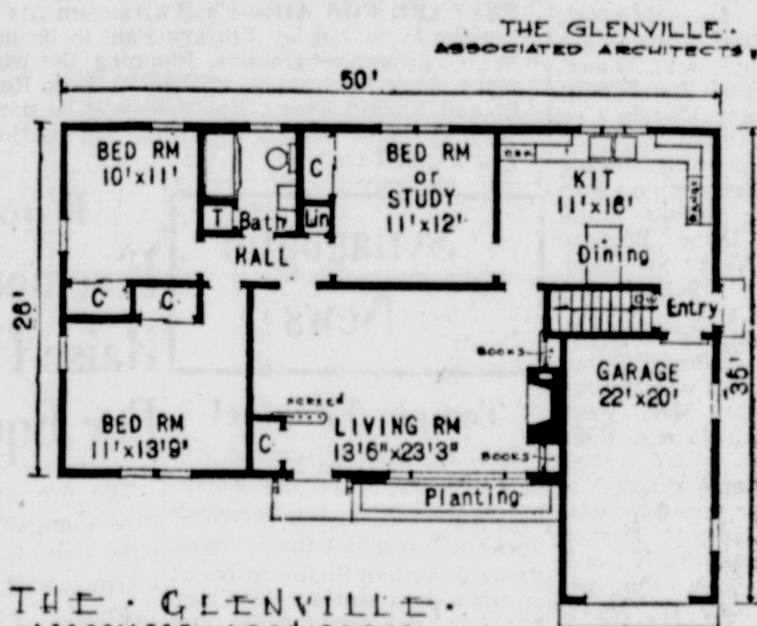

The modern well thus really is a complete water system in miniature. To "buy" one, you have to go to a licensed man who knows local codes, water tables and other geological facts and who qualifies as an installation expert. He may operate under the name of well driller, water system specialist or as a plumbing contractor who also specializes in water systems.

Remove Loose Paint Don't forget to remove loose paint from your house before beginning to paint. New paint will not adhere to a poorly prepared surface stresses the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

Rec Room Barbecue

You can have a cookout when it rains or, for that matter, when it snows if you build a year round, indoor barbecue in the recreation room, says the Tile Council of America.

If space and your budget will allow, you can build a barbecue complete with plenty of food preparation counters and equipment storage cabinets, fireproof.

otherwise, you can simply put up a small hibachi shelf — a brazier — under a window. An over-the-grill exhaust hood will take care of smoke. The Tile Council suggests using ceramic tiles on the walls, floor and counters around your indoor cookout center since tile is completely fireproof.

Bathroom Brush-Up

Surprise your summer guests with new color on your bathroom walls. The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association recommends a semi-gloss enamel or another moisture resistant paint to add new beauty and protection. Laundry hampers and wooden bathroom accessories can be painted in a matching shade or accented in a contrasting color.

Painting Tip

What can you do if you're in the middle of a paint job and the phone rings? Here's a handy answer from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Just tape paper towels around the telephone and put a newspaper beneath it. The next time the phone rings, you can answer it without worrying about paint splatters.

Tree Talk

Lightning claims about 300 lives a year in the U.S. and kills and maims thousands of valued shade trees.

"Most deaths," says Robert A. Bartlett, president of the Bartlett Tree Expert Company, "occur when persons seek shelter under a tree, or are caught in the open on beaches, near wire fences, on exposed hilltops, even golf courses. One of the safest places you can be during a lightning storm is in an auto or inside a skyscraper."

No tree is safe refuge during a thunderstorm. The oak is the most unsafe of all. Lightning strikes it with greater frequency than any other species.

It is safer to lie flat in the open, preferably in a gully. "But," the arborist noted, "if you are in the open when an electrical storm comes up, keep away from water, metal and high ground. On a golf course, drop your clubs and stay away from them until the storm is over. Avoid shelter near a tree because some trees explode and shatter when struck."

Trees standing in the open, singly or in groups, or at the edge of a woods, or bordering streets are prime lightning targets. There may be no outward sign of injury when some trees are struck. Then, days and months later the tree begins to die slowly.

Woodstock Firemen to Raise Funds For Equipment

The fire siren at Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 will now blow only five times when an alarm is sent in. Captain Bruce Reynolds, at the company's August meeting, reported that the siren is on a cycling device.

He also asked that the log book be utilized by those using the base station during an alarm. Assistant Fire Chief William Harder reported a total of five alarms during July, two emergency calls, two car fires and one house fire. There have been 49 alarms during the first seven months of the year.

Protective equipment will be purchased with money raised by a fund drive to be launched Monday night and extend for two weeks. James Kinns reported the company plans to buy a pair of fire boots, fire helmet and a fire coat.

Richard Maines was voted an active member of the company.

Held in Beating Death of AF Man After Inquest

MONTREAL (AP) — A coroner's jury has found an Air Force sergeant stationed at Plattsburgh, N.Y., criminally responsible for the death of another Air Force sergeant here during the weekend.

The body of Sgt. Frederick Vaughn, 33, also of the Plattsburgh base, was found Sunday in a west end apartment. Sgt. Thomas Green, object of Thursday's ruling by the coroner's jury, was taken into custody when he arrived at the apartment.

In Quebec, no charges are filed in cases of violent death until criminal responsibility has been determined.

Green testified at the inquest that he and the victim and a third man, Fulton Clark, 28, left Plattsburgh for Montreal Saturday after having a great deal to drink. Later, he said, he and Vaughn fought over a $10 wage.

Green said he hit Vaughn a couple of times and then left him at the nearby apartment of a friend. A third man notified the police after becoming alarmed at the victim's condition.

Coroner Laurin Lapointe said the victim died of cerebral hemorrhage.

The commission recommended Thursday that more Negroes be recruited into the Guard. It noted that, at the end of last year, only 1.15 per cent of the Army Guard and only .6 per cent of the Air Guard were Negroes.

Repudiate Agreement In Hong Kong Unrest

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong government today repudiated an agreement signed by a British district officer threatened with death by a Red Chinese mob which captured a Hong Kong border guard post.

The Communists were expected to try to make propaganda gains with the agreement promising the removal of barbed-wire barricades protecting the Hong Kong side of the border and compensation to Red Chinese who claimed damage from their wheelbarrow colliding with the barricades.

No one was injured in the attack on the guard post at Man Kam To village, the only road crossing on the border between Red China and the British colony. But it was the most serious border incident since a Red Chinese mob invaded at another point on July 8 and killed five Hong Kong border guards.

Hong Kong officials said Chinese began crossing the border shortly after midnight and the growing mob broke through the barricade.

Some Chinese seized weapons from three British soldiers on guard at the post and called for Trevor Bedford, British district officer for the border area, to meet with them.

Nine other armed soldiers in the post and troops moving in from nearby areas were under orders to hold their fire.

Bedford arrived and tried to talk the mob into giving up the weapons and returning to China. But the mob produced the agreement and demanded that Bedford sign. He refused at first.

"One Chinese stood with an ax over his head and another held a knife at his back," a government spokesman said. "Other held guns on an army officer who had accompanied Bedford."

Bedford signed, the spokesman said, but told the Chinese at the time he was doing so only under duress. The Chinese jubilantly returned to China, waving the paper and singing.

Held in Beating Death of AF Man After Inquest

MONTREAL (AP) — A coroner's jury has found an Air Force sergeant stationed at Plattsburgh, N.Y., criminally responsible for the death of another Air Force sergeant here during the weekend.

The body of Sgt. Frederick Vaughn, 33, also of the Plattsburgh base, was found Sunday in a west end apartment. Sgt. Thomas Green, object of Thursday's ruling by the coroner's jury, was taken into custody when he arrived at the apartment.

In Quebec, no charges are filed in cases of violent death until criminal responsibility has been determined.

Green testified at the inquest that he and the victim and a third man, Fulton Clark, 29, left Plattsburgh for Montreal Saturday after having a great deal to drink. Later, he said, he and Vaughn fought over a $10 wager.

Green said he hit Vaughn a couple of times and then left him at the nearby apartment of a friend. A third man notified the police after becoming alarmed at the victim's condition.

Coroner Laurin Lapointe said the victim died of cerebral hemorrhage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York National Guard has 612 Negroes out of a total of 24,706 men, or 2.48 per cent, according to statistics issued Thursday with a report of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

The state's Air Guard has 54 Negroes, or 1.2 per cent of the total of 4,700 men.

The commission recommended Thursday that more Negroes be recruited into the Guard. It noted that, at the end of last year, only 1.15 per cent of the Army Guard and only .6 per cent of the Air Guard were Negroes.

Repudiate Agreement In Hong Kong Unrest

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong government today repudiated an agreement signed by a British district officer threatened with death by a Red Chinese mob which captured their wheelbarrow colliding with the barricades.

No one was injured in the attack on the guard post at Man Kam To village, the only road crossing on the border between Red China and the British colony. But it was the most serious border incident since a Red Chinese mob invaded at another point on July 8 and killed five Hong Kong border guards.

Hong Kong officials said Chinese began crossing the border shortly after midnight and the growing mob broke through the barricades.

Some Chinese seized weapons from three British soldiers on guard at the post and called for Trevor Bedford, British district officer for the border area, to meet with them.

Nine other armed soldiers in the post and troops moving in from nearby areas were under orders to hold their fire.

Bedford arrived and tried to talk the mob into giving up the weapons and returning to China. But the mob produced the agreement and demanded that Bedford sign. He refused at first.

"One Chinese stood with an ax over his head and another held a knife at his back," a government spokesman said. "Others held guns on an army officer who had accompanied Bedford."

Bedford signed, the spokesman said, but told the Chinese at the time he was doing so only under duress. The Chinese jubilantly returned to China, waving the paper and singing.

Dear Abby

'No' to Car-No Pushing

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter does nothing but sit and plunk her guitar, watch TV, and listen to rock 'n' roll records. She's even too lazy to empty the waste basket in her room. She's overweight, but the doctors say there's nothing wrong with her. She gets no exercise whatsoever and eats junk all day—candy bars, potato chips, and soft drinks. She still has childish tantrums, yelling, slamming doors, and throwing things when she doesn't get her own way. She has no respect for her mother or me, talks back and won't take criticism. Right now she's throwing a fit because I won't let her drive my car. A kid who still has tantrums isn't driving my car. If she doesn't respect her parents, she certainly won't respect pedestrians or other drivers. Am I right or wrong? What do you say about an irresponsible kid like this driving a car?

DEAR DADDY: If you're asking whether or not an irresponsible kid should be permitted to drive a car, the answer is no. But be honest. Isn't this your way of punishing your daughter for being disrespectful, uncooperative, and generally obnoxious?

Your problem child needs desperately to tell her troubles to someone who understands her. Her unlovely, lazy, rebellious attitude is a cry for help. There are many fine therapists in your area. Ask your family doctor to recommend one who specializes in helping adolescents establish communication with their parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 14-month nephew whose feet turn outward when he walks. So severely in fact that the child walks sideways. My sister knows and keeps talking about asking her pediatrician to put the child in corrective shoes. Shouldn't this have been done months before the child started to walk?

I've mentioned this to my sister several times, and I don't want to bring it up again for fear she'll think I'm putting my nose where it doesn't belong. Please don't say that if my sister wants her child to grow up with out-turned feet, it's her business, because it isn't my sister who will have to stumble thru 70 years of life on deformed feet. I see her pediatrician socially quite often.

After drawing trumps, South should have played out the rest of the hearts. Then he should have led a club toward dummy's king. That king if we should get another boat?

I see her pediatrician socially quite often.

Would it be unethical of me to say something to him about it?

WORRIED: DEAR WORRIED: It's inconceivable that an aunt would be more concerned about the health of a child than the child's mother, but it's not impossible. You may not have all the facts, but on the chance that your sister is procrastinating needlessly, and the doctor is unaware, by all means, mention it to him.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that "in addition to teaching daughters how to cook, iron and keep house, mothers should teach them to cuddle a man, listen to him, entertain him, laugh with him, forgive him, and make his home a happy one to come home to, if they want a happy marriage."

I have always felt that way, but you put it so directly and simply. I have three daughters and three sons. Have you similar advice for sons to follow if they are to have happy marriages?

MOTHER OF SIX: DEAR MOTHER: If a man kisses his wife good-bye when he goes to work, returns sober and kisses her hello, doesn't ask her what she's been doing all day, and keeps reminding her that she is loved and appreciated, no matter what he lacks, she won't even notice it.

'Good Company:' Long Day

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — F. Lee Bailey, the defense counsel and television star-to-be, went calling on his first celebrities Thursday and while his company may have been good, it was also large.

Tony Curtises First
Bailey—who has dropped the "F." for show biz purposes—was taping his first "Good Company" program for the new ABC series, and was received by the Tony Curtises at their magnificent and manicured Holmby Hills residence. Members of Bailey's entourage started arriving at the $800,000, five-acre, walled estate shortly after 7 a.m. Trucks, portable sound studios, miles of electric cable and some 50 technicians, cameramen and even uniformed guards scattered around the 17-room house, around the formal gardens. At 2 p.m., Bailey was making his first on-camera appearance—driving a yellow convertible through the gates, and sweeping up to the formal facade of the huge Mediterranean-style mansion built 30 years ago.

Then there was a length pause for adjustments to the six color cameras and to the lighting. Curtis, in slacks and sports jacket, and smoking a fat cigar, stood around patiently waiting to be filmed greeting his guest. He chatted with "Good Company" producer John Aaron.

Mrs. Curtis, formerly actress Christine Kaufmann, appeared in white lace slacks and jacket over a body stocking, and stayed at one side of the house by the children's playground. Their two youngsters ignored the mob and amused themselves under the watchful eyes of their nurse.

The busy scene looked like a well-organized location filming by a movie company—except that there seemed to be an inordinately large number of press agents around: the Curtises' press agent, press agents for "Good Company" and ABC press agents.

Real Smooth
Inside the house cables snaked from drawing room to breakfast room to den to formal dining room. The paneled walls were covered with oils and watercolors—the Curtis collection—for Tony to describe. It was all well organized and, since Bailey and the Curtises had done several run-throughs of the house tour, was going with unexpected smoothness. But it was a long day for the Curtis family: It was after 8 p.m. before the last cable was back in its truck, the last camera rolled away. The visit to the film star's home has been chosen—pretty shrewdly, too—as the opening show on Sept. 7 of the series which is closely patterned after the old "Person-to-Person" shows. Everybody likes to see how rich movie stars live, and the Curtises' millionaire style and general opulence can not disappoint the fans. Bailey flies East today in his private plane—and next week will drop in on another celebrity. Everett M. Dirksen, the senator and recording star.

BARBS
By WALTER PARKES
Totting up the recent holiday highway toll makes one wonder if the holiday should have been named the "goriest" 4th. We thought the fellow across the desk from us was a perfect idiot, but he did something in correct fashion just this morning. Leaving the hot dogs in the refrigerator is just about the worst thing to find out at the picnic site 20 miles away. Ask a victim—the hay fever season is nothing to sneeze at. Smallest things in the world are the holes in the tops of lunch counter pepper shakers. If a door-to-door book salesman won't give you the total cost of his "bargain," it speaks volumes for the deal. Supersonic transports on the drawing boards notwithstanding, nothing is in the works that could possibly travel as fast as a rumor. Small boy we know was asked to describe, briefly, a washing machine. His answer: "Mother."

By WALTER C. PARKES
Persons who chew gum aggressively are all too numerous. Anyone who has a new car, a new home, new color television and six new suits has our intense sympathy come the first of the month. You're over the hill, boy, when you can comb your hair with a towel. If you put five dollars away every week, you'll be out of pocket money before payday.

Alaskan Senator Slated For Woodstock Talk Aug. 20

Senator Ernest Gruening, Democrat of Alaska, will speak at a rally in Woodstock, Sunday, Aug. 20, at the invitation of the newly formed Ulster County Committee for Independent Senators. The meeting will be held at 2 p. m. in the Woodstock Playhouse.

Cooperating with the local group is the National Committee for an Effective Congress (NCEC), a nonpartisan citizens' organization founded in 1948 to help in the election of outstanding candidates of both parties.

According to the sponsors, the rally is planned to foster support for five senators, including Mr. Gruening, whose courageous stand against an open-ended war in Southeast Asia may cost them re-election in 1968. Spokesmen for the NCEC foresee that conservatives and party regulars opposing them will be generously financed, whereas "the independents depends on us" for campaign money.

Proceeds from the rally will go to the campaign funds of the men endorsed by the NCEC: Senators Gruening; Frank Church, of Idaho; J. W. Fulbright, of Arkansas; George S. McGovern, of South Dakota and Wayne Morse, of Oregon.

N. Viet Railyards Are Pounded

SAIGON (AP) — Striking through heavy Communist anti-aircraft fire, U.S. planes heavily damaged two big North Vietnamese railroad yards Thursday as ground action continued generally light despite 34 continuing operations.

The key Air Force targets in Thursday's raids were the Kep railyards, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi, and the Thai Nguyen railyards, 35 miles north of the capital. Both railroad yards have been attacked numerous times in the past.

639 Plane Toll

The U.S. Command announced a new total of 639 U.S. warplanes downed over the North. This included one not previously announced, but there were no reports of Communist fire bringing down any of the planes on the 145 strike missions Thursday.

F105 Thunderchief pilots based in Thailand hammered three areas of the Kep yards with 750-pound bombs and reported destroying 15 boxcars and damaging 30 other pieces of rolling stock.

Other Thunderchief pilots who attacked the Thai Nguyen yards said they observed no rolling stock there. They reported, however, heavily damaging the northwestern part of the yard.

The command normally delays announcement of downed planes while rescue efforts for the crewmen are under way.

All Air Force flights reported receiving heavy 57mm and 85mm anti-aircraft fire.

It announced in a weekly report that 2,541 American aircraft, including helicopters, have been lost in the war, either in combat or because of operational failures.

Navy pilots reported all bombs on target at a truck park 30 miles south of Hanoi, but smoke and dust prevented a damage assessment.

It was during this raid that pilots of two F4 Phantoms from the carrier Constellation spotted three North Vietnamese MIG21s and shot down two of them, bringing to 82 the number of MIGs reported shot down by U.S. pilots.

The U.S. Command lists 20 U.S. warplanes as having been shot down by enemy planes over the North.

Air Force pilots reported sighting three MIG17s in another area, but the less advanced Communist interceptors made no effort to rise against the American fighter-bombers which continued on to their assigned targets.

As in the past years, the Patient Services Program of the Ulster County TB and Health Association is the sponsor of this valuable Patient Services display, which this year is located directly next to the Association's Air Pollution Educational Booth. The project was developed by Charles Tarsia, therapy teacher; E. Robert Johnson, association's executive director assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Gunzelmann, RN, director of nursing, Kingston Infirmary and Mrs. Dora Mollenhauer, association board member and volunteer therapy aide.

The purchase of each item assists in the continuance of the program, but most important, it brings a tangible reassurance to each patient that his efforts will bear fruit and his work admired.

The display features the many unusual handicraft that have been produced with great effort by the many handicapped and chronically ill and disabled, and are offered for this patient sale as a very vital aspect of the whole effort of therapy programming for the patient.

"The desire of the public for these patient-made items is very important," Tarsia noted, "this interest in turn stimulates the interest of the patient and encourages him to go on."

The Therapy Program is a continuing, year-round project to which patient-members are referred by Dr. John B. Plasse, medical director of the County TB Hospital, and by Superintendent Percy Bush and Mrs. Gunzelmann, both of the Kingston Infirmary. Once enrolled, and under the encouragement and subtle direction of Mr. Tarsia, many patients find a whole new interest and a form of rehabilitation is established. Tarsia is assisted by a year-round volunteer staff of effective and capable therapy aides which included in 1966-1967 Mrs. William Hornbeck, Mrs. John Wolfenstein, Mrs. Anna Marks, Mrs. Olive Terwilliger, Mrs. Richard Emerick, Mrs. Joseph Koskie, Mrs. William Willit, Miss Lillian Carter, Miss Ethel Carter and Mrs. Mollenhauer.

Wide Variety

"We urge all concerned, interested people to stop by at the Patient Services Therapy Booth," Johnson and Tarsia noted. There are a wide variety of items on display developed by patients who have learned to work creatively with their hands. It is a vital psychological lift for each of these therapy program patients to be able to recognize productivity and usefulness in himself, and to receive in addition the special recognition that is expressed when someone 'outside' admires and wants his work so much that he purchases it."

Program aides who are serving at the Patient Services Therapy include: Mrs. John B. Plasse, Mrs. Emerick, Miss Mary Terwilliger, Miss Grace Terwilliger, Mrs. Gunzelmann, R.N., all of Kingston; Mrs. Eugene Slater and Mrs. Hilda McDowell, Ellenville; Mrs. Margaret Morris, Mrs. Willard Wadell of New Paltz; Mrs. Joseph Koskie and Mrs. Anna Marks of Kingston; Mrs. John M. Robbins and Mrs. E. Robert Johnson of Saugerties; Mrs. William Oskay, Port Ewen; Mrs. Leonard Tantillo, New Paltz; Mrs. John J. Gaffney of Highland and Mrs. Terwilliger of Kingston.

All persons interested in this vital Patient Therapy Program, or the work of it, volunteer aides are urged to contact E. Robert Johnson at the Ulster County TB and Health Association at 124 Green Street.

See New Mideast War Inevitable

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Gamal Abdel Nasser's closest confidant predicted today that renewed war with Israel is virtually inevitable, and King Hussein warned that Jordan would fight again unless the Israelis give back Old Jerusalem.

The belligerent notes were sounded as Yugoslav President Tito opened talks in Cairo with Nasser in an effort to sell the Egyptian leader a peace formula for the Middle East.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahran, said in a signed editorial: "Only a miracle will prevent a return to the battlefield, and I do not think we live in an age of miracles."

Heikal, generally regarded as Nasser's spokesman, said the first task facing Egypt is "restoration of the army to its fighting readiness."

Hussein declared in Amman that Jordan "is determined to die" before it surrenders the Arab sector of Jerusalem to Israel.

"We are determined not to cede any part of our beloved land nor any stone of our sacred Jerusalem," Hussein said in a speech Thursday on the eve of the 15th anniversary of his becoming king.

The Jerusalem Post reported Wednesday that Jordan's former development minister, Ismail Hejazi, had told one of its reporters Jordan plans to negotiate soon with Israel. Hejazi, known to be close to Hussein, said plans for such talks should be made public "within 10 days."

Tito planned to spend three days conferring with Nasser, an old personal friend and associate in the nonaligned movement. Informants said Tito has evolved a plan calling for Israeli withdrawal from territory wrested from the Arabs in the June war in return for guarantees by the big powers of the U.N. Security Council of Israel's prewar borders. But the Israelis have insisted they will not give up the Old City of Jerusalem and have given no indication they would consider any international guarantees sufficient to protect them.

Man, Woman Hurt in Mishaps

A pedestrian suffered side and arm injuries following an accident on Susan Street Thursday, and a woman passenger was slightly bruised in a two-car collision, city police reported.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital was Frederick Bruno, 53, of 13 Susan Street, after he allegedly walked into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

Police said the operator of the vehicle was Louis Carpio, 42, of 124 West Chestnut Street. Police noted the man was seen walking along the curb prior to cutting in front of traffic.

Mrs. Etta Schneider, 44, of 8 Grandview Avenue, complained of knee and leg injuries following a collision Thursday morning, police said. Mrs. Schneider was a passenger in a car operated by her husband, Herman Schneider.

Police said the cars collided when Schneider, who was traveling south on Emerson Street, and Rowena B. Devitt of 145 Pearl Street, headed east on Main, met at the intersection.

Sees Dove's Role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., says the Republican party must take the dove's role of calling for lesser U.S. participation in the Vietnam war.

The American people want the United States to "de-Americanize the whole Vietnam war," Hatfield said at an airport news conference Thursday.

He said the Sept. 3 election in South Vietnam "will prove absolutely nothing" because the military junta in power will win.

"The junta does not intend to let go of its power, and in many ways is demonstrating that it will not permit a free, open and fair election," said Hatfield.

"The desire of the public for these patient-made items is very important," Tarsia noted, "this interest in turn stimulates the interest of the patient and encourages him to go on."

The purchase of each item assists in the continuance of the program, but most important, it brings a tangible reassurance to each patient that his efforts will bear fruit and his work admired.

The Therapy Program is a continuing, year-round project to which patient-members are referred by Dr. John B. Plass, medical director of the County TB Hospital, and by Superintendent Percy Bush and Mrs. Gunzelmann, both of the Kingston Infirmary. # See New Mideast War Inevitable

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Gamal Abdel Nasser's closest confidant predicted today that renewed war with Israel is virtually inevitable, and King Hussein warned that Jordan would fight again unless the Israelis give back Old Jerusalem.

The belligerent notes were sounded as Yugoslav President Tito opened talks in Cairo with Nasser in an effort to sell the Egyptian leader a peace formula for the Middle East.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahran, said in a signed editorial: "only a miracle will prevent a return to the battlefield, and I do not think we live in an age of miracles."

Heikal, generally regarded as Nasser's spokesman, said the first task facing Egypt is "restoration of the army to its fighting readiness."

Hussein declared in Amman that Jordan "is determined to die" before it surrenders the Arab sector of Jerusalem to Israel.

"We are determined not to cede any part of our beloved land nor any stone of our sacred Jerusalem," Hussein said in a speech Thursday on the eve of the 15th anniversary of his becoming king.

The Jerusalem Post reported Wednesday that Jordan's former development minister, Ismail Hejazi, had told one of its reporters Jordan plans to negotiate soon with Israel, Hejazi, known to be close to Hussein, said plans for such talks should be made public "within 10 days."

Tito planned to spend three days conferring with Nasser, an old personal friend and associate in the nonaligned movement. Informants said Tito has evolved a plan calling for Israeli withdrawal from territory wrested from the Arabs in the June war in return for guarantees by the big powers of the U.N. Security Council of Israel's prewar borders. But the Israelis have insisted they will not give up the Old City of Jerusalem and have given no indication they would consider any international guarantees sufficient to protect them.

Man, Woman Hurt in Mishaps

A pedestrian suffered side and arm injuries following an accident on Susan Street Thursday, and a woman passenger was slightly bruised in a two-car collision, city police reported.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital was Frederick Bruno, 53, of 13 Susan Street, after he allegedly walked into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

Police said the operator of the vehicle was Louis Carpio, 42, of 124 West Chestnut Street. Police noted the man was seen walking along the curb prior to cutting in front of traffic.

Mrs. Etta Schneider, 44, of 8 Grandview Avenue, complained of knee and leg injuries following a collision Thursday morning, police said. Mrs. Schneider was a passenger in a car operated by her husband, Herman Schneider.

Police said the cars collided when Schneider, who was traveling south on Emerson Street, and Rowena B. Dewitt of 145 Pearl Street, headed east on Main, met at the intersection.

Sees Dove's Role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., says the dove's role of calling for lesser U.S. participation in the Vietnam war.

The American people want the United States to "de-Americanize the whole Vietnam war," Hatfield said at an airport news conference Thursday.

He said the Sept. 3 election in South Vietnam "will prove absolutely nothing" because the military junta in power will win.

"The junta does not intend to let go of its power, and in many ways is demonstrating that it will not permit a free, open and fair election," said Hatfield.
